Flying Becomes Real.

Interesting Beasts and Men.

Cone Shaped Baby Heads.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMEON, Cal., Nov. 24.

FLYING INCREASES out here where distances are long. Two planes, each, brought five guests to the Hearst ranch this morning. A third plane is landing now, with five more, on the new landing field, just built by W. R. Hearst at the Pacific's edge, fifteen hundred feet below this house. It has a double runway, east-west and north-south.

MR. HEARST, who began flying many years ago, flew up from Los Angeles last week. His five sons all fly, the three oldest pilot their planes.

Presently, not to run a flying machine, among young people, will seem as strange as not to run a motor car.

THOSE IN a hurry, or convinced that they are in a hurry, must fly.

The other day, just after he beat the transcontinental record, Roscoe Turner, flying by here, on the way from Los Angeles to San Francisco, something over three hundred miles by air, wired to his friend, Ben Lyon, visiting here:

"I'll be flying past you pretty soon; look up if you want to see a good machine."

He had flown by before the wire arrived, and Ben Lyon missed him. A radio station at the ranch keeps track of the planes in flight and sends any weather warning.

The trip from Los Angeles to San Francisco, thirteen hours by train, Turner made in less than an hour and a half. That means severe competition, for railroads, later.

REGULAR commercial planes, crowded every day, take passengers from coast to coast in thirty-two hours. Turner did it in a little over twelve hours.

Five hours will be the commercial flying time later on. But don't wait for that to make the trip, by air, rail, motor or ship, via the canal.

ARRIVING HERE at sunrise reminds you of those "water holes" in the movies, with strange animals gathered, only there is no water hole on earth that possesses the assortment gathered on the 10,000 acres, fenced in around this ranch house. One hundred bison are in one great pasture, with elands and other strange friends. A sign says:

"Dangerous animals in this enclosure. Don't get out of your car."

This hillside, with deep grass, no Indians or bows and arrows, or white men with rifles, agrees with the bison. Their shaggy calves are numerous.

KANGAROOS, WATER buffalo, yaks, musk oxen, endless varieties of deer, emus, cassowaries, llamas, dozens of zebras, ill-natured where there are lions, get along well together, in this pleasant land.

The lions are here, but locked in steel cages, roaring harmlessly, to keep the other African animals from feeling homesick.

One group of pleasant faces you miss. The giraffes are all dead. Some genius put gravel from the beach in their enclosure, the giraffes liked the salt flavor, ate the gravel, all died. Sad, but just as well, for nothing but force could make a young giraffe get out of an automobile's way.

The fat, female baby elephant is well and happy, is spite of the election.

THE COLLECTION of human beings here is also interesting. Charlie Chaplin flew up yesterday. One of the Marx brothers, named Harpo, arrived, in a hired plane. He brought his harp and played on the way up.

Charles MacArthur, who wrote "The Front Page" and married Helen Hayes, two remarkable accomplishments for one so young, flew up with Marx and warned him against harp playing, which is a celestial monopoly at a certain height above ground.

MacArthur played backgammon on the way up. Strange how human beings insist on everlastingly PLAYING something. W. R. Hearst is out at this moment playing tennis.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, who is umpiring, brought from his travels a new idea for Hollywood. It has to do with babies that Lady Broughton, British sportswoman, saw in Africa.

It is the fashion there to have babies with abnormally elongated heads, a sign of beauty, like squeezed feet in old China, distended lips among certain savages.

The mothers, while their babies' skulls are soft, wrap wire or cord tightly around the little heads, squeezing them into a sugar loaf, cone shape. All through the native villages you hear the tortured babies' plaintive crying.

CHAPLIN SAYS:

"A large part of Hollywood wants everybody, every idea, cast in the same mould. Why not take the actors and actresses young, and squeeze their heads, bodies and faces into the desired shape?"

American business might borrow the African idea, and turn out desired models of automobile salesmen, bank and oil company presidents, and trust company vice presidents.

Victim of the Tropics

EDWINA BOOTH . . . . . SHE'S BEEN ILL FOR SEVEN MONTHS

Miss Booth, blonde film actress who played in "Trader Horn," filmed in Africa, revealed today as seriously ill in her mother's California home for the past seven months. Her mother says she is the victim of the rays of the equatorial sun, of poisonous insects of the jungles, where, flimsily clad, she made scenes for the picture.

NEW JUVENILE HOME SOUGHT

GUARD GIRL IN SPINELLI GANG FEAR

Volpe Murder Witness Hides; Ferris Going to Italy for Suspect

The identity of a young blonde woman who fears underworld reprisal was being guarded zealously today by homicide detectives following the arrest in Italy of Giuseppe (Big Mike) Spinelli, alleged killer of Johnny Volpe.

Lieut. Frank Ferris, of the Homicide Squad, who is planning to go to Italy to bring back Spinelli, made no secret of the fact that it is upon the testimony of this blonde girl he hopes to convict "Big Mike" of the slaying of the Wilmerding racketeer.

CAN IDENTIFY SPINELLI

She can identify Spinelli as the man she saw outside the Rome Coffee Shop at 704 Wylie avenue, where Volpe and his brothers, Arthur and Jim, were riddled with bullets in July, at the time of the shooting.

Ferris will take with him to Italy Sergt. Sam Wheeler, of the homicide squad, and possibly Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt.

Spinelli is expected to put up a strong legal battle against extradition. But Ferris hopes that the Italian government, acting on its expulsion act, will expel Spinelli to the Switzerland border line, where he could be arrested.

FIGHTS EXTRADITION

"Big Mike" was picked up Wednesday in his native Agropoli. He is now in jail in nearby Salerno. He has already engaged counsel to fight extradition.

Reports from Italy indicate that the father of the slain Volpes unwittingly was the cause of Spinelli's capture. Spinelli, the story goes, tried to borrow money from Ignazio Volpe in Agropoli. The elderly Volpe, suspicious, wrote to friends in Wilmerding inquiring about Spinelli. The police apparently learned of the letter.

"Big Mike" was living with his wife and five children when Italian police found him.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

Spinelli was indicted several months ago for the Volpe murders, which were laid to booze warfare in the underworld. Lieut. Ferris is convinced Spinelli fired the shots which sent Johnny Volpe, the leader of rackets in Pittsburgh, sprawling to the gutter.

Ferris reports that after the Volpe murders Spinelli and John Bazzano, who was jealous of the Volpe success in the rackets, went to New York and checked in together at the Pennsylvania Hotel. A week later Bazzano's body, dotted with ice-pick wounds, was found in a Brooklyn alley. Spinelli disappeared.

From Rome today International News Service reported that the United States Embassy there was prepared to receive certain documents which will be presented to thre Court of Appeals in the extradition proceedings. A month will pass before the extradition hearing.

Bus Fight Before P.S.C.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Co-operative transportation on a large scale was brought to the Public Service Commission today for decision.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company filed formal complaint against the new plan of the Community Transportation Company and Community Service Association.

The traction company alleges the transportation company, a Delaware corporation, has agreed to accept weekly tickets sold by the non-incorporated Community Service Association. The tickets would be good for an unlimited number of trips on any buses of the Community Transportation Company.

The case is viewed by the Commission as presenting for determination the question of whether the proposed operations constitute service as a common carrier.

The Pittsburgh plan is the latest development in co-operating transportation, although the basic plan is not new. In various sections of the state groups of persons have formed informal organizations to purchase a motor car for their joint use.

In Altoona, the move has advanced to the state where larger groups have bought buses and hired drivers to transport them to and from the Pennsylvania Railroad Company shops.

At the Commission it was stated that some employers have operated buses or trucks to transport employes, making no charge for the trips but taking a specified weekly amount from the pay checks.

The Pittsburgh plan represents the farthest step in its direction and the Commission regards the case as being of especial importance in the transportation world of the state.

TWO-THIRDS OF SENATE FOR BEER

Poll Shows Enough Members to Override Hoover Veto

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Two-thirds of the present Senate favors legalization of 2.75 per cent beer, a poll by International News Service revealed today.

This means 2.75 beer can be legalized before March 4 if Democratic leaders press for modification of the Volstead act at the December session of Congress. The majority will be large enough to override a presidential veto of the bill—providing the present ranks stand firm.

The poll also revealed a clear majority of the "lame duck" Senate favors enactment of a 4 per cent beer bill, but its advocates cannot command a two-thirds vote over a presidential veto.

POLL OF SENATE

The poll: For beer, 65; against beer, 22; doubtful, 9.

It further disclosed that the Democratic party is "wetter" than the Republican party on beer, undoubtedly because of the Democratic platform declaration for modification of the Volstead act. The division by party lines:

	For Beer.	Against Beer.	Doubtful.
Republicans	25	18	5
Democrats	39	4	4
Farmer-Labor	1	0	0
Totals	65	22	9

The vote for 4 per cent beer cannot be estimated accurately because so many senators declared they favored beer "within the constitutional limitations" and declined to state their idea of the limitations. At least 10 senators, favoring 2.75 beer, declared against 4 per cent beer—reducing the majority to that extent and slashing it below the two-thirds vote necessary to override a veto.

HOW MEMBERS STAND

The poll follows:

For beer (65).

BARR BACKS MOVE FOR RELIEF

End of 'Farming' System and Abuse Of Wards Urged

A "new deal" for the dependent and delinquent children of Allegheny County is in the making as a result of startling disclosures in the audit report of M. C. Conick on the Department of Maintenance of Juveniles.

Commissioner C. M. Barr, in an interview yesterday, said that a bill will be presented by Commissioner William D. Mansfield at the next session of the Legislature to legalize building of a children's home for neglected, dependent and abandoned children. Barr said:

"The present system has proved a failure. Conditions are existent today in this county that beggar description. I feel that if I cannot do something for these neglected and unfortunate children which will give them the chance in life they are entitled to, I will have failed in the most important duty of the office of County Commissioner.

REMEDY OUTLINED

"I have no controversy with either the county court or the juvenile maintenance department nor do I want to enter into any such controversy.

"The remedy for conditions as outlined in the audit report is legislation that will provide a home where these children will be properly fed, housed, and educated for useful citizenship. It should not be an institution in the present accepted sense of the word, but conducted under proper supervision and along broad humanitarian lines.

"Such a home could be consolidated with the Thorn Hill School and the Gumbert Home. They could be eliminated.

"Another step that should be taken immediately is a survey of the Mothers' Assistance Fund to find out if conditions in its administration are comparable to the Juvenile Maintenance system. These activities should be tied in as closely as possible. The poor districts of the county should also be made responsible for part of the cost of juvenile maintenance. This question was raised, but the Supreme

DEATH IN STORE HELD MISHAP

Conviction that the death of William Steigerwald, 52, of 82 Sylvania avenue, veteran employe of the Boggs & Buhl department store, was accidental, was expressed today by B. B. Croup, president of the company, and city detectives.

Steigerwald's body was found yesterday in the elevator shaft in the store. The man was a principal witness for the state in prosecution of a bandit gang that robbed and murdered James H. Neal, a store official, 11 years ago.

President Croup said the store heads were satisfied that Steigerwald fell accidentally. The elevator was at the top of the shaft, and the man, a watchman, stepped through the door to the shaft on the first floor, falling a distance of 18 feet. Croup added:

"Of course we have nothing to show what did happen, but it is our belief that he thought the elevator was on the first floor, and stepped inside the shaft expecting to enter the car."

Mr. Croup said there were several employes in the store preparing for holiday business.

An autopsy disclosed Steigerwald's skull was fractured.

Man Gets Life Term In Theft of Horse

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—William Crider, pleading guilty in Circuit Court to the theft of a horse, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary under a statute which makes such a penalty mandatory upon the fourth conviction.

He was charged with having taken the horse to another point in the section and traded it for an automobile.

$7,500 in Radium Lost in Incinerator

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Search for a $7,500 radium needle in incinerator ashes at the American Oncologic Hospital continued today without success.

The needle was one of four, each containing the same amount of radium, which a cleaning woman had swept up by mistake and dumped in the waste to be burned.

Seek to Identify Body Found in Park

The Coroner's office today was seeking the identity of a well-dressed man, about 55, found dead near the bandstand in West Park last night. An autopsy disclosed death as due to natural causes. He weighed 210 pounds. On his right arm were tattoo marks with the initials "W. S." and an anchor.

NO FILM WORK, TAKES POISON

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 25.—(INS.)—

"Other people all seemed to have something to be thankful for. I didn't. Everything has gone wrong."

That was the explanation given today by pretty Diana La Marr, 20, former motion picture extra girl, who came here from Pittsburgh to seek a career in the films, for drinking poison in a vain effort to end her life. She sobbed to hospital attendants:

"I was homesick and blue. To make it worse, I have been unable to get employment of any kind. I thought that this way I could forget it all."

Shortly before she drank the poison, two friends, Allen Dienukes and Myrtle Lawee, had tried to cheer her up. Physicians said she will recover.

'Honeymoon' Robbers Convicted

Two Braddock young men were found guilty of robbery in the holdup of a couple parked in "Honeymoon Circle," Schenley Park, by a jury in Criminal Court today.

They were Charles Boley, 25, of Seventh street, and Edward Boyle, 26, of Corey avenue. They were charged with holding up and robbing Helen Yost, 21, of North Braddock, and her escort, John Miller, Munhall, October 26.

Asks to Land Rum In Virgin Islands

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Authority to allow cargo containing liquor to be landed in the Virgin Islands was sought today by Paul M. Pearson, the Governor.

In his annual report to Secretary Wilbur, the Governor said he made this request "without doing violence to the letter or spirit of the Eighteenth Amendment or the Volstead Act."

Tells Bystander She's Taken Poison

Stopping her automobile at the Mayfair Hotel, in Penn avenue, Marion Victor, 35, of 122 West Diamond street, quietly informed George Kovach, of 3201 West Carson street, she had swallowed poison, according to a report to police. Kovach, a druggist, on his way home from work, took the woman to Montefiore Hospital, where her condition was reported serious.

NEW TAX LEVIES SEEN BY SMOOT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—General revenue-raising legislation at the short session of Congress was declared necessary today by Chairman Smoot, of the Senate Finance Committee.

The veteran Republican leader contended the Democratic program to balance the budget through economies and a beer-for-revenue bill would fall short. He said:

"I believe we will have to have new taxes.

"I don't think a beer bill, even should it be enacted, would provide enough revenue without other taxes."

Smoot said he did not know where to look for new sources of revenue and advanced again the general sales tax as the alternative for getting more funds.

He declined an opinion on a beer-for-revenue bill pending its formulation by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Guests at Reynolds Death Party Married

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—James R. Shepherd and Mrs. William Vaught, who were among the guests at the party which preceded the death of Smith Reynolds at Winston-Salem, N. C., were married shortly after noon today at fashionable St. Bartholomew's Church in Park avenue.

Shot Down in Court In Estate Dispute

EDINBURG, Tex., Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Otis S. Pelt, of Pharr, was shot down in Hidalgo County Courthouse here today shortly after being served with a subpena in connection with litigation involving a $20,000 estate. His brother-in-law, Charles L. Fortson, was being held.

Mayor Hikes to Work After Auto Breaks

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Mayor Moore today walked to work. But it was not because he wanted the exercise.

His automobile broke down in Fairmount Park, and he hiked the remaining three miles to City Hall.

Col. Robins Goes To Florida Estate

BROOKSVILLE, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Col. Raymond Robins, who was recently located at Whittier, N. C., after being missing since last September, arrived at his Hernando County estate near here last night, it was learned today.

Falls From Window Yelling at Thieves

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Irene Knabb fell from her second-story bedroom window today as she leaned out to yell at thieves trying to steal her automobile. Her condition is serious.

FOG IMPERILS TRAFFIC HERE

A heavy fog, blanketing the entire Pittsburgh district for miles around, today had practically paralyzed automobile traffic on highways, while in the city motorists reduced speed to a "crawl."

The fog moved into Pittsburgh shortly after midnight and at dawn today had cut visibility to less than 50 feet.

Railroads did not report any upsets in train schedules. Transcontinental buses were running late, many of them halting along the highways until the fog lifts.

Airlines were also handicapped. A passenger plane of the Pennsylvania Airlines, en route from Cleveland to Washington, had been grounded at the County Airport, after a hazardous trip from Cleveland, and five minutes later the fog had settled over the field.

Clara Bow Kisses Rex Bell at Parting

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Kissing her husband Rex Bell, cowboy film actor, just before she boarded the Santa Fe Chief last night for New York, Clara Bow, red-headed film star, declared:

"I love you."

Bell will leave for New York December 7 and with Clara and the latter's film producer, Samuel Rork, will depart for a trip to Europe.

'Ma' Kennedy Gets Mexican Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy-Hudson, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, evangelist of Angelus Temple, sighed happily today over a decree of divorce from Guy E. (Whataman) Hudson.

A telegram advised her, she said, that the decree had been granted at Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, Thanksgiving Day.

Piccard Wants U. S. Scientists on Flight

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 25.—(Universal.)—Prof. Auguste Piccard announced today he would come to the United States to seek two American scientists willing to make a stratosphere flight from Hudson Bay to measure cosmic rays over the magnetic pole.

Deer Killed by Train In Tunnel Here

A Pennsylvania Railroad train "bagged" a 180-pound deer in the Panhandle Division tunnel between Corliss and Ingram today.

The buck was found by a signal attendant about the middle of the tunnel. The animal was presumed to have wandered into the tunnel when bewildered by fog that hung low over the district.

Officials were attempting to communicate with a game warden for instructions on disposition of the animal.

Man Fighting 1,000 to 1 Odds Clings to Life

CHARLEROI, Pa., Nov. 25.—Steve Nandor, 25, who took the one chance in a thousand operation, on Wednesday, today longed for some of "mother's soup."

In a 15-minute conversation with his father, he asked:

"Why so much ballyhoo, dad? I am sick—plenty sick, but the worst is over. I wish I had some of mother's soup."

He said he was very weak and hospital surgeons said he will be fed a light diet, his first in two weeks.

Nandor, who suffered six skull fractures in an Armistice Day motor accident, has battled for life and physicians said he was living on borrowed time. Wednesday's operation was to remove pressure on his brain. He recognized and talked to every member of his family today and, when shown a newspaper with his picture, said:

"I'm getting as popular as a movie star."

3 CONFESSIONS CLAIMED IN MARIENVILLE BANK HOLDUP

PART OF LOOT RECOVERED BY TROOPERS

Cashier Will Attempt To Identify Trio Of Prisoners

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—State police today announced that three men, arrested in Ohio, confessed robbing the Gold Standard National Bank at Marienville three weeks ago.

The troopers said that about $700 of the $7,500 taken in the raid, was recovered in a house at Akron, O., and on the person of one of the suspects.

The trio gave their names as Robert Wilson, Marienville; Frank Sunday and Marshal Van Meter, both of Akron. Wilson was captured yesterday at Canton, O., while Sunday and Van Meter were apprehended in Akron Wednesday.

Frank R. Johnson, cashier of the bank, who, with his wife, daughter, Eleanor, 18, and Fred Pickens, 17, a friend of Miss Johnson, was bound, gagged and held prisoner all night in Johnson's apartment by the gunmen, will be brought here in efforts to identify the men.

In the robbery at Marienville, two men broke into the Johnson apartment in the family's absence.

When informed the bank vaults had time locks set for 8 a. m., they bound and gagged their four prisoners.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the following morning they led Johnson to the bank and, assisted by a third gunman, forced him to open the vaults. Scooping up $7,500 in small bills, they fled in an automobile.

Returning Johnson to his apartment, they warned him not to make any outcry. Johnson said he ran to a window and saw two automobiles, containing three men each, roar away into the mountains.

BRITAIN HOPES TO FORESTALL PAYMENT

Chamberlain Goes on Record for Debt Cancellation

International News Service.

Apparently still hopeful for some last-minute arrangement to make payment of the war debt installment due on December 15 unnecessary, the British government today set its own cabinet debt committee to work drafting a reply to President Hoover's refusal to postpone the installment.

Continued depreciation of the pound sterling, which today hit $3.21½, the lowest point reached since Britain went off the gold standard, was expected to be one of the chief arguments put forward in the new bid for temporary suspension of payments.

All doubt as to Britain's attitude was strikingly removed when Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, again went on record in a speech at Birmingham with the assertion the government favors complete cancellation of all inter-allied debts.

The entire British cabinet will meet on Monday to consider the reply to the United States. The other nations of Europe marked time, apparently planning to follow Britain's lead just as they did when the present negotiations were launched.

BRITISH STAND

BIRMINGHAM, England, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Britain's policy toward reparations and inter-allied war debts is that "all should be wiped out."

Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, made this declaration in a speech before the Conservative Unionist Association here today.

The treasury head referred to the Lausanne agreement suspending German reparation payments and providing practically for their abolition. He said:

"We never contemplated a state of things in which we might be asked to make payments equivalent to another shilling on the income tax while at the same time receiving nothing from our neighbors.

"Alike from the viewpoint of justice and from the possibility of maintaining our industries, that would be absolutely insufferable."

WASHINGTON WAITS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—State Department officials today awaited with polite interest the new note London sources said the British government was about to dispatch, presenting fresh arguments why its debt payment due December 15 should be postponed.

It was the sort of politeness which two private individuals observe when both know in advance that one is obligated to ask the other a favor which both are fully aware cannot be granted.

So far as administration officials here are concerned, it is believed that the final word has been spoken with regard to the debt payments due on December 15. President Hoover's statement indicated he would not be averse to granting leniency to the debtors, but that his hands are tied by a hostile Congress. There the matter stands, and seems likely to stand until after March 4, when the Democratic administration takes office.

Although there has been no indication so far that France and the other debtor countries will present additional arguments for postponement, it was believed in authoritative circles that if the British government sends another note the other countries of Europe are likely to follow suit.

'Buddy' Rogers to Fight Screen 'Flop' Whisper

MARY BRIAN . . . "A WONDERFUL GIRL," SAYS BUDDY ROGERS

BUDDY ROGERS . . . FLOP?

Back in Hollywood To Disprove Critics, Band Leader Says

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Charles (Buddy) Rogers is adverse to being known as a "flop."

This he revealed today was the reason for his return to the film colony, whose dust he shook from his feet some time ago to lead a Broadway orchestra.

And by way of disproving the "flop" whisper, the young Kansas college student who sprang to quick fame in motion pictures was nearing completion of negotiations for a five-year film contract, he said.

"I came back to Hollywood from New York to prove to myself and my critics that I wasn't a 'flop' on the screen. I got tired of hearing about it, so I'm here to get back into the game."

"Buddy" scorned the idea that romance brought him back to the film capital. Since his return he has been seen much in company with Mary Brian, beautiful dark-eyed film actress.

Rogers said he had "no romantic ideas" but in the next breath confided that "Mary is a wonderful girl."

VON PAPEN SEEN AS RETAINING POWER

Father Kaas Fails to Win Support for Centrist Group

International News Service.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Efforts of Father Ludwig Kaas, chairman of the Catholic Centrist party, to form a parliamentary cabinet failed today when the Nazis and Nationalists refused to participate in such a ministry under Centrist leadership.

With Dr. Kaas' failure, President Von Hindenburg abandoned negotiations with party leaders for formation of a parliamentary cabinet. It was reported he would reappoint Franz von Papen as presidial chancellor tomorrow.

Adolph Hitler, Nazi leader, issued a manifesto to his supporters, proclaiming the start of a bitter fight against any government headed by Von Papen.

The announcement said:

"Von Papen's policy has increased unemployment, economic misery and Bolshevism and has resulted in Germany's international isolation.

"The rejection of my offer (to head a presidial government) revealed the real intentions of President von Hindenburg's advisers.

"I was called to Berlin only to save Von Papen and to polish up the diminishing glamor of his cabinet. It was their intention from the start to inflict another August 13 on us."

Hitler's reference to August 13 alluded to his historic conversation with the President last summer, when his attempt to gain the chancellorship met its first setback.

Meanwhile, Capt. Herman Goering, Nazi president of the Reichstag, issued a call for Parliament to meet on December 6. An immediate onslaught against President Von Hindenburg's determination to govern through a presidial cabinet is anticipated.

It was learned that Von Hindenburg and Hitler had personally patched up their differences. The aged president dismissed him with the words:

"God shall determine whether you are ever to form a parliamentary cabinet. From now on, my door is always open to you."

MILITIA GUARDS MINE ZONE

WILDER, Tenn., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The Fentress County coal mine strike area today was placed under the strictest surveillance of more than 150 National Guard troops brought here as special state police under command of Adj. Gen. W. C. Boyd to restore order and protect property.

Details patrolled the area's only railroad, on which four trestles have been wrecked by dynamite and fire in the last two weeks, and other groups were stationed at various mining communities.

Maj. Otho Robinson, assistant to Gen. Boyd, was ordered to report today. He said in Nashville last night martial law would not be declared unless the situation became worse.

NEW JUVENILE HOME SOUGHT

Court ruled that the poor districts were not responsible."

MANSFIELD'S SUGGESTION

Commissioner Mansfield said:

"The plan to build a home for the children of the county was my suggestion. The present board of commissioners is committed to building a juvenile detention home.

"My idea is to present a bill in the legislature providing for a building to serve both as a detention and as a permanent home. It would mean a big saving and, in the long run, the children would get better treatment. There are lots of good foster homes as well as some not fit for children."

M'GOVERN'S VIEWS

County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, who succeeded twice in getting his colleagues on the former board of commissioners to vote $5,000 to investigate the juvenile maintenance department, without getting any further action, said:

"This is one of the most important matters the auditors have yet touched on. We have taken the first corrective step in this by providing for appointment of three women investigators to check up on all the foster homes. Solution of this problem of placing children in the best possible environment is difficult. Abuses under the present system can be eliminated. Maybe the answer is legislation. Maybe it is in interesting more of the right kind of people in taking these children to raise. It seems to me that in this big county there are a sufficient number of good homes that would welcome the neglected children. There are lots of these foster homes that are real homes as well as others that are no homes at all. Finding the right kind of homes is a matter of administration by the proper personnel."

Mrs. Arnold M. Replogle, representing the League of Women Voters, in a radio address yesterday, stressed the need of a new juvenile detention home. She is one of a group of representatives of some 30 county women's organizations which have been working for passage of a bill in the next legislative session which will permit the County Commissioners to issue bonds for the home.

A similar bill, passed at the last session, was vetoed by Gov. Pinchot. Mrs. Mary Flinn Lawrence opposed the bill, claiming that it gave the Commissioners control of the Detention Home Board.

FOES OF BEER

Against beer (22).

Republicans — Austin, Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Dickinson, Fess, Frazier, Hastings, Hatfield, Howell, Keyes, Norbeck, Nye, Robinson (Ind.), Smoot, Thomas (Idaho), Townsend and White (18).

Democrats — Caraway, McGill, Sheppard and Thomas (Okla.) (4).

Doubtful (9).

Republicans — Goldsborough, Grammer, Hale, Schuyler, Shortridge (5).

Democrats—Bratton, Dill, Gore and Neely (4).

Among the Senators, declaring for 2.75 but against 4 per cent beer, were Bailey, Costigan, Hull, McKellar and Watson. Others said they would vote against 4 per cent beer "if it were shown to be intoxicating." This prevented an accurate poll of the Senate on 4 per cent beer.

Wine Bloc Organizing In House, Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—A wine bloc, prepared to demand that beer advocates include legalization of light wines in any legislation modifying the Volstead Act, is forming in Congress.

This new angle thrusting itself into the Democratic drive for speedy changing of the prohibition laws was made known by Representative Hawley, of Oregon, ranking Republican on the Ways and Means Committee.

House members from wine growing and consuming states, including New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Missouri, probably will make up the bloc. They already have been promised an equal hearing with beer advocates.

Hearings on liberalization of Volstead provisions begin December 7 with some brewers prepared to ask that beer be distributed both in bottles and barrels.

2.75 - 4 Per Cent Beer Compared

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—The difference between 2.75 and 4 per cent beer follows:

2.75 per cent beer—Beer with an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent by weight, or 3.44 per cent by volume.

4 per cent beer—Beer with an alcoholic content of 3.2 per cent by weight, or 4 per cent by volume.

BREWERY UNION FIGHTS GANGS

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The executive board of the United Brewery Workers' Union of America today announced plans to ask the federal government to help prevent any effort of Chicago gangdom to "muscle into" the brewing industry when and if beer is legalized.

Joseph Obergfell, secretary-treasurer of the International Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers' Union, said the board already had decided to expel any member discovered to be associated with racketeers, and that Congress would be asked to pass legislation permitting only "citizens of good character and reputation" to receive permits to operate breweries.

Aaron Hahn, Jewish Leader, Dies at 85

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Dr. Aaron Hahn, one of the founders of the liberal Jewish movement in this country and an active political figure here for more than two decades, died yesterday at his home here. He was 85.

LOCKS ON VOTE BOXES CLOGGED

When ballot boxes from two Stowe Township districts, the third and fourth, reached the recount board today, the locks were found clogged with sealing wax and had to be clipped.

The ballots indicated tampering. Involved in the recount are the candidates in the Twelfth legislative district.

Appearing before Judge William H. McNaugher, in charge of the recount, were Anna Simmons, judge of the Third District, and Albert Lappo and Laura Davis, inspectors.

Warned by Attorney Robert B. Averbach they were not required to answer questions, that they could stand on their constitutional right that it might incriminate them, the three refused to answer. Judge McNaugher, following an argument with Averbach in which he declared the boards should reply, allowed them to remain silent.

The board from the Fourth District followed the same procedure. It included George Choka, judge, and Mike Herlich and Alphonso J. Capato, inspectors.

Lawyer Spurns Post As Dry Law Reviser

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—George R. Nutter, former president of the Boston Bar Association, designated by Gov. Ely as chairman of a citizens' committee to consider revision of the state's liquor laws in anticipation of federal repeal or revision of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law, today announced he would decline to serve.

Tube City Man Held In Trolley Holdup

Joe Kore, 26, of 806 Lincoln way, McKeesport, was held in the County Jail today pending court action on a highway robbery charge in connection with the holdup of a Kennywood Park street car, near the park, October 9.

Kore was identified as the robber by Edward O'Malley, conductor, and Mike Semon, of 1301 Fifth street, Rankin, a passenger. The suspect was held for court at a hearing before Alderman A. C. Marcus.

J. E. JONES DIES PLAYING CARDS

BLUEFIELD, Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Col. James Elwood Jones, 50, wealthy coal operator and vice president of the Pocahontas Fuel Company, died unexpectedly at his home at Switchback this afternoon from a heart attack. He apparently had been in good health until shortly before he died.

Col. Jones was a candidate for the Senate on the Republican ticket two years ago and was defeated by Senator M. M. Neely. In addition to his interests in the coal industry, he was prominent as a banker.

Death was due to a heart ailment from which Jones had suffered for several years. He was playing a game of cards with his physician, Dr. I. C. Peters, when he was stricken and died a few minutes later.

Can Manufacturers' Representative Dies

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Stricken with a heart attack, Fred Weber, 46, of Baltimore, Md., sales manager for the Continental Can Company, in the Wheeling district, died yesterday in his suburban Woodlawn home.

FIREMEN 'SUBS' SEEK SALARY

Seven hundred firemen were voting at two meetings in the Moose temple today on asking council to pay the 61 substitute firemen a flat rate of $125 a month.

At present substitute firemen are getting only a day every two weeks and, according to Public Safety Director James M. Clark, they are in want.

Under the present system a substitute is paid for each day he works. Some of them have been on the substitute rolls for 14 years without obtaining a permanent berth, Clark said.

Newlywed Prince, Bride Welcomed to Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—A Swedish prince brought a German princess home to Sweden as his bride today, like many a prince before him, and Stockholm celebrated the occasion by providing a flag-bedecked street and thousands of cheering grown-ups and school children.

Riding in a four-horse carriage with the top down, Prince Gustav Adolf and Princess Sibylle were escorted through the streets of the city in traditional style, giving Sweden its first glimpse of the blonde princess who may some day be queen of her new country.

At the railroad station the royal couple were greeted by King Gustav, who was not present at the wedding at Coburg, by other members of the royal family, by the Governor of Stockholm and many other public officials.

Princess Sibylle was plainly excited by the reception accorded her during the procession to the castle, waving her hand repeatedly as the royal carriage proceeded over much the same route followed by the parade in honor of the Prince of Wales a few weeks ago.

Old Thrills Taken Out Of Uncle Tom's Cabin

TROY, N. Y., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Little Eva has gone to heaven for the 362,924th time, but without benefit of the wire hook on which she formerly was hoisted gently skyward.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was played last night "as it should be played" by the Players Theater of New York City. The group revived the old melodrama on the eightieth anniversary of the first performance, which was in the old Peale Museum in Troy.

So when Little Eva died, she died like ordinary folk. The directors saw to it also that other of the more colorful scenes were "toned down" to suit the modern taste.

In the whipping scene, Simon Legree's snaky lash cracked once (against the floor) and Uncle Tom was hustled into a cabin, where the whipping proceeded noisily but unseen by the audience.

Gone, too, were the ice cakes over which Eliza leaped in 362,923 previous performances—the statistics are those of the Players' Theater—nor were the bloodhounds to be seen or heard.

Eva was Helen Peterson and Topsy was Harriet Pomeranz. Royce F. Ward played Simon Legree and Thomas Paradine was Uncle Tom. Eliza was played by Hope Cook.

TAXI 'HUNGER MARCH' WITH CHILDREN FAILS AT WHITE HOUSE

FOUR ARRESTED IN 'MISERY' PROTEST

Youths Used as Foils In Futile Struggle To Reach Hoover

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Successfully thwarting a taxicab invasion of the White House grounds by self-styled "hunger marchers," plans were laid by police today to deal with new groups which have announced their intention of coming here when Congress convenes.

Every effort to discourage the "march" from scattered states has been made by capital authorities who, meanwhile, were reported to be taking extra precautions to prevent any acts of violence in connection with the presentation of the "hunger marchers'" relief demands.

WOMEN FINED

Two women arrested during an attempt to lead a delegation of children to the White House yesterday were fined $10 each in police court today but the sentences were suspended.

They gave their names as Mrs. Pauline Gitnick, 57, and Mrs. Gertrude Haessler, 38, and said they were New York social service workers.

Dr. Emil Conason, of New York, one of the leaders of the demonstration, was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct, but his case was continued and he was released on bond.

Harry M. Lowe, Negro taxicab driver, who drove some of the group to the White House, was charged with speeding and passing a red light. His case was continued after he said motorcycle policemen forced him onward by telling him to "pep it up." Others arrested were scheduled to be arraigned later in the day.

The children, ranging in age from 10 to 16, were delegated at a "convention" of some 60 of their number recruited from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, to make an effort to see President Hoover. During the scuffle they remained in their cabs and later were detained several hours at the police women's bureau.

ARRESTED AT GATES

Conason was arrested as he sought to enter the gates of the White House. He and the two women were in a taxi which made a dash to go through the entrance but was blocked by a police motorcycle.

Two groups of children assembled in the streets near the executive mansion, but their attempted marches were turned aside by police. Crowds near the vicinity were scattered before the demonstrators arrived. Most of the adults who came here with the children for the "child misery" protests left last night for homes in New York, New Jersey and other eastern points on an excursion train.

HOOVERS OPEN SEAL DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—On the south lawn of the White House the President and Mrs. Hoover today released two homing pigeons to mark the opening of the annual Christmas Seals campaign of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Two of the Army's fastest carriers sped north at the President's signal for home lofts at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Messages they carried will be taken to the association's headquarters in New York City.

Just before releasing the pigeons, President and Mrs. Hoover received their quota of seals from three child health crusaders dressed in white capes and helmets decorated with the association's familiar cross.

Father-in-Law Slain, Farm Hand Jailed

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Seibert Miller, 43, farmhand, is in jail today at New Bloomfield awaiting the Perry County District Attorney's action as the result of the death of his father-in-law, Harry Adams, 61.

Adams died last night in a hospital. Authorities say Miller has admitted shooting him Tuesday night as the climax of a family quarrel, during which Miller claims he was threatened by Adams.

New Rope Skipping Record Set Up

PUEBLO, Col., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Carl B. Anderson, Evanston, Ill., who skipped a rope 10,000 times in two hours and three minutes June 21, 1931, must bow to Tommy Thompson. Thompson, under the scrutiny of R. D. Davis and Glen Tompkins, hoisted himself over the hemp 12,200 times in one hour and 21 minutes.

Champion Liar Keeps in Practice

BURLINGTON, Wis., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—O. F. Butts, Bay City, Mich., who won last year's tall story contest conducted by the Burlington Liars' Club, has been keeping in trim by preparing four stories for submission in this year's event.

HOOVER HOLIDAY UNDISTURBED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Undisturbed by the attempted "hunger march" demonstration outside the White House, President and Mrs. Hoover spent a quiet Thanksgiving, observing the holiday as millions of other Americans, with church and a turkey dinner.

Mr. Hoover arose at his usual early hour, despite the holiday, for a round of medicine ball and after breakfast went into the Lincoln study for a little work.

The President and first lady attended the Thanksgiving Day service at the Foundry Methodist Episcopal Church on Sixteenth street.

A few close friends from official life were invited to the White House for the Thanksgiving Day dinner in the evening, which was featured by two big turkeys.

GOV. ROOSEVELT BEGINS REST

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Laying aside politics and presidential worries for the time being, Franklin D. Roosevelt settled back in the seclusion of his "Little White House" on the rim of Pine Mountain today for a quiet week-end.

Next week the President-elect will begin a series of conferences with congressional leaders and southern Democratic chiefs, but until then he will spend all his time resting and catching up with his personal correspondence.

Speaker John N. Garner, Vice President-elect, will be the spokesman for Mr. Roosevelt at the Capitol during the short session, it was learned today from sources close to the President-elect. They will keep in close contact with each other by telephone during the forthcoming short session.

PILOT ESCAPES PLANE CRASH

When his small monoplane nosed over in a forced landing near the William Penn highway in Wilkinsburg, the pilot, said to be Ralph Burton, of the Dawson-Babcock Airplane Corporation, escaped unhurt.

According to witnesses at Wilkinsburg Airport, near the scene of the accident, the plane blew a cylinder and landed on a golf driving range, nosing over when it hit a knoll. The plane had been flown from Rodgers Field.

Slight damage was done to the landing gear.

SLEEP POTION KILLS WOMAN

Seeking rest from sleepless nights spent at the bedside of her husband, who had been sick, Mrs. Anna Wooton, 42, of 600 Roosevelt avenue, Bellevue, took a sleeping potion. She never awakened.

Mrs. Wooton was taken to the Suburban General Hospital Wednesday morning after efforts had been made to awaken her, first by members of the family and then by physicians. She died early today of a heart condition superinduced by the sleeping medicine, according to a morgue report.

LEADER OF CULT CONFESSES MURDER

Disputes With Judge As to Who's 'King' Of Courtroom

DETROIT, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—While a crowd of more than 500 members of his cult milled about in the corridors of Recorders Court, Robert Harris, Negro member of a cult known as the Order of Islam, was arraigned on a first degree murder charge today and admitted he killed James J. Smith, Negro, because it was "crucifixion time."

Police who had feared a possible demonstration by Negro members of the cult said there was no disturbance. A plea of guilty was entered for Harris, and he was returned to a cell pending a possible sanity hearing.

Harris entered into a lengthy argument with Recorders Judge John A. Boyne as to who was "king" of the courtroom, and the court attendants had difficulty in keeping the Negro's hat off his head. Harris said:

"I killed this man with the crucifixion. I said 'Ali-ker-slump.' And he fell dead."

Previous testimony was to the effect that Harris, in the midst of a "sacrificial" rite to his gods, struck the man over the head with an automobile ax after stabbing him.

"Well, I've got to go now."

So said Harris, as he completed his testimony and started toward the door. Police restrained him, and, protesting that he was "king here and everywhere," he was returned to a cell, while the cult members dispersed.

ROBBERS LOOT COURTHOUSE

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The Courthouse—even the Sheriff's office, in fact—is not burglar-proof.

Three gunmen entered the Blair County "capitol" building, overpowered the night watchman, Harry Miller, and finding an acetylene torch went to work on the safe in the Treasurer's office.

Meanwhile one of the trio, searching the other offices in the building, collected $4 left by clerks, $5 from Miller and several revolvers from the Sheriff's office.

At this point the burglars, hearing someone entering the structure, fled.

Pope Pius Greets Many Bridal Pairs

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Pope Pius broke an old custom yesterday by announcing he will continue to receive newly-married couples during the period of Advent.

Heretofore all except extraordinary private audiences have been suspended during that time. Recently an average of 100 couples a day have visited him during wedding trips to Rome. He gives each bride a rosary and each bridegroom a medal.

Rum Worth $75,000 Seized, 4 Arrested

TRURO, Mass., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Liquor valued by officials at about $75,000, in 1,500 cases, was seized along with four automobiles on the beach here today by coast guardsmen. Nine hundred cases were found on the beach and about 600 more on property nearby. Four men were arrested as the guardsmen swooped down on a group of about 20.

WARNS WOMEN IN LOVE RACE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(Universal.)—If European women are not careful, American women will take their best men.

This advice had been uttered today by Countess Marcelle De Jouvenel, newspaper writer, novelist and feminist of paris. She said:

"French women should emulate their American sisters. Their struggle to get husbands is harder because the proportion of French males is smaller than in America. Furthermore, they cannot dabble in politics without disqualifying themselves for matrimony."

But the countess is here to "dabble in politics" herself as special representative of the Matin. She will tour America and report political activities of its women.

She will interview "Ma" Ferguson, Governor-elect of Texas; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, first woman to be elected to the United States Senate, and other outstanding feminine political figures.

Weather Conditions.

Two highs, central over West Virginia, Montana and Wyoming, are separated by a trough of low pressure, extending from the lakes southward to the Middle Gulf, with centers over Southern Mississippi and north of the lakes. Light to moderate rain has occurred in the district from Southern Indiana to the Gulf, with heavy rain at New Orleans and light snow or rain in North Dakota and northward into Canada; elsewhere generally fair weather prevails. Rain continues at scattered places between Southern Indiana and the Gulf this morning. It is somewhat cooler over Pennsylvania, West Virginia, North Dakota, the Canadian Northwest and Northern Montana and warmer in the upper lakes, the central valleys and portions of the plateau and Central Rocky Mountains. Temperatures again fell below zero in Manitoba and Saskatchewan this morning, while it was 76 degrees at Rapid City, S. D., yesterday, equaling the record for high temperature so late in the season.

CRAZED FILIPINO KILLS SIX

SEATTLE, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Armed with two seven-inch knives he fashioned from a native Moro bolo, Julian Marcelino, a crazed Filipino, killed six men and wounded 11 persons in a two-hour rampage Thanksgiving Day.

Marcelino ran wild in and out of the cheap lodging houses and shops on the edge of the Oriental district, striking at the hearts of whomever he met, while police and ambulances followed his trail of victims.

Overpowered late in the day by two policemen, disarmed and jailed, the 30-year-old Filipino lapsed into sullen silence, which was broken today to explain loss of his $300 in savings by two robberies, was responsible for his sanguine orgy.

He killed W. J. Morris, 60, a grocery store proprietor; Frank Johnson, 65, a bystander; Pito Gualto, Filipino, 50; Bernardino Bonita, Filipino, 25; Jimmy Gimenez, Filipino, 25, and William Tanador, Filipino, 28.

Eleven others, one a Japanese woman, lay in hospitals today with their chests or shoulders gashed by Marcelino's knives. City hospital surgeons held out hope for the life of Antone Schuler, 73.

MOTHER TO DIE FOR POISONING

JOHANNESBURG, Union of South Africa, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Mrs. Daisy Louise DeMelker today was convicted of the murder of her son by poisoning and sentenced to death. She was acquitted of charges of murdering two former husbands.

The handsome little woman of 44 went on trial October 17 on the three murder counts.

The prosecutor charged she poisoned her first husband, William Alfred Rowle, in 1923; her second husband, Robert Sproat, in 1927, and her son, Cecil Rhodes Rowle, last March.

It was charged the two husbands died after having made wills in her favor and the son after having assigned to his mother an insurance policy of £100.

Mrs. DeMelker is now the wife of a famous South African rugby player.

WIFE BATTLES DEATH LEAP IN VAIN

Clings to Flier for 15 Minutes Before He Plunges 6 Floors

NEW YOP Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Ivan . Gates, who thrilled thousands as an automobile racer and later as an airplane and stunt pilot, plunged to his death from a window of his sixth floor apartment in the Chelsea district yesterday.

His wife, who seized his legs in an effort to restrain his leap, was almost carried out the window with him. She clung to him for 15 minutes, crying for help, and then collapsed in a faint.

SUFFERED REVERSES

Gates, who amassed a fortune estimated by Elmer H. Holmes, head of a Long Island airport, at several million dollars in manufacturing airplanes, in the stock market and other ventures, was said by Holmes to have suffered reverses.

Mrs. Hazel Gates, his wife, told police he seemed more morose than usual when he arrived home. He asked for a glass of milk, she said, and when she brought it he hurled it to the floor and dived toward the window. She grabbed him around the knees, but his 235-pound weight was too much for her.

Gates, who was born in Rockford, Mich., about 43 years ago, was known as the flying circus "king." He was credited with having staged some 2,000 air meets in 43 states.

AIR BARNSTORMER

In 1928 he sought to recoup his fortune by forming the Gates Aircraft Corporation and barnstorming the country. He gave exhibitions of stunt flying in Canada and Mexico as well as in the United States.

Before he was 18 years old, Gates, already an automobile enthusiast, went to California, where Barney Oldfield was gaining a reputation as a racer, and began his own career as a racing driver.

When the Wright brothers flew their first plane, Gates' attention turned to the air and in 1911 he had built his own plane.

During the World War Gates trained many of the foreign pilots who came to this country for instruction and later he trained American pilots in Texas and California.

When the stock market dropped he was manufacturing planes for the Belgian government. Holmes said Gates, who had lived in New York about six years and had been married 11 years, had flown 80,000 persons over the city.

JANE THURSTON HEARING SET

The hearing of Jane Thurston Harris' divorce suit against Harry Harris has been listed for Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

The suit, filed last August, charges cruelty and indignities. Harris, son of the late Senator John P. Harris, is not expected to contest the action.

If the judge grants Jane's plea, the closing chapter may be written in the romance which started when the couple was secretly wedded near here in January, 1930, without the knowledge of her father, Magician Howard Thurston, with whom Jane had appeared on the stage, and Mrs. Thurston.

It was then they clinched the contract by two more marriages—one civil, one church—just to show they meant it.

But a year later—in March, 1931—there were family rows. Thurston suffered a broken rib. He emptied a tear gas fountain pen in Harris' eye during one tilt. Then the couple parted. Only five months later, though, Jane said:

"We are together again and I am very happy."

A year later they separated—this time for good, Jane said, as she filed the divorce papers.

Crash of Big Safe Balks Bank Robbers

OLATHE, Kan., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—An effort to rob the Stilwell (Kan.) Bank was frustrated yesterday when a 2-ton safe crashed through the floor of the institution as six men were prying it from its cement base.

Unable to move the safe, the men fled in a motor truck while townspeople were organizing a posse.

War Stamp Forgery Holds Beaver Man

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Accused of altering and forging two War Savings stamps valued at $200, Harry Ward Carewe, of Beaver, Pa., was held in County Jail here today in lieu of $2,500 bond, pending action of the Federal grand jury.

MAUDE ADAMS FIGHTS SUIT OVER TOUR

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—For the first time in her long career, Maude Adams unveiled her private life and discussed her personal affairs publicly in the $203,000 suit of John D. Williams, theatrical producer, against her. The minutes of the examination of Miss Adams before trial of the suit were inspected today.

Arthur Driscoll, counsel for Williams, conducted the examination. The actress revealed that she lives at the Catholic Cenacle of St. Regis, a religious retreat, at 628 West One Hundred and Fortieth street, and that she transacts all business at the Colony Club. Miss Adams observed her sixtieth birthday on November 11 at the end of her tour in "The Merchant of Venice" under Erlanger direction.

CLAIMS $203,000

In suing the star with Mitchell Erlanger, Saul Baron, Marcus Heimann and the two production companies in which they are associated, Williams claimed $203,000 for his services in arranging for Miss Adams' return to the stage after 13 years' retirement. The actress' examination by Driscoll began:

Q.—How long have you known John D. Williams?

A.—Oh, many, many years—since 1906 or 1907, or something like that.

Q.—Did you discuss with Mr. Williams your return to the stage?

A.—No, for I had been away from the stage for 12 years and did not feel physically fit to engage in a production.

Asked when she saw Williams again, she replied:

"When he was putting on plays. He asked me to help with rehearsals and I gave a good deal of time to rehearsing one of the young ladies of the company. Yes, the play was 'L'Aiglon' and the young lady was Mrs. Michael Strange, Mrs. John Barrymore."

This was the first public intimation that Maude Adams directed the Williams production of Rostand's masterpiece in which Barrymore's second wife was featured.

GOES TO HOLLYWOOD

Miss Adams disclosed that she had been pondering over an idea for a play in which to return to the stage. She said she wanted John Colton, co-author of "Rain," to write it. He was in California, the actress testified and added:

"I decided to go there. Mr. Williams volunteered to go and I decided I was doing a favor to him."

For months in 1930, Miss Adams revealed, she remained in Hollywood in seclusion without the secret becoming known.

She disclosed that she had sought John Barrymore as a co-star to play Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice" at Edward Sheldon's suggestion before Otis Skinner was engaged for the part.

MASS SLAYING OF 2,700 LAID TO JAPS

SHANGHAI, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Japanese troops were accused in a Chinese foreign office communique today of the massacre of 2,700 Chinese villagers in Northern Manchuria recently.

The document said a Japanese detachment ordered the inhabitants of the vilages of Ping Ting-San, Chien Chin-Pae and Litsekou, near Fushun, to assemble in a ditch outside Ping Ting-San.

The mass killing followed, the troops using machine guns to mow down the mass of screaming villagers, the communique said, adding that Japanese nationals were given the land the villagers had owned.

TREASON CHARGED

The announcement said the villagers were taken to the ditch with the explanation that they were suspected of harboring and cooperating with volunteer Chinese troops and said the Japanese promised a reward if the suspects were found innocent, then sent troops into the towns to investigate.

At the same time, the communique asserted, 10 or more machine guns were placed in shooting position 70 yards from the ditch.

At that point, said the document, the Chinese, suspecting something besides an investigation, broke ranks and some started to run, and the machine guns opened fire.

CHILDREN BAYONETED

It added that 160 escaped with slight wounds, that 60 or 70 died trying to flee, "while children and others not killed by bullets were bayoneted."

The Chinese statement said Japanese soldiers piled the corpses in a huge heap, covered them with oil-soaked fuel and burned the bodies to ashes.

The Japanese were charged with then alloting the farms of the villagers to Japanese.

SAVED DANGLING FROM PLANE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Dangling in mid-air by one foot caught in a strap, Miss Annette Gibson, well-known aviatrix, was saved from death when her flying companion, Hugh Copeland, brought their plane out of a tail-spin just as it was about to plunge into a house.

The two went aloft yesterday with Miss Gibson at the controls to capture a large balloon released by a department store in an advertising stunt. She made five futile dives but hit the balloon on the sixth try.

It tangled in the left wing and the plane went into a spin, hurling Miss Gibson over the side. Her foot caught in the safety strap on her seat, however, and she was able to pull herself back as Copeland, who seized the controls, leveled the plane out over the heads of horrified spectators.

They landed safely at Roosevelt Field.

JAPAN SWELLS BUDGET

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The largest national budget in the history of Japan — 2,239,000,000 ($447,800,000), was approved by the cabinet today in the face of persistent warnings from influential financial interests.

The 1933-34 outlay, swollen by the extraordinary demands of the army and navy chiefly in connection with Manchuria, involves a deficit for the year beginning April 1, 1933, of 897,000,000 yen ($179,400,000), for which bonds must be issued.

Before the announcement of the new budget, Baron Seinosuke Goh, president of the Japan Chamber of Commerce, declared the government's policy of dependence upon bond issues was increasing the national debt greatly and threatening currency inflation and further decline of the yen leading toward something like Germany's post-war collapse.

JAPAN SEEKS U. S. AMITY

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Japan is thinking of keeping a "counsellor at large" in the United States to seek improvement in American understanding of the Japanese position, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told in an official quarter that this innovation in Japanese-American diplomacy was under serious consideration.

The plan would not alter the present diplomatic representation in Washington very much, and would go into effect probably in January when Amsassador Katsuji Debuchi returns to the United States after a furlough.

As now mapped out, the idea would be to send Toshihiko Taketomi, chief of the foreign office commercial bureau, to Washington as counsellor of the embassy as was previously announced, but to retain Hiroshi Saito in the United States as counsellor-at-large.

'MODEL YOUTH' INDICTED

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Sixteen-year-old Bert Arnold was indicted today for the murder of his step-grandmother, Mrs. Ellen Saxe, 60.

Only the boy's stepmother and three policemen testified. Five other witnesses, including three high school chums of Young Arnold, remained in an anteroom, but were not called.

Arnold remained at the county jail. Officials said he probably would be made a teacher of younger boys pending his trial.

Alienists and psychiatrists continued to visit the youth, seeking to determine his mental condition.

Dr. James Whitney Hall, psychiatrist engaged by Arnold's father, reported the boy was suffering from "adolescent insanity" when Mrs. Saxe was slain, but two alienists for the state have contended he was legally sane and therefore should be executed for the killing.

Dr. Butler Supports 6-Month Moratorium

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Extension of the Hoover moratorium for six months was urged today by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

He also advocated a conference with European nations to reconsider war debts as a means of restoring prosperity.

Radiator Alcohol Kills 2 at Reading

READING, Pa., Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Poison alcohol killed George E. Snyder, 35, former policeman, and George W. Olds, 56, former constable, friends for years, the Coroner said today. Celebrating Thanksgiving Day, they drank liquor made from a mixture of radiator alcohol and water, it was announced.

COLLEGE YOUTH SLAYS CHUM

WOODBURY, Tenn., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Orville Conley, 20-year-old college youth, shot and killed his chum and former roommate, Brown Ramsey Smoot, 20, and then committed suicide in the courthouse square last night.

As Conley approached the automobile in which Smoot was sitting with Miss Frances Bramen, friend of both youths, and another couple, Smoot called a friendly greeting:

"How are you, Conley?"

Conley did not reply, but whipped out a pistol. Miss Bramen seized the weapon as Conley started shooting. One bullet went wild, two struck Miss Bramen in the arm and throat and the fourth struck Smoot in the head, killing him instantly.

Conley then fired a bullet into his own brain and died a few minutes later.

Tax Commissioner Held as Embezzler

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—An indictment on a charge of embezzling public funds was announced here today against Lester C. Franklin, former head of the Mississippi Tax Commission and a prominent figure in state political circles for many years.

The former tax official was held today in the office of Sheriff Warren Ferguson at the Courthouse pending arrangement of bond, which was fixed at $2,500 by Judge Wiley H. Potter.

Daniel Willard Talks With Hoover

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, conferred with President Hoover today. He would not discuss his visit with reporters.

Indicted Banker To Scan Records

George Clifford Frank, former president of the Ligonier National Bank, indicted on charges of embezzlement and misapplication of funds, today won a decree to examine bank records on which to prepare his defense. Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court signed the decree. Frank was indicted November 17 on 17 counts of embezzlement and two of misapplication involving $153,000. Last April $50,000 negotiable bonds were reported stolen from the vault of the bank, while the board of directors was in session.

VIEWER AWARDS TOO HIGH, SAYS M'MAHON

Viewers' awards on some real estate taken or damaged in the improvement of Sawmill Run boulevard and Woodruff street averaged as much as 10 times the price paid for the lots, according to Thomas C. McMahon, chief city assessor, in a letter to City Council.

McMahon had been called to account because the assessment on properties in the district appeared to be low beside the damage awards.

On one property in Woodruff street owned by Sullivan and Gross the viewers awarded $3,300 damages because the street was being raised. McMahon estimates the value of the property, figuring even the high building values of 1926, and the cost of the land, at a total of $2,960.

TESTIFIES FOR CITY

The city's witness in the viewers' hearing was West S. Brown, realty dealer, who testified the Sullivan and Gross property was worth $6,500 prior to the improvement and was damaged $3,250.

Brown's witness fees last year for testimony for the city totaled $17,307, according to the Controller's records.

In the case of the Sullivan and Gross property, Brown was only slightly lower in his estimate of value than one of the owners, R. P. Sullivan, who testified he believed the property was worth $6,750 before the improvement.

NO GROUND TAKEN

In raising the street, none of the Sullivan and Gross property was taken. The total city assessment on the property, including 58 feet of frontage, a concrete block building and a frame shop, is $1,880.

McMahon declared in his letter that the assessment reflects more nearly the true value of the property in 1930 than any figure submitted before the Board of Viewers.

According to McMahon, Sullivan and Gross took the property at sheriff's sale in 1926 on a judgment note for $1,000 and subject to a $1,200 mortgage. The concrete building is unoccupied and in bad repair, he said. The change of grade in Woodruff street will improve the property rather than damage it, McMahon declares.

QUOTES SALE PRICES

On a one-story frame dwelling in Lime street, owned by Mary Anna Long, which was taken for the construction of the Sawmill Run boulevard, an award of the viewers amounting to $2,400 compares with an assessment of $670. McMahon quoted comparative sales prices to support the assessment and declared awards on 12 vacant lots east of the Long property amounted to 10 times the price paid by the owners.

On the Long property, Brown testified to a value of $1,750. McMahon also pointed out that Council last week approved the sale of a lot in the same plan, but better located, for $100, considerably less than the assessment on the Long lot.

PLATE TARGET, ASKS DIVORCE

Gustav A. Dorner, of Mississippi avenue, wants a divorce from his wife, Sara G. Dorner, of Illinois avenue, Dormont.

Among the reasons he gave to Judge James H. Gray today were:

Mrs. Dorner moved his household furnishings into the street one day and invited him to leave the Mississippi avenue place. Dorner said:

"She didn't even leave a match or a toothpick in the place."

Mrs. Dorner, her husband testified, never cleaned or dusted the home; stacked unwashed dishes in the sink; threw his clothes in the street as a hint that his welcome was over; threw so many dishes at him that half the home's china was broken, and, he concluded:

"I got so good that I ducked a few of them."

They married in 1929; she's 41, he's 42.

Secretary Chapin, Wife Fly to Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Roy Chapin, Secretary of Commerce, and Mrs. Chapin, arrived here today by airplane from Washington for a brief vacation.

Secretry Chapin said he would be here several days to recuperate from a bad cold.

DO HEADACHES DRIVE YOU CRAZY?

It's the worst kind of folly to dope and drug yourself every time you have one of those blinding, throbbing headaches. For drugs only relieve the pain for the moment, and in a little while the headache returns worse than ever and you have to drug yourself all over again. You've got to get at the cause.

Poisons created in your own body cause these severe headaches, and you must remove the poisons to get relief of a lasting nature.

By starting the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment, today, you may free yourself from this constant torment.

This new form of Nujol is specially designed to rid you of poisons which very often cause this condition.

Cream of Nujol contains no drugs, and does not in any way interfere with work or play. It is delicious to take. Moreover, you can use this modern treatment at a cost of but a few cents a day.

Take Cream of Nujol night and morning. Begin this very night and give it a real trial. Buy it at any drug counter.

IMPROVED VOTE MACHINE TO BE DELIVERED

A revamped voting machine will be delivered to the county by the National Cash Register Company by December 31, in accordance with a contract signed by the Commissioners at their meeting Wednesday.

The contract provides that the machine is "to be rebuilt to make it an efficient, durable and sturdy unit, capable of satisfactory performance of its intended purpose."

The National Cash Register Company has also agreed to furnish plans and specifications necessary to enable advertising for a contract to improve similarly all the county's 1,100 vote machines.

The work is being done at the company's Dayton (O.), plant, and will cost $800.

MELLON SPEAKS FOR PEACE

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Ambassador Andrew W. Mellon, speaking yesterday at the Thanksgiving dinner of the American Society, gave thanks because the people of the United States "have accepted the inevitable and have adhered to the orderly processes of government" under conditions which in other nations might have produced "violence and upheaval."

American residents of London also heard Stanley Bruce, former Australian premier and minister without portfolio in the present Australian government, plead for an extension of the intergovernmental debt moratorium until a permanent war debt settlement could be arranged.

Ambassador Mellon found numerous reasons for being thankful this year. He said:

"The world is at peace—the peace of exhaustion perhaps, but nevertheless it is a cause for thanksgiving and for hope that responsible men in all countries, backed by public opinion, are laboring with a good prospect of success to bring about reduction in the crushing burden of armaments and to make it neither safe nor profitable for any nation to disturb the peace of the world."

EARL OF CAVAN MADE MARSHAL

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Frederick Lambart, tenth Earl of Cavan, was made a field-marshal last night, the highest rank in the British Army, in succession to the late Lord Methuen.

The Earl of Cavan is 67 years old and served throughout the South African and World Wars. At the opening of the World War he commanded the Fourteenth Corps and subsequently the Brigade of Guards and the Guards Division, being mentioned in dispatches numerous times. In the closing months of the war he was in command of the Tenth Italian Army on the Piave front.

Lord Cavan was aide-de-camp to the then governor-general of Canada, Lord Stanley, of Preston, from 1891 to 1893.

FOUR TRAINMEN DIE IN WRECK

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Four trainmen were killed and two injured yesterday in a collision between two local freight trains near Elk Hill Station on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

The dead were: H. F. Gilman, engineer; W. D. Carter, conductor; J. Maurice Britt, brakeman, and R. H. Lacy, brakeman.

J. T. Terrell, fireman, and G. P. West, engineer, were injured.

E. B. Glenn, superintendent of the Richmond Division of the Chesapeake and Ohio, said the cause of the accident had not been determined.

New Pocahontas' Grave Search Fails

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(Universal.)—Search of the crypt of the Church of St. John the Evangelist has failed to reveal the remains of Pocahontas. The site of the grave of the Indian princess, who became the bride of John Rolfe, and died in London of a broken heart, has been a mystery for 300 years.

Stepping Stone Fall Wins Woman $10,500

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Old-fashioned stepping stones have become a liability in an automobile age.

Judge Clarence A. Burton awarded $10,500 damages to Mrs. Lide M. King, who fell over one of the stones to which belles of long ago stepped from their horse-drawn carriages.

Passenger Injured In Crash of Auto

Christ Delly, 24, of 408 Greenfield avenue, suffered serious injuries early today when the automobile in which he was a passenger crashed into a pole in Irvine boulevard, at Greenfield avenue. William Grattan, 23, of 2127 Winterburn street, was the driver.

East End Church Bought For New Congregation

'Creative Thinking' To Be Taught By Dr. Carruthers

The Second United Presbyterian Church property at North Negley and Stanton avenues has been sold to Dr. Hugh Greer Carruthers, who has established it as the Pittsburgh Temple, it was announced today.

The sale was made through the Lawton Real Estate Company and the price was announced as $40,000. The United Presbyterian congregation two years ago abandoned the building and merged with another church.

Dr. Carruthers said he will teach "creative thinking" and follows no creed, his church pursuing the philosophies of Christ, Moses, the Indian teachings—a combination of all.

A committee of 60, headed by C. O. Emrich, has organized the Temple congregation, it was announced. Dr. Carruthers recently conducted a series of 26 radio broadcasts in Youngstown, O.

Burglars Carry Off 125 Pounds Poultry

There was plenty of chicken for the Thanksgiving repast of thieves who broke in the Sheets Produce Company establishment, rear 22 South Nineteenth street. They carried off 125 pounds of poultry valued at $20, city detectives were told.

Balchen Gets Plane For South Pole Trip

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Bernt Balchen, noted pilot, left here yesterday with a new low-wing monoplane in which he and Lincoln Ellsworth, explorer, plan to fly over the South Polar regions in 1933.

Balchen said he would take the plane to New York to complete the final preparations for the expedition, making his first stop at El Paso, Tex. The ship has a cruising range of 4,000 miles and a top speed of about 200 miles.

Shriners to Give Concert Tonight

The first free concert of the season at Syria Temple will be given tonight for members of the Shrine. The music will be provided by the Temple band and chanters. George Matz will conduct the band and Dr. Russell H. Kirk will direct the chanters. The program starts at 8:15 o'clock. Motion pictures will follow the concert.

Urges Juryless Trials as Economy

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS.) — Recommendations for a proper probation system for Oregon prisoners that would save the state thousands of dollars annually were made here recently by Circuit Judge James Crawford, whose docket is crowded continually, causing delay to litigants.

Judge Crawford urged that courts conduct trials without juries where the defendants do not object.

Bacon Replaces U. S. Army Pork

WASHINGTON—The Army has just moved to benefit both the soldier's palate and the farmer's pocketbook by decreeing for its troops the kind of bacon that curls and crisps instead of the famous slabs of salt pork.

Regulations provide the ration for each soldier must include six ounces of bacon. For years and years dry salt pork has been part of the daily fare—generally cooked with the equally well-known comrade-at-arms, beans.

Partly in River, Man is Rescued

Found lying on the shore of the Allegheny River at the foot of Galveston avenue, part of his body submerged, Mose Bishop, 47, no home, was lodged in North Side Police Station on a drunkenness charge after a laceration to his ear had been treated at Allegheny General Hospital. Bishop was found by Robert Rinsburg, who said he heard moans from his houseboat, moored near that point. Police said Bishop had probably wandered to the shore, where he fell.

Are You Going Back to the Firing-Line this Winter . . . .

Are you going to join the throng of coal-shovelers and ash-removers again this winter . . . Will you be back on the firing-line, nursing a lazy furnace fire, in a futile attempt to keep the temperature in your home somewhere near the proper temperature . . . Or will you do what so many others are now doing—Heat your home with gas.

Gas househeating removes all the inconvenience of furnace-tending. It is a clean, healthful heat . . . The desired temperature is easily maintained at the turn of a valve . . . And you don't have to worry about the fire going out at night, or when you are out for the day . . . This remarkable convenience is now offered to you without the necessity of buying a gas burner.

You Can Rent the TAPPAN Gas Burner for only $2.00 per month . . . . . .

We install this efficient Tappan Gas Burner in your present furnace and you pay only $2.00 per month . . . No down payment—no obligation whatever.

The Tappan Burner is easily installed in warm air furnaces having 20" to 22" fire pots and steam or hot water boilers 18" to 20" in diameter . . . It will deliver the required amount of heat during the coldest weather and it makes gas house heating in the Fall and Spring months decidedly economical.

Gas heat is clean, healthful and convenient

ROAD MACHINE TEST SOUGHT

The Tranter Manufacturing Company has offered to put its two road maintenance machines in the county's service for a six months' trial. On a recommendation of the Controller and an engineer employed by the Commissioners, the Commissioners previously decided not to buy the machines because they were five years old.

In a letter to the Commissioners the company said:

"We have reviewed the situation and can find no justification for not proceeding with the purchase contract, but in the face of a considerable amount of publicity and unwarranted criticism we wish to state the Tranter Manufacturing Company is perfectly willing to stand squarely behind the merit of these machines and comply with the contract, which requires the same guarantee as new machines."

The letter was referred to the county law department for a reply.

HONOR SPINOZA ANNIVERSARY

The three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Baruch Spinoza will be celebrated by the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association Sunday night in the Morris Kaufmann Memorial Auditorium.

The main address will be delivered by Dr. Richard Hope, of the University of Pittsburgh. Dr. Hope has been specializing in the history of philosophy and in metaphysics, and is considered an authority on Spinoza. Rabbi Herman Hailperin, of the Tree of Life Congregation, will be chairman.

A musical program will be given by Harry Azinsky, violinist, and assistant concertmeister of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, accompanied by Julia Katz Golomb.

J. H. Crouses Mark 53rd Anniversary

The fifty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Crouse, lifelong residents of Pittsburgh, and parents of City Detective John Crouse, was observed in their home, 201 South Pacific avenue, yesterday.

TIP GOES WITH HARD CIPHER

Cipher No. 15 will be unlucky—to many.

It presents possibilities of some interesting moments—or hours—for the cipher addicts.

In order to eliminate a lot of hard work, the Cipher Editor is giving a good tip to start with.

Don't try a frequency table. It won't work. You'll have to juggle the letters somehow to reach a solution. The words of the cipher are identical to those of the message.

Now go to it.

It would be interesting to know how many can find the answer within an hour's time. Not many, it's feared.

Today is also revealed the solution to No. 14. It's a keyword alphabet affair—and the word is "Journalist."

Now get busy on No. 15. The solution will be published Monday.

BAKER TO TALK TO GERMANS

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, has accepted an invitation to lecture in several German universities in January and February.

The invitation was extended by the Oberlaender Trust of the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation, founded by Gustav Oberlaender, philanthropist of Reading, Pa., as part of a memorial to Carl Schurz, German emigrant to this country, who became an ambassador to Spain and later a member of President Hayes' cabinet.

Dr. Baker said he expects to confer with German scientists concerning plans for further development of the engineering school at Carnegie Tech.

CALLS MANKIND COUNTERPART OF STARS

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Protoplasm, the very stuff of which man and the plants and animals about him are made, was described today by Dr. George W. Crile, Cleveland scientist, as a structural copy in miniature of the stars in the sky.

He told members of the Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers at their thirty-second annual convention opening today:

"We may say that protoplasm is a milky way consisting of 'solar systems' infinitely diminutive, each created in its own image by the sun's radiance."

The full meaning of the concept is conveyed in this restatement:

Infinitely small "hot points," given the name "radiogens" by Dr. Crile, literally shine like suns in protoplasm, with temperatures of from 3,000 to 6,000 degrees centigrade.

Without exaggeration the concept may be taken to mean, in the mind of the scientist and the layman, that within the very flesh of man burns the fierce fire of the sun and that within man's body glow infinitely small counterparts of the stars.

The clue to the direct parallel between the sun and the characteristics of protoplasm is radiation.

Dr. Crile's description of his findings revealed that while previous experiments by the Russian investigator, Gurwitsch, had indirectly demonstrated radiation from living organisms, Dr. Crile's associate, Dr. Otto Glasser, had demonstrated these radiations directly, not only from a frog's heart, from yeast and from a cancer, but even from the auto-synthetic—or man-made—cells whose first synthesis brought Dr. Crile fame.

Human Robots Forecast By Winston Churchill

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(Universal.)—Science, within 50 years, will be able to "grow" human robots under glass and bend them mentally and physically to certain tasks, Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the British exchequer, makes this fanciful prediction in his book "Amid These Storms," published today.

Churchill writes:

"There seems little doubt that it will be possible to carry out in artificial surroundings the entire cycle which now leads to the birth of a child. Interference with the mental development of such beings, expert suggestion and treatment in the earlier years, would produce beings specialized to thought or toil.

"Thus a being might be produced capable of tending a machine but without other ambitions."

FINGERPRINTED AS BAND PLAYS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Forty-five persons are being held in bail today after a "coming out party" for a man recently released from jail.

State police broke in on the party with the aid of sledge hammers at the Bessemer Hotel in Steelton early yesterday. Not expecting to find such a large group on their hands, the matter of transportation puzzled the officers until some one suggested they get their horse truck.

So, on fresh hay, the hotel proprietor, the honor guest, the celebrators and the orchestra rode to the state police barracks.

Finger-printing proved a tedious job, so the orchestra struck up a tune while the prisoners registered their finger prints.

Dr. Hutchins Urges U. S. Help Colleges

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Federal relief for public institutions of higher learning was urged last night by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, in an address before the Virginia Education Association.

The situation in state-supported universities, he said, "is now so critical that unless there is some change in the attitude or condition of our people there is indeed little hope for that higher learning which is in them."

Bishop Enthroned At Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The Most Rev. James E. Kearney, fourth bishop of the Catholic diocese of Salt Lake, received the robes and symbols of his office in the Cathedral of the Madeleine here yesterday.

He was escorted to the episcopal throne by Most Rev. John J. Mitty, his predecessor in the bishopric and now coadjutor archbishop of San Francisco.

Zoo Animal Sale Lures Lone Bidder

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Lee Kerfoot, zoo superintendent, fears any animal is a white elephant to prospective purchasers of zoo stock these days.

Since the city decided to sell its animal collection to save the upkeep, only one buyer has appeared and he seeks only a few animals to train. But it's the whole zoo or no sale, Kerfoot says.

VASSAR GIRLS LOSE GEMS

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Two Vassar students, on their way to New York to spend Thanksgiving, chased a motorist three miles Wednesday night in an attempt to recover $2,000 worth of jewelry and clothes which had fallen from their car, but lost their quarry in the traffic.

The students, Miss Virginia Curtis, of Clinton, Ia., and Miss Suzanne Di Lorenzi, of South Bend, Ind., told police they heard their two traveling bags fall out of the rear of their car on the Bronx River parkway just south of White Plains. They turned around in time to see a north bound automobile stop, a man get out and pick up the bags. He tossed them into his car and drove away.

The girls drove after him in a vain attempt to catch up.

HEIR TURNS UP AT MISSION

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Richard W. Pauley wandered into the midnight mission here today for a free Thanksgiving dinner, and found himself three months too late to claim an English inheritance. He needs it, too, for he is 61 years old, a shoestring peddler, and an invalid.

If Mrs. Mary Covell, executive secretary of the mission, can learn the names of the lawyers who were inquiring for Pauley three months ago, he may yet get the inheritance. But she was unable to recall them today. She said, however, that she would write to English probate courts. She said:

"We couldn't find Pauley when the lawyers asked about him. It seems a brother died in London and left him a small fortune."

Baby Adventurer Hunting Santa Sent Home

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—George Kelly, a 4-year-old adventurer, is back home after a premature and unsuccessful search for Santa Claus. He heard somebody say Santa planned a Thanksgiving parade, so he wandered 15 blocks from his home to Ninth and Market streets, where he tugged at a traffic policeman's trouser leg and asked to be directed to K. Kingle's whereabouts. The policeman directed him to his home.

COLLEGE BARS SCANDAL PAPER

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—To wipe out at a stroke a two-year deficit, members of a Depauw University journalistic fraternity publishing the "Yellow Crab," humor magazine, decided to issue a sensational number and reap profits from increased sales.

It didn't work. The dean's disciplinary committee decided the magazine offended good taste. Publication was suspended and 15 students were placed on probation today.

WAR BONUS BAN PROPOSED BY S. H. CHURCH

A constitutional amendment prohibiting payment of bonuses and pensions to soldiers uninjured in war is proposed by Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute.

Church recites that Gibbon, the historian, attributed the fall of the Roman Empire to the mercenary demands of her soldiers, and adds:

"We are rapidly advancing to that point in this country."

Church's proposal made in an article in the Carnegie Magazine is in the form of a letter to the President, and says:

"My purpose in offering this amendment, Mr. President, is to put an end to the raids upon the Treasury which follow every war, and which, through the connivance of fearful politicians, transform our armies of patriotic citizens into regiments of mercenary troops and soldiers of fortune."

The article states that a great majority of the soldiers in the World War "resent this debasement of patriotism as the negation of all that is noble and exalted in the ideals of the nation."

KIN OF 'TIGER' IGNORE STATUE

PARIS, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Members of the family of Georges Clemenceau, including his son and two daughters, steadfastly remained aloof yesterday from the formal unveiling of his statue in the Champs-Elysees.

The statue shows Clemenceau as he used to look on his visits to the trenches in 1918—his "tin hat," cocked to one side, his small and sturdy frame swathed in a thick coat and his heavy cane in hand. Members of the family considered the work inferior to a statue by another sculptor.

There was an abbreviated ceremony of unveiling last spring, when France was in national mourning because of the assassination of President Doumer. Among those who participated yesterday were President Lebrun, Gen. Maxime Weygand, Foch's right-hand man, and other civil and military dignitaries.

False Alarm Nets Gobbler for Firemen

WINCHESTER, Ind., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Someone turned in a fire alarm. The firemen couldn't find any fire, but they did spot a large turkey gobbler which had escaped from a deliveryman and which had perched itself on a roof.

One of the firemen used a shotgun and there was turkey for dinner at the fire house last night.

WALKER BREAKS 10 P. M. CURFEW

MONTE CARLO, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Good intentions are all right as far as they go, former Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, told himself today, but sometimes they don't go very far.

His latest good intention lasted only a few hours.

Fearing for his health, Jimmie yesterday resolved he would be in bed every evening by 10 o'clock.

But a few hours later he remained up far past his bedtime, playing at the gaming tables of the Casino with Miss Betty Compton, musical comedy actress and one of his close friends.

PITTSBURGH'S PRACTICAL CHRISTMAS STORE

NEW OHIO CANAL PLAN OFFERED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—A waterway the entire length of the Beaver River and up the Mahoning to Struthers is offered as a compromise plan to the United States Army Board of Engineers in an appeal filed in Washington today on behalf of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce.

The appeal is from the adverse report of the Pittsburgh district army engineers, approved by the division chief in St. Louis, holding that the improvement of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers, as far as Warren, O., and Greenville, Pa., is not feasible.

The appeal maintains that the new plan would cost $30,526,784 against the estimated cost of $112,000,000 for the original project; that the annual cost of the new plan would be $1,610,900 as against $6,070,000 for the original scheme; that the new proposal would be able immediately to carry 10,000,000 tons of freight as against the maximum of less than 6,000,000 estimated as capacity of the old plan.

ARSON CHARGED IN HOUSE FIRE

A firemen's report that oil-soaked rags and motion picture film were found scattered through a house where fire broke out, in the rear of 3305 Auburn street, McKeesport, police said, led to the arrest of Giacinto Buti, owner and occupant of the dwelling, today.

At a hearing before Alderman E. M. Trich, who held Buti for court on an arson charge, it was testified firemen found all windows in the house raised slightly and furniture piled against doors, making it necessary for them to smash windows in order to enter when they went there last night to fight the fire. The flames were extinguished, and firemen estimated the loss at $600.

Buti, his wife and seven children were absent. He was arrested when they returned at 2 a. m. It was testified he had insured the house for $2,000 and the furniture for $1,000.

Women to Hold Rally on Monday

A district rally of the Woman's Benefit Association will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock in Moose Hall, 14 North avenue, North Side. Mrs. Hester M. Coslett, 911 Adelaide street, is managing deputy. Miss Nellie E Lounsbury, Warren, Pa., supreme vice president and supreme regional director of the association, will be the honor guest.

Explorer to Give Lecture on Africa

A lecture on Africa sponsored by the Academy of Science and Art of Pittsburgh will be given by Jim Wilson, adventurer and explorer, at 8:15 o'clock Thursday night at Carnegie Institute Lecture Hall. His lecture is entitled "Africans Are People," and deals with personalities of the jungle people.

Convalescents' Home Holds 'Open House'

The first institution of its kind in the city, the Home for Colored Convalescent Girls and Women, 8451 Frankstown avenue, is holding open house for three days beginning today. The home was opened two weeks ago by the Harriet Tubman Club No. 1, which cooperates with the Social Service Department of the West Penn Hospital.

Engine Kills Man In Marietta Street

MARIETTA, O., Nov. 25—(INS.)—Morrison E. Collins, 76, was killed here today when he was struck by a Baltimore and Ohio yard engine on Butler street in the business district. Deaf, Collins walked into the path of the engine which was backing along the tracks.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE LEASED

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The Chicago Civic Opera Building—Samuel Insull's $20,000,000 contribution to classical music—was turned today into a theater for light opera and musical comedies.

Directors announced it had been leased to the Chicago Operetta Company, a new organization headed by David Erwin Russell, formerly of the Municipal Opera of St. Louis. He will be associated with Charles H. Jones, of New York, as business manager. Russell said:

"We plan to present 12 weeks of light opera at prices within the reach of everyone. There will be a cast of 300, many of them from Chicago."

Two grand opera companies met financial troubles this season, and the Civic Opera, located in a skyscraper office building erected by the former utilities magnate, has been dark since last spring.

ALESSIO SEEKS NEW TRIAL

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Twice convicted of murder in the last three months, Tony Alessio, former Monessen politician, today filed a motion for a new trial.

Alessio was charged with killing Ralph Masco at the latter's home in Monessen last May. The prosecution contended the shooting climaxed political differences between the men.

Seven reasons were cited in asking for a new trial. Among them is the contention that the jury was prejudiced because Mrs. Pauline Masco, the widow, testified she was afraid to tell an eye-witness story because she feared Black Hand revenge.

The defense said there was no evidence that Alessio was a "Black Hander."

Mothers, Children Flee as Homes Burn

JUNIATA, Pa., Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Two mothers and seven children fled here today as fire destroyed their homes.

Firemen had just returned from a blaze that forced Mrs. Carrie Krynak and her three children to flee in night attire when another fire started in the home of Mrs. Pearl Diffendorfer. The mother escaped with her four children.

Chamber Marks Founding of City

Pittsburgh's one hundred seventy-fourth birthday is being observed by the Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon today. The occasion also marks the concluding feature of the Washington bi-centennial celebration. The Chamber of Commerce chorus, dressed in Colonial costumes, was to sing. There were to be historical displays and talks.

BAN ON ROBINS' TALK RECALLED

Col. Raymond Robins, prohibition and reform crusader, who was found in the North Carolina mountains suffering from amnesia, was prevented from addressing City Council here 20 years ago, the records revealed today.

Following Robins' address at a luncheon here, November 7, 1912, he was taken to the Council session where a proposed ordinance governing the employment of labor on city projects was being discussed.

Robins was introduced by John Williams, representing labor unions. Councilman Robert Garland, then head of Council, opposed the move, saying that the ordinance involved Pittsburghers only, and that only Pittsburghers would be heard.

FOOTBALL 'FAN' DIES AT 88

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Nov. 25.—Vandergrift High School's joy in its celebration of a football victory over Apollo was lessened last night when it was announced that "Daddy" J. A. George, 88, for many years one of the school's greatest rooters, died yesterday at the home of his son, J. A. George, of Vandergrift. Funeral services were to be held at the home this afternoon.

He was born in Armstrong County and was a pioneer of Vandergrift. At the age of 18 he enlisted in Co. M, 14th Pennsylvania Cavalry, serving through the Civil War.

Several weeks ago he took part in the dedication of the new Vandergrift bridge over the Kiskiminetas River. Besides his son here he leaves another son, Frank George, of Buffalo, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Dunmire, of Vandergrift.

STOLEN AUTO, BABY RETURNED

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 25.—Paul Tanner, 2 years old, is back in the care of his parents after a night of slumber in the back seat of a stolen car.

The car belonged to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Tanner, of Irving, Tex. It was stolen last night when his mother left him alone in it while she went into the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Forbes, to visit a moment after driving to a hospital to see her 13-year-old sister, Elizabeth, who is recovering from a head injury suffered at school.

A frantic allnight search by police and peace officers, in which a description of the car was broadcast, ended three blocks from the Forbes home. Dudley Briscoe, a painter, found Paul, apparently just awakened.

Detectives expressed the opinion thieves had stolen the car to strip it of accessories, but abandoned their plans when they found the baby. Two men were arrested for questioning.

MT. LEBANON WIFE SUES

Mrs. Edna W. Heimert, 666 Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, has filed a libel in divorce in Common Pleas Court against George C. Heimert, charging cruelty and indignities. They were married February 14, 1917.

Other suits filed included those of Virginia S. Acheson against George R. Acheson; Irene L. Werner against Joseph J. Werner; Helen Salunce against Stephen Salunce and Catherine Baker against George Baker.

Salyille Hamet was granted a divorce from John A. Hamet.

Lady Richardson, Ex-Actress, Dies

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Lady Constance Stewart Richardson, famous sportswoman and former actress, was dead today at the age of 50.

She brought down a storm of criticism in New York in 1909 when she appeared on the stage there as a Greek classical dancer, sketchily clad.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

FOURTH HEARST DIVIDEND OF YEAR VOTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The fourth quarterly dividend payment for 1932, at the rate of 1¾ per cent or totaling $1.75 per share annually, has been voted by the board of directors of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., on the class "A" 7 per cent cumulative participating preferred shares.

The dividend will be distributed December 15 to shareholders of record December 1. This will be the tenth consecutive quarterly cash dividend disbursement since the original offering of these shares to the customers and employes of the Hearst organization. More than 35,000 investors are now enrolled upon the books of the corporation.

Dividend checks will be dispatched by Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., to every state in the Union and to 17 American possessions and foreign countries throughout the world.

The board of directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of 43¾ cents per share on the common stock, payable December 15 to stock of record December 1.

The 1932 dividend requirements, both on the preferred and common shares, are being adequately covered out of current earnings. Hearst Consolidated's 1932 showing has been highly satisfactory despite nation-wide business conditions.

Historical Society To Hear Lectures

Dr. Charles H. Ambler, professor of history in West Virginia University, and Dr. Leland D Baldwin, research assistant and librarian of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Society, will speak at the regular meeting of the society in Stevenson Hall, Historical Building, at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Fraternity Installs Officers Tuesday

New officers of the Gamma Sigma Lambda fraternity of the North Side will assume office Tuesday evening at 4020 North Minster street. They are: N. C. Kozell, president; S. Geoaii, vice president; L. Elm, secretary; Al. Faust, reporter; W. McNemeny, critic, and R. Byrnes, judge of elections.

San Francisco Call-Bulletin

Hearst 7% Shares

PRICE $25 A SHARE

The San Francisco Call-Bulletin, established 1856-1874, is rich with history and romance of the Golden West. This virile leader of the great San Francisco Bay area has the largest evening circulation in Northern California and reaches more than 124,615 subscribers daily. It is numbered among the twelve thriving properties owned by Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

You can share in the profits of this colossal enterprise by paying only $1 a share down and then $1 a share per month for the next 24 months. Every dollar made in payment toward the purchase of these $25 Hearst Class "A" 7% preferred shares will earn 7% interest from the day received.

You are just as welcome in making a purchase of a small number of shares as a larger amount. We will gladly furnish you with complete information regarding the Hearst 7% Thrift Installment Plan. Send the coupon for full details. Onward to prosperity with Hearst Consolidated!

FOOTBALL SHOW :-: Christmas Seal Programs

'Pop' Warner, Christy Walsh Star in Grid Broadcast From Pittsburgh

Big things are doing in the old town tonight—microphonically speaking . . . for Christy Walsh, "All-America Football Show" chief, and "Pop" Warner, football coach at Leland Stanford University, in Pittsburgh for the Pitt-Stanford game tomorrow, face WJAS microphones to speak over a coast-to-coast Columbia chain tonight at 9 o'clock during the Friday night 30-minute Walsh radio show.

As a highlight of the broadcast, "Pop" answers the queries submitted by the winners of the Sun-Telegraph-All America Board of Football-Pop Warner question contest, prizes for which are six all-America football blankets and 10 sets of two tickets each for tomorrows' game.

'Pop' Warner

During Walsh's interview with him, Warner is expected to divulge the fundamental ideas of his style of play—the "Warner system," which has exerted a strong influence on football methods throughout the country.

Other features of the broadcast are Harry von Zell's descriptions of exciting moments from big games of last week in "eye-witness" form, Walsh's latest list of weekly all-America ratings and college airs by Freddie Rich's band and Andre Kostelanetz's male chorus.

Warner, with Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach, also is listed to appear as guest speaker during the Campus Notes program on WWSW at 5:35 today. The program is directed by the editors of Pitt News, semi-weekly publication of the University of Pittsburgh.

Program Pointers

Three programs, sponsored by the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh in behalf of the annual Christmas seal sale campaign, are listed on KDKA, WJAS and WWSW tonight following the official opening of the national drive by President Hoover over NBC-KDKA today at 3:30 p. m. John F. Casey, president of the Pittsburgh League, is the principal speaker during a 30-minute presentation from KDKA at 6:15, featuring a mixed chorus of 12 voices from the Pittsburgh Musical Institute. Members of the chorus are Edna Saley, Florence Godwin, Helen Young, Ella Scott, Jean Hollis, Eleanor Ruhl, Hannah Walcroft, Robert Topping, Samuel Lydic, Robert Owrey, Isadore Verbofsky and Arthur Herbert. Edgar J. Kaufmann speaks for the drive over WJAS at 5 and Francis Keating over WWSW at 8:20.

Miss Staley

Leo Reisman and his two songbirds, Greta Keller and Lee Wiley, show how thoroughly the varying moods and aspects of love can be interpreted through radio when they present a "Lessons in Love" program over WCAE at 9:30 tonight.

Utilizing their novel harmonies and trick rhythms, the Three X Sisters sing "Betty Boop" and "When the Midnight Choo-Choo Leaves" on WJAS at 7:30.

Mrs. John W. Lawrence speaks under the auspices of the Welfare Fund from the studios of KDKA at 4:45 today.

The Street Singer's versions of "Song of the Volga Boatmen," "I'll Get By" and "Little Street Where Old Friends Meet" are WJAS highlights at 10.

'First Nighters' in Jungle Drama

"West of Manaos," a three-act drama of love in the jungle, with June Meredith, Don Ameche and Clifford Soubier in the leading roles, is the First Nighter presentation on KDKA at 9 tonight.

Long's Sports Review WCAE Feature

James J. Long, sports columnist of the Sun-Telegraph, discusses news and personalities in the world of sports when he gives his weekly talk from the studios of WCAE tonight at 7 o'clock.

A special program for the children is presented under the direction of Jane A. White, assistant curator of education at Carnegie Museum, on WCAE today at 4:45.

Twin broadcasts over WCAE and WJAS today by Louis L. Kaufman, Globe-Trotter of the Sun-Telegraph and Hearst Metrotone News, are listed today at 9:05 a. m., 12:15 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. He also is heard over WCAE at 2:15 p. m.

Tomorrow, the Globe-Trotter broadcasts over WCAE and WJAS at 9:05 a. m. and 12:15 p. m., and over WCAE at 6:30 p. m.

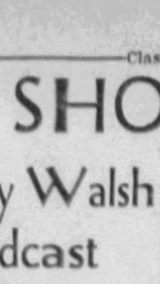
Jack Dempsey's Joke Nearly 'Burns Up' Paul Whiteman

Dame Rumor, continuing to make the rounds, says that Anson Weeks is being groomed for a commercial . . . Barbara Maurel, Helen Board and Evan Evans have been added to the Bath Club revue cast. They, with Charles Carlisle, tenor soloist, make up a mixed quartet . . . Hall Johnson, leader of the Hall Johnson singers, has unusual hands . . . They're long, lean, sensitive, restless, nervous and almost speak . . . Jack Dempsey's wicked left hook is nothing as compared with his latest method of attack, according to Paul Whiteman. The other night the maestro was entertaining his organization in a New York restaurant and was in the midst of a story when suddenly he leaped up and grabbed his ankle. Investigation revealed Dempsey under the table holding a lighted match to Paul's sock . . .



Miss Board

Ring Lardner is leading a crusade to keep the air clean . . . Recently turned radio critic, Ring conducts his activities from his bed in the Doctors' Hospital, New York . . . and what changes are being made in popular lyrics considered too risque as a result of his attacks!

It was a horse on Fanny May Baldridge when she went to her favorite stable the other day and picked out a strange horse for a turn about the park. Leaving the stable, she called to the attendant:

"It's very bad manners in Kentucky not to be formally introduced to your steed. What's her name?"

The artist almost did a Prince of Wales when he replied:

"Oh, she's got a real name, ma'am. It's Fanny May."

Isham Jones is visiting his family in Saginaw, Mich . . . Les Qailey, Ted Husing's football observer, and Fred Allen have been friends for years . . . Angelo Patri's broadcasting his "Your Child" talks from his home in New York City before a specially installed microphone in his living room. He was ordered a week ago by his doctor to rest and spend most of his time in bed.

Jack Smart, "March of Time" actor, has shaved off that famous mustache . . . because he was to take the part of a satyr in a ballet dance at the Lambs Gambol and didn't think the adornment would look right.

Notre Dame-Army Game Broadcast

Two broadcasts over extensive NBC and CBS facilities bring play-by-play and descriptive accounts of the Army-Notre Dame grid conflict to WCAE and WJAS listeners tomorrow. The CBS-WJAS broadcast is scheduled to begin at 12:45 p. m., NBC-WCAE at 1:30.

Miss Dragonette With Cavaliers

Another headlining program of classical and popular music by Jessica Dragonette, the Cavaliers quartet, Frank Banta and Milton Rettenberg, piano duo, and Rosario Bourdon's orchestra is listed on WCAE at 8 tonight.

Wilson and Howard Boys Frolic

Fifteen swiftly moving minutes of radio variety starring Willie and Eugene Howard and Ward Wilson with Billy Artzt's orchestra is listed on KDKA at 7:15 tonight.

Children's Cooking School on Air

George Rectors holds a cooking school for children, showing them how to cook "a la Rector" dishes during the "Our Daily Food" program on KDKA at 10:30 tomorrow morning.

'12 CLUB' EATS DINNER WITH FATHER COX

Twelve hungry men were guests of Father Cox yesterday for a Thanksgiving Day feast. Father Cox would have been the thirteenth at the table, but to obviate the superstition among the down and out who had been selected by lot from the breadline, from "Shantytown" and from "Coxtown," an uncle of Father Cox was added to the party. This was George Mason, an Oklahoma farmer, who is temporarily here assisting the "father of the jobless" in his welfare activity. Known for the day as the "12 club," these jobless men packed away a splendid turkey dinner.

A glance at the activities at Old St. Patrick's Wednesday will better visualize the remarkable work Father Cox is doing among the poor. His assistants distributed approximately 5,000 Thanksgiving baskets. Unfortunately, there were not many turkeys in the baskets but they all had either chicken or fresh meat in a sufficient amount to feed a good sized family. And in some of the baskets there were real luxuries.

Notwithstanding all of the other agencies that provided dinners for the needy yesterday, the breadline at Old St. Patrick's was about as long as usual.

The Sun-Telegraph drive to help Father Cox in his work is meeting with gratifying results. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or through the cards he and his coworkers are distributing, brings to his fund an amount great enough to feed three families for one day.

SNAKE KILLED BY KINDNESS

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 25.—(INS.)—Kindness killed a rattlesnake here.

A State street resident complained that the four-foot reptile, with 11 rattlers, was being treated in an unkind manner by being displayed in the heatless window of a store.

J. W. Pearson, local agent of the Massachusetts Society for the Protection of Cruelty to Animals, investigated. He was told the snake had been displayed in New York City before coming here.

Pearson took the snake to the Bliss Street Animal Hospital preparatory to turning it over to a zoological garden.

But the snake got out of a cage during the night and created a furore among the cat and dog patients. So Pearson had to put it into permament slumberland.

Poles Here to Mark Founding of Army

Loses 14 Pounds of Fat in 11 Days
On a Full Stomach
With New, Safe, Easy, Pleasant Battle Creek Reducing Treatment

Miss Hilda G. Lantzer

"I have taken 3 bottles of BonKora and I feel like a new person. It took me only 11 days to reduce 14 pounds. I have lost about 8 more pounds since (22 lbs. in all) and I haven't been taking it regularly. I wear dresses 4 sizes smaller. It also ended my stomach trouble, constipation, headaches and tired feeling."—Hilda G. Lantzer, 156 26th St., S.E., Massillon, Ohio.

Lose Fat Quick, at Home—or Pay Nothing

Many say that other methods had failed. But BonKora, the new Battle Creek Reducing Treatment, is different. It took off their fat; a pound a day for some. Others lost 15 to 41 pounds in 3 weeks. Very stout ones lost even more.

It reduces fat new "3-stage" way. Triple action; triple speed. Take a little BonKora daily to help body function properly; to remove heavy wastes, and moisture from fatty tissues. EAT BIG MEALS of foods you like, as explained in BonKora package. Don't get too thin. Reduce to normal, healthy weight. Then stop reducing and hold your new slender figure.

There are no dangerous drugs in BonKora. In fact, the treatment builds health while reducing fat the quickest way. You feel and look younger.

Don't be fat any longer. Get a bottle of BonKora from druggist today. If not delighted with quick loss of fat, manufacturer refunds money you paid for this bottle. You don't risk a penny.

BonKora SPECIAL THIS WEEK at May's, Liggett's, Mayflower, Dow's and all drug and department stores. Your own druggist has it. If he is out of BonKora, insist that he secure it for you from his wholesaler today. No matter where you live, your druggist can get BonKora, the Battle Creek Reducing Treatment.

WELFARE DRIVE $600,000 SHY OF GOAL

Campaign Extended In Effort to Get Needed Funds

The Welfare Fund drive for $2,500,000 for 1933 budget use continued today with about $600,000 in pledges needed to reach the quota. The campaign, originally set to end last Wednesday, was extended for an additional week when subscriptions failed to reach the mark.

Wednesday's report of $22,179 brought the total pledges to 30,303 for a total of $1,900,194. Addressing a luncheon report meeting, W. P. Witherow said:

"The efforts to be made tomorrow and on through to this day next week will have to be extraordinary.

"On you as workers are the eyes of more than 200,000 unemployed and distressed people who know that the Welfare Fund is their one big hope for assistance. Think of these men, women and children with their hungry pleading eyes urging you on to the hard-fought finish.

"We cannot quit, we must go on. The grim circumstances give us no choice but to drive forward."

Many of the campaign organization's teams are reported to have exceeded their quotas. Among them are East Pittsburgh and Oakdale, each of which have exceeded their quotas by 100 per cent; Turtle Creek is reported to have raised 150 per cent of its allotted share; Hampton and Pine townships have attained their goals.

$300 OBTAINED IN ROBBERY OF OFFICE SAFE

Strong-Arm Suspect Shot in Chase by Sub-Patrolman

An armed thug, described by police as an amateur because he fled without loot from a Hill district store and a restaurant in Penn avenue, last night, was being sought today.

After commanding George Shapiro, proprietor of a store at 1607 Webster avenue, to hold up his hands, the young gunman walked to the cash register, but when he observed pedestrians passing by the store, he became frightened and fled without any cash. He joined his two accomplices who awaited him in an automobile.

FLEES SECOND PLACE

A half-hour later the same thug, police said, held up Gus Sperdakos, manager of the Morning Star restaurant at 1813 Penn avenue. He became frightened when he saw a chef in the kitchen and fled.

The combination of a safe in the office of the Best Foods, Inc., at 3421 Smallman street was rifled by yeggs, who obtained $300 in cash and a watch valued at $50. A rear window was jimmied to effect entrance.

HOME RANSACKED

The home of Mrs. Joseph Caldwell, at 347 South Linden avenue, was ransacked by burglars who entered by cutting the glass in the front door. A checkup was being made to determine what had been stolen.

Fleeing after he is alleged to have held up James White, 412 Sheraden avenue, whom he choked, Frank Perry, 32, Negro, 417 Larimer avenue, was shot by Albert Shaffer, a city sub-patrolman, according to police. Shaffer was off duty at the time. The bandit suspect was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital.

SALE OF SEALS OPENS HERE

The annual sale of Christmas seals to combat tuberculosis opened today with disposal of 25,000,000 in Allegheny County, the goal of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh.

In opening the drive, John F. Casey, chairman of the league's seal committee, said the work of tuberculosis prevention and care of victims could not be curtailed without serious effect to the community. It was pointed out many regular contributors to the league in past years are unable to give, and proceeds of the seal sale must be relied upon for continuance of its work.

Appeals are to be made through agencies including the radio, churches and community organizations. Churches will aid the drive Sunday when the work of the league will be dwelt upon by pastors. An aviation meet to raise funds will be held at Rodgers Field, Aspinwall, Sunday. The show is scheduled to start at 1:30 p. m., with 20 Western Pennsylvania pilots participating.

SLANG CALLED 'SLOVENLY'

Don't be lazy, be grammatical.

This advice was offered to one and all today by George Carver, professor of English at Pitt, but especially to those who use slang promiscuously.

The good professor has no quarrel with slang; he agrees that it's all right in its place. But he sees no reason to use slang when the use doesn't improve on the correct expression.

And those who say, "It is me," then insist that popular usage makes such an expression correct, are wrongly, Prof. Carver contends.

After all, the professor philosophizes (and this seems an excellent argument for Will Rogers) the form of expression isn't nearly so important as the thought expressed.

3 IN AUTO STAB PEDESTRIAN

Attacked by three men who leaped upon him as he was walking home from a dance, Raymond Doran, 29, of 90 South Twenty-fifth street, was in the South Side Hospital today suffering from two stab wounds.

Doran told police he did not know his assailants, who jumped from an automobile yesterday morning at Carson and South Twenty-fifth streets. A motorist found him on the sidewalk and took him to a hospital.

VICTIM OF FALL DIES; 2 HELD

Believed a victim of a fall down the steps of a house, Richard Lang, of 2322 Spring Garden avenue, died yesterday in Allegheny General Hospital.

He was found unconscious on the floor of the kitchen at 1575 Spring Garden avenue when police arrived in response to a call. At the hospital it was believed his skull was fractured.

Police arrested Freda Cassey, 1575 Spring Garden avenue; James Burda, 2146 Lindel street, and Walter Scholtz, 1532 Spring Garden avenue. They said Lang fell down the steps. All were held for hearings. The police said they confiscated a quantity of moonshine liquor and a slot machine in the place.

Collector's Youthful Helper Fatally Wounded by Huge Cassowary

CHAPTER XXXVII.

The inhabitants of Asia have a variety of strange and fascinating ways of supporting life. I have had some unforgetable close-ups of the natives living interestingly off different varieties of animals, reptiles and birds. And in taking in these pictures I have had some experiences that I will always consider high spots of my career as a collector.

One of the oddest Asiatic aids to this business of making both ends meet is the cassowary, a great ostrich-like bird that plays a big part in keeping alive the savages of the Papuan Islands. Its meat is used for food as are also the enormous eggs, each of which is equal in food value to about four dozen ordinary chicken eggs.

The bird's plumes are made into head, ankle and knee-gear—which is a good part of any Papuan Islander's wardrobe; and its skin, after all traces of feathers have been scraped off, makes an excellent leather which the natives use to cover the wooden shields they carry in combat. The long and powerful claw on the bird's middle toe—a sinister weapon whose cruel razor-sharpness makes it as dangerous as a tiger claw—is used as a spear-head capable of slaying man or beast.

SEEKS CASSOWARIES

Some years ago I was in Ambonia, the port of Ceram, an island bordering on the Papuan district. I had come up from the New Guinea coast where I had been collecting birds of paradise. This job finished, I was on the lookout for cassowaries.

I had some of the single-wattled variety and some Bennett's (which have no wattles), but I had no specimens of the double-wattled type. I looked up a half-caste Malay-Papuan boy-of-all-jobs who confirmed my belief that this was the place to find the variety I was after.

BRIDGE RITES THURSDAY

Speeches by Mayor Charles H. Kline, County Commissioners Charles C. McGovern, William D. Mansfield and C. M. Barr, Council President John S. Herron, and other officials will mark the formal opening of the new North Side-West End bridge next Thursday afternoon.

A parade of trucks and floats, representing more than 300 business houses and civic bodies, will proceed through North Side streets to the south end of the new span, where the dedication exercises will take place. The parade will then continue through the West End, Sheraden, Crafton, Carnegie, Mt. Lebanon, Dormont, and to the Liberty tubes.

J. G. Shaw is general chairman of the bridge celebration committee.

SALE OF GLASS PLANT ASKED

John R. Eckler and George R. McNary, receivers for the Standard Plate Glass Company, filed a petition in Common Pleas Court requesting leave to sell the property in Butler County to C. E. Frazier for $325,000.

Judge James H. Gray signed an order postponing the sale until December 12 and unless otherwise directed, the bid of Frazier will be accepted at that time. The creditors' committee caused a bid of $200,000 to be made at the sale authorized for October 29 last. The Frazier offer was made later.

Thanks, But No Payments From Precincts Afar

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

How they observed Thanksgiving in many lands:

Berlin—Hitler is busy dotting the Hindenburg line.

France—We eat turkey and pay off in feathers.

London—Americans are rather silly. They give thanks but won't take them.

Washington—One more Republican bird finished his term of office.

Argentine—We're very grateful. We dined on the American polo team Wednesday and are saving them for dessert Saturday.

Austria—If America has anything left to be thankful for it ain't our fault. We tried to borrow it.

India—Couldn't stop Gandhi from walking around like he was having dinner in bed.

Edward Satkiewicz, 8, of Russellton, was recovering in the Allegheny Valley Hospital today from a bullet wound in his side, accidentally inflicted by his father, George Satkiewicz, while they were hunting in the woods near their home yesterday. The father was carrying the gun.

HEARING IN FAKE SLEUTH CASE

Joe Catarack, alias Joseph H. Kanarek, alias Joseph H. Kane, 36, arrested Wednesday on a federal warrant charging impersonation of an officer of the United States Bureau of Investigation, was released under $1,500 bond, pending a hearing tomorrow before the United States Commissioner.

Catarack, according to government officers, was sentenced in 1924 to the Atlanta Penitentiary for fraudulently representing himself to be an internal revenue agent.

Seek Man Accused As Death Car Driver

County detectives today continued search for Louis J. Stasikonis, whom a coroner's jury recommended held on a manslaughter charge in the death, November 6, of Betty Schrecengost, 7, of 350 Island avenue, McKees Rocks. The child was struck by a hit-run driver identified as Stasikonis by witnesses who testified at the inquest Wednesday.

Pastor Discovers Church Ransacked

When the Rev. William R. Wigton, pastor of the Laketon Heights Methodist Episcopal Church, Penn Township, entered the church yesterday to prepare for Thanksgiving Day services, he found it ransacked, he reported to county detectives today. He said he believed the intruders were seeking $270 raised the night before to pay interest on the mortgage.

Bootblack-Pastor To Take Pulpit In South

The Rev. William Tibbs, Negro minister, who has preached to a flock of 200 by funds earned by shining shoes at the City-County Building, will start for Laurel, Miss., tomorrow, where he will occupy the pulpit of Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

A year ago city detectives went to Laurel to bring back four Negro murder suspects and while there met a deacon of the Mt. Zion Church. The deacon complained of the congregation's difficulties in finding a pastor. The detectives told him about Hibbs. So the bootblack-minister heads South tomorrow.

POLICE HOLD 3 IN MAN'S FALL

Three men were being held by East End police today while events preceding injuries suffered by Louis Mosilo, 29, roomer at 926 Wheeler street, in a fall downstairs at this address, were being investigated.

The police are holding Matthew Morri, 29, proprietor of the rooming house; John Perrelli, 27, of 8234 Brycelyn street, and Carman Neignela, 42, of 8334 Frankstown avenue.

Mosilo is in Pittsburgh Hospital suffering from a fractured skull.

TWO PRISONERS DIE IN CELLS

Morgue attaches today were endeavoring to establish identity of a man who died yesterday in a cell at Edgewood Police Station after his arrest on a charge of drunkenness. An autopsy disclosed acute alcoholism as the cause, deputy coroners said.

Robert Harkness, 41, of Coraopolis, died early yesterday in the county jail, where he was serving a 10-day sentence on a disorderly conduct charge, according to the Coroner's report. Harkness was sentenced Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Lawrence Gibbs, of Sewickley.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Nov. 25, To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Say, lot of you "birds" sure take the hide off me when I am wrong (and that's plenty constant), but give me credit when I do guess right. You skinned me alive when I said nothing would come of the Hoover-Roosevelt meeting.

Will Rogers

I said Mr. Roosevelt would say, "It's your onion, and you peel it till March 4." How different did it happen from that?

And as for the meeting, maybe there is a doubt in both men's minds if it wouldn't have been better if it hadn't been held. I don't see how folks figured they could agree. They hold two opposite views on the question. That's why they belong to different parties.

Either one of 'em might be right. We know they are both sincere in their beliefs, but how was one man going to tell another man how to run his business, until he, the No. 2 man, come in and starts running it? Politics don't have to enter that, that's just human nature. So don't shoot me, boys, till the returns are all in on these affairs.

Yours, WILL.

Mother Saves 3 Babies In Crafton Heights Fire

Three children, one of whom was ill, were carried to safety by their mother when fire swept through their two-story frame home at 114 Roundtop street, Crafton Heights, late yesterday.

Mrs. Gertrude Barton, a widow, was in the dining room when a daughter, Margaret, 4, discovered the blaze in the kitchen. She ran to her mother and Mrs. Barton carried her, Gertrude, 2, and James, 1, who was sick, to the street.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, swept through the interior of the dwelling before it was extinguished by firemen. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Women Eager to Play Golf All Winter

The Ladies' Totem Golf Club, of South Park, has asked the County Commissioners to permit the members to play golf all this winter on the county course.

In their letter asking for permission to use the links, they say:

"We have come to the definite conclusion that we want to play golf during the entire winter on days when weather will permit. We feel that both our golf playing and our health will be improved as a result of our playing every day."

The letter, signed by Marie W. Falke, president, and nine members of the club, was referred to Senator William D. Mansfield, the only golf-playing Commissioner, and Director of Parks Alexander Marion.

NEEDY OF CITY FEAST ON FREE THANKSGIVING DINNERS

'ARMY' TURKEYS FILL THRONGS OF CHILDREN

More than 35,000 baskets of food were distributed and thousands of men, women and children were given sumptuous Thanksgiving dinners in Allegheny County yesterday. The largest celebration was at the Salvation Army headquarters, Boulevard of the Allies, where thousands of children and adults were served turkey dinners by a staff of workers under direction of Col. C. B. Campbell.

YOUNGSTERS AT FEAST

Commissioner John McMillan, of New York, commander of the Eastern territory, was the principal speaker.

The rush of boys and girls to the Army headquarters was so great that two floors were required for dining rooms and the big rooms were packed for hours with youngsters who enjoyed the huge repast.

William E. Benswanger, president of the Pirates, and the sponsor of Children's Day at Forbes Field, was cheered by the youngsters when he appeared and gave them special invitation to be present at Forbes Field next summer.

Others taking part were Steve Swetonic, star pitcher of the Pirates, and George Susce, of the Detroit Tigers. Cy Hungerford, cartoonist of the Post-Gazette, and Charles J. Doyle, of the sports department of the Sun-Telegraph.

HELPING HAND DINNER

Two thousand men were served a dinner at the Helping Hand. The Volunteers of America served dinner to 150 small children in its day nursery, and distributed 400 baskets of food to needy families. In the Collier Street Mission, 1303 Collier street, several hundred persons were provided a meal, and about 300 at the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor. About 500 men were guests of the Parting of the Ways Home, 216 East Stockton avenue. Inmates of the county jail were served an extra dinner, with Tom Henry, "the most arrested man in the world," walking from his cell to the feast. Tom estimated that in his 46 years of being arrested he has been in the county jail close to 1,000 times.

In all hospitals and in many churches special menus were served.

CHILDREN LIKE DENTAL CLINIC

Dentists hold no terrors for the 80 young people of the Jewish Home for Babies and Children, 2508 Breckenridge street.

Within a few weeks a dental clinic will be dedicated at the home. Both children and doctors have been rehearsing for the past four months and, according to observers, the children like drills.

The clinic will be a memorial to Mrs. Elizabeth Nusbaum. Six dentists will give their services from time to time and each child of the institution will be given an examination every few months.

Saves His Own Life, Amputating Arm

LA SALLE, Ill., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Archie Smith has grit. With an ordinary pocket knife, he saved his life by cutting off his left arm at the elbow after it had been mangled in a mechanical corn picker.

Then he walked a mile for aid.

FARMER TAKEN IN LONG SIEGE

NEWPORT, Ky., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—A battling farmer of Ross, whose shotgun held at bay a half-dozen peace officers who sought to arrest him, probably will be given a sanity hearing, county authorities said today.

Meanwhile, Fred Menzimeier, the 72-year-old farmer who defied for six hours Wednesday the tear gas that filled his many-roomed stone house atop a hill, and machine gun bullets that peppered against its walls, faced only the original charge of shooting to kill a neighbor which caused the siege.

Menzimeier was captured when a neighbor, John Leopold, induced him to leave his house on the pretext of wishing to buy some corn. Previously he had wounded one officer with birdshot, broken the rib of another in a tussle, and caused a neighbor to fall and dislocate his shoulder when he fled to escape the farmer's bullets.

U. S. RELEASES RUSS POSTERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The American Civil Liberties Union had announced today that the Customs Bureau of the Treasury Department has released all but three of a collection of Russian posters shipped to Thomas W. Lamont, the financier, by his son, Corliss Lamont, on September 15.

The posters were issued by the Soviet government as reproductions of art classics in the Hermitage Museum and were purchased by the younger Lamont on a recent visit to that country.

The Union, which protested the holding of the collection, said customs officials intercepted the lot because they "might be seditious," and had held them pending the translation of printed legends which they bore.

The three posters not released were held on the grounds they violate the counterfeiting laws in that they portray American money, it was said.

SUPPLIES USED IN TESTS GONE

With the inventory of the former County Bureau of Tests completed, Leo A. Riordan, chief investigator of the Bureau of Investigations and Claims, has reported to the County Commissioners that $7,856.10 worth of equipment is missing.

The vanished equipment was removed during the last eight years, according to Riordan's report. It includes a flow table, asphalt sieves, cylinder molds, weights, a stone crusher, and miscellaneous scientific equipment.

The Commissioners, by resolution, recently ordered return to the county of approximately $2,000 worth of equipment loaned to the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratories for use in testing county materials. Under the new administration the Bureau of Tests was abolished and the work given to the private concern under contract.

LINKED IN MANY THEFTS, 2 HELD

Fred Prince, 30, known to police as the "pock-marked bandit," and his alleged pal, Elmer Ginter, alias Steele, 28, were held for court without bail today on charges involving numerous drug store hold-ups said to have netted $2,200.

Marie De Franko, 25, of Toledo, O., who had posed as Prince's wife, police said, admitted to Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court she was not married to him. She was fined $50 with the alternative of 30 days in the workhouse.

Prince and Ginter roomed at 688 Florida avenue, Mt. Lebanon. Police say Prince has a long prison record. He was identified by 15 drug store clerks and other robbery victims, they declared. Ginter was identified, police said, by several as Prince's accomplice.

Rich Passenger Leaps From Liner

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—John W. Levingston, 67, wealthy retired businessman of Dublin, Ireland, leaped overboard and disappeared from the Matson Liner Malolo on its voyage from Honolulu, Capt. G. B. Wait reported on the vessel's arrival here.

The ship was turned about and lifeboats combed the vicinity, but no trace of the passenger was found, the captain said.

Auto Driver Dozes, Suffers Broken Leg

Valentine Zagorski, 27, of 1024 Bingham street, was in South Side Hospital today suffering from a fractured leg because, police said, he fell asleep while driving his automobile in Madeline street, crashing into a pole.

Pinchot Demands State Use More Post Cards

HARRISBURG, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Greater use of post cards for official state correspondence instead of letters, and shorter letters today was urged on state officials by Gov. Pinchot.

Referring to his recent order that post cards be used wherever possible, the Governor said this order had made "a decided saving," adding:

"But it has not gone far enough.

"Another matter where a real saving can be made is in the length of letters.

"At least 99 times out of 100 here is no reason whatever why a letter should extend to a second page, and very seldom that it need be longer than a dozen lines."

AUTOIST KILLED, SCORE HURT IN CRASHES

One man was dead and a score of others today were nursing injuries suffered in holiday motoring accidents in the Pittsburgh district. Autoists were periled by the dense fog that settled over the district last night and this morning.

James Gibbs, 26, of Edgeworth, was killed when his automobile collided head-on with a car driven by William Hallam, of 89 Main street, Fair Oaks, in Beaver road, Leetsdale, last night, according to Leetsdale police.

Hallam and his two passengers, Paul Meyers, and his son, Paul, Jr., of 315 Challis lane, Edgeworth, were injured slightly, Patrolman Roy C. Wilson reported.

SLEUTH'S SON HURT

Allen Silverton, 23, of 2603 Brownsville road; William Harkins, 23, of 135 Marena street, son of City Detective Lieut. Edward Harkins; Gloria Sherk, 23, of 114 Maytide street, and Mercedes Killmeyer, 23, of 1121 Chartiers avenue, were injured when the brakes failed while descending Chartiers avenue, near Steuben street, Silverton, the driver, told police he saw another automobile approaching, and swerved his car into a street repair area to avoid a collision. The victims were taken to South Side Hospital.

John P. Kelly, 53, of 99 South Grandview avenue, Crafton, and his companion, Leonard Belmont, 26, of 102 Brodhead street, Crafton, were injured seriously when a machine driven by Kelly collided with another car operated by S. A. Kneiss, 22, of R. D. 2, Coraopolis, in Windgap road, near Berry street, Ingram. Two passengers in his car, Betty Nichols, 26, of 4 Crawford street, West Park, and Ruth Richley, 17, of Windgap road, were cut and bruised. They were taken to Haddon Hospital.

OTHERS INJURED

Others reported injured were Mrs. Helen Lother, of 464 Ariston avenue; Bobby Lother, 2, and Jack Lother, 6, of the same address; A. G. Butscher, 35, of 1612 Leolyn street; Jack Draper, of 1700 Brownsville road; Frank Hupe, of Library road; Paul Slater, 27, of 5 St. Thomas street; James Cryster, 37, of 3327 Carson street; Paul Weis, 40, of 2821 Frontenac street; Stanley Kajawa, 28, of 4315 Dakota street; John Wise, 70, of Penn avenue; George Less, 13, of Russelton, and William Miller, of Pittock.

Anna McHugh, 21, of 123 Peebles street, Wilkinsburg, had several teeth knocked out and suffered lacerations of the head when her automobile collided with another driven by John Clair, of Wilkinsburg, on Babcock boulevard.

Robert McKinley, 68, of 212 Matilda street, was injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by Ernest Schuster, of 621 Pennsylvania avenue, Oakmont.

Prison 'Broke'; 2 Fugitives Go Free

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Two Florida men gave thanks yesterday—for the depression. E. W. Huggins and O. L. Whitley were arrested as automobile thieves escaped from the Florida Penitentiary. Florida officers, notified, replied:

"No transportation funds available."

The men, turned loose, caught a fast freight northbound.

THE PROCESS OF 'OPENING WIDE' IN THE NEW DENTAL CLINIC AT JEWISH HOME FOR BABIES

FAMOUS CROOK JAILED AT 72 AS 'SNATCHER'

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Trail's end seemed near today for Eddie Guerin, international criminal who trod a crooked path that led from spectacular misdeeds down to petty pilfering.

Old and broken in body, the man who once amazed the world by escaping from Devil's Island was sentenced yesterday, cablegrams said, to a year in a London jail for snatching a handbag containing $15.

CHICAGO MAY'S FRIEND

Guerin is 72, his health is gone. Caught now as a common thief, he was once the talk of two continents. A wily crook of the nineties, before racketdoom was born, he learned his "business" in Chicago, becoming an expert cracksman.

Infatuation for a woman called "Chicago May" Churchill, a pal whose name was written as large on detectives' memories as his own, led Guerin to his first large batch of grief. He followed her to New York and then to Europe, where French police arrested him in 1901. A French court sent him to Devil's Island, the penal colony in French Guiana, for taking $30,000 from the American Express Company in Paris.

Four years he served in that sizzling place of horrors before accomplishing the rare feat that made his name a legend. He escaped to the mainland in a canoe, and fled to London.

FIGHT FOR WOMAN

There he met, not only Chicago May, but Charles Smith, an American. The two men fought over the woman and Guerin was wounded, for which Smith was sent to prison.

France demanded Guerin then, but he claimed British citizenship successfully and laughed with impunity at French law. In the years that followed he was in the limelight often. Once they even suspected him of taking Mona Lisa out of the Louvre, but that proved baseless.

Now he is in jail again, a tearful old man, who begged the judge in vain to let him off because he never "had a chance" and because his wife and four children were ill.

OLDS, KELLOGG AIDE, DIES

PARIS, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Col. Robert E. Olds, 57, assistant secretary of state during the Coolidge administration in America, died of apoplexy yesterday. He was stricken ill in the street shortly after leaving his home for his office.

Coy. Olds, born in Duluth, in 1918 was sent to France as counsellor to the American Red Cross commission.

The next year he became European commissioner in charge of Red Cross work, and in 1925 Frank B. Kellogg took him back to the United States as assistant secretary of state. Last year he was appointed to the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague, where his former chief in the State Department also serves. During 1929 he was a member of the Reparations Commission.

Fireman Injured On False Alarm Run

Ladderman Charles O'Leary, 56, of 228 Thirty-eighth street, attached to No. 25 Engine Company, was in Mercy Hospital today with sprains suffered when he was caught between two ladders on a fire truck as it turned from Penn avenue into Twenty-seventh street last night.

The firemen were responding to a false alarm sounded from a box at Twenty-seventh and Smallman streets.

NAB SUSPECTS IN AUTO CHASE

Three Negroes, arrested after a six-block automobile chase through South Side streets last night, were being held by police today as suspects in a series of robberies.

After chasing the automobile more than six blocks, two patrolmen in a scout car captured the trio and found two revolvers and several dozen cartridges in the car, they reported.

The men were docketed as Hampton Vaughn, 21, of 3 Whitney terrace, driver of the automobile; his brother, Junior Vaughn, 32, and their brother-in-law, Henry Oakes, 38, of Smithdale, Pa. They were charged with being suspicious persons.

Col. James D. Taylor Dead at Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Col. James D. Taylor, whose sleuthing resulted in capture of Aguinaldo, Filipino insurgent chieftain, died yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital after a lingering illness. He was 55.

Col. Taylor returned a few months ago from China where he commanded the 15th Infantry at Tientsin. In the World War he commanded the 355th Infantry in France and was awarded the French Croix de Guerre.

EXPECT BUDGET DRAFT MONDAY

City budget estimates for 1933 are to be made public in Council chamber next Monday, according to city officials.

That the budget will come to Council from the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline with the payroll virtually untouched and with little change from last year's general figures, is the report from reliable sources.

Just what measures will be taken to care for the increasing city deficit which, it is estimated, will be $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 by the end of this year, is also a matter of conjecture.

It has been suggested the best way to handle the deficit temporarily would be to fund it with an issue of bonds, but it is believed this would be strongly opposed in Council.

Salaries and wages estimated in the city budget for 1932 totaled $12,656,148. After Council got through cutting last year, the amount was pared down to $10,968,492.

The budget must be studied and the millage passed, according to the strict letter of the law, before next Thursday. The formality of getting the rate set before December 1 has not been strictly observed by Council in previous years.

Pittsburgher's Auto Kills Pedestrian

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—James Goddard, 40, was killed last night by an automobile driven by William Miller, of Lincoln place, Pittsburgh. Police said Goddard emerged from behind a telephone pole to cross the street and was not seen by the driver.

Miller was detained in formal proceedings pending an inquest.

Girl, Two Children Bitten by Dogs

Two children and a young woman were bitten by dogs yesterday, police reported. The victims were Harriet Chapple, 9, of 2610 Quarry street; William Devine, 11, of 55 Welsh way, and Garnet Clark, 23, of 2652 Library road.

How Coughs and Colds Yield to Creosote

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Dance Tonight

Tonight's the night of the Cinderella ball at the University Club, may I remind you?

Everyone will be there, from the debs and post-debs who'll dance in a special program, to the members of the board, husbands of members, and young bachelors, their friends, to white-haired grandmothers.

Many who will not join in much of the dancing will be in boxes to see their daughters and granddaughters appearing in the special dance numbers.

This morning the young dancers held their dress rehearsal, and will try to catch a bit of rest and maybe a wink of sleep this afternoon, to be fresh for their appearance tonight.

Swissvale Bride Wears Her Mother's Wedding Gown at Nuptials

Another bride of yesterday was Miss Gertrude Ann Bietenduefel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bietenduefel, of Penn avenue, Swissvale, who married E. Herbert Wasmuth, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wasmuth, of Whipple street, Swissvale, at 4:30 o'clock in the Trinity Lutheran Church, Swissvale, with the Rev. H. Woidke as officiant.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white silk and lace, high waisted, with a very full skirt having the train draped from the sides and back. Her veil of tulle cascaded from a band of pearls and orange blossoms, and she carried a white prayer book from which showered a marker of lilies of the valley. Miss Margaret Anne Backoefer, as maid of honor, wore copper colored velvet with a matching velvet turban, and Miss Bernice Louise Walker, as bridesmaid, wore golden brown velvet with turban to match. Both carried arm bouquets of bronze colored pompons.

Mr. and Mrs. Wasmuth have sailed for Havana, and after December 15 will be at home in Penn avenue.

Gossipy Chat

By NANCY JANE

A friend of young Charles McKnight's parents, the Robert McKnights, of Sewickley, had a most unusual evening lately when she dropped in at the McKnight home.

"Aunt Sue," cried the excited little boy, who has just begun his school career, "I'm going to surprise you. You've read to me lots of times, and now I'm going to read to you."

So he pulled up a chair for her and one for himself, adjusted a lamp carefully, and then read proudly a story beginning—

"I've got a dog. The dog's name is Terry. He goes bow-wow. I have a cat. The cat's name is Jerry. He goes meow," etc., on into the night.

Mrs. A. H. Bowman told her daughter, when she was still a little girl, that a friend had become a grandmother because the friend's daughter had just had a baby.

"Never you mind, mother," consoled the little girl, "you'll be lots of grandmothers some day."

LEATHER USED IN NOVEL WAYS IS WINTER FASHION SURPRISE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Leather, as an important Paris fashion, is one of the surprises of the winter season. It appears in Paris coats, hats, dresses and a dozen other manifestations in unexpected ways and manners. One dressmaker — Lyolene — uses soft, thin leather as she would a fabric, dying it in bright colors and employing it as linings for town coats, and to make soft folded sashes that look like waxed satin.

* * *

ANOTHER DESIGNER—Classen-Smith — makes practically everything of leather—bags, hats, belts, skirts, jackets, and develops them each in many colors. Sometimes the costumes are of a single color trimmed with another; sometimes an entire garment will be made of many pieces of leather sewn together to make a pattern like a printed fabric.

* * *

THE SPORTS COAT, sketched today, is one of these. Leather in five tones of beige and brown is used, forming a modernistic jumbling of lozenges of color. Collar and sleeves are in classic cut and the attached belt is fastened with a leather button.

* * *

A COAT of this type may be worn either in town or in the country with a brown wool dress, such as the Maggy-Rouff model sketched. Graduated tucks on the blouse and about the hips accentuate the fitted line, and the boyish collar ties with two yarn tassels—one beige, one orange.

Special Dances Feature Club Assembly

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Four special dance numbers with attractive favors will be a feature of the assembly dance at the College Club this evening. These affairs, which are held on alternate Friday nights, have been planned by the social committee for the teen-age sons and daughters of club members and are in charge of Mrs. Kenneth R. Cunningham, Mrs. Philip C. Hodill, Mrs. Edgar R. Cate, Mrs. George E. Mohler, Mrs. M. Jay Ream and Mrs. J. Clyde Whetzel.

On December 9 the affair will take on a southern atmospherg in decorations and appointments and something even more engaging is being promised for the Christmas event.

Studio Cast In Comedy Tomorrow

Milne's delightful comedy, "The Dover Road," will be presented in the Bradford Woods School House tomorrow night by the Studio Players. In the cast are Kathryn Golden, Milton Young, Julia Kehew, James Wilson, Mortimer Drake, George Lobingier, Raymond Marter, Charles Roberts, Anna Mary and Olive Scott.

The play, which is the first in a series of four productions, is being directed by La Verda Dent, with the assistance of Dorothy Morrow. William Marter is stage manager; Jane Crumay, stage designer; Virginia Hannan, property manager; Mortimer Drake is in charge of publicity, and Robert Aeberli is ticket chairman.

The players build their own sets and have made everything from a coal pit to an ultra modern living room. Season subscriptions have been sold and plans are being made to produce several one-act plays, some of which will be original.

The group of 33 members is headed by an executive committee which includes George Lobingier, Mortimer Drake, William Marter, Jane Crumay and La Verda Dent. Other officers are La Vergne Huggins, secretary, and Nox Kehew, treasurer.

URGES COLLEGE 'BALLYHOO'

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Modern ballyhoo as a means of setting up a "new ideal of a student" was urged on the University of Minnesota by an undergraduate.

The institution should, wrote Thomas Gaddis in an essay winning first place in a contest sponsored by the class of 1911, take a hint from advertising and publicity methods to build a "tradition of study and an atmophere of scholarship." Gaddis, first year medical student from St. Paul, said:

"Let there be subtle campaigns which have as their object an unobtrusive style-setting and pace-making endeavor. The 'collegiate' and the 'collegian' then will be dissolved by the acids of ridicule.

"By quiet acceptance there will be erected into the student tradition a new ideal of a student who can think as well as drink, who can manipulate theories as well as campus politics, who can write and speak as ably as he can manage his co-ed or his car, who can carry out a project in his course as completely as he can engineer a house party."

Promoter Suffers Mumps in Prison

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—S. E. J. Cox, big time promoter, in jail under mail fraud sentence, is recovering from the mumps.

WASH DISHES?

Is there anything you hate worse than washing dishes? Wouldn't you like to know the way to cut one-third off the time you have to spend at this unpleasant task? Here we tell you the way to make dishwashing quick and easy.

Silver Dust, the remarkable new soap, dissolves as easily as snow at the touch of water. It bursts instantly into rich, creamy suds.

Silver Dust is a pure-white, sudsy soap that cannot possibly harm your hands. It washes things gently, yet so thoroughly that you will be amazed by its quick and perfect action.

Dishwashing will be easier for you than it has ever been before, if you will follow these simple directions: 1. Scrape dishes thoroughly. 2. Then put your dishes into a hot solution of Silver Dust and water. 3. Rinse them, and for quickest results dry them with the famous Silver Dust (Patex) towel, that does three times the work of ordinary towels and leaves no lint.

Because Silver Dust dissolves faster and works faster, dishes are sparkling clean in far less time. And because our towel absorbs more moisture and leaves no lint, the drying job is quickly over, too.

Silver Dust, the remarkable new soap, is at your grocer's now. Get a package from him today. And to get the famous Silver Dust (Patex) Towel, see our special offer below:

HERE'S OUR SPECIAL OFFER

Go to your grocer. Buy two boxes of Silver Dust. He will give you, absolutely free, one of the wonderful thirsty Silver Dust (Patex) dish towels, size 18 x 36 inches, retail value 25¢. This offer is good for a limited time only, so act now!

"I'm a 30-mile-an-hour driver... but I want the 100-mile-an-hour oil!"

MAYBE YOU SAY, "Thirty miles-an-hour is fast enough for me. I don't speed and probably never will!"...

Yet the oil you use should be the 100-mile-an-hour motor oil—GULF SUPREME!

Why? Because the oil that is good at 100 miles an hour is a far better, safer oil at any speed—high or low!

It is better able to conquer engine heat! Better able to halt wear! Better able to forestall repairs and cut lubrication bills!

Gulf Supreme has proved its ability to take super-punishment! Proved it in two of the most gruelling tests an oil could get...

In a great testing laboratory, Gulf Supreme successfully lubricated a roaring motor under nearly twice the heat of the normal speeding engine for 14 solid hours!

And on August 8, 1932, it amazed racing drivers by out-performing specially-made "racing oils" on the famous Indianapolis Speedway! Under Official AAA Supervision, it lubricated a thundering Duesenberg racer for a non-stop one-hour run—at an average speed greater than 100 miles-an-hour! A speed which frequently reached nearly two miles a minute!

Take this advice... Switch to Gulf Supreme! Prove its ability to take super-punishment—to cut repair and lubrication costs—in your motor!

WARNING!

... OIL that isn't good at high speeds, isn't good enough at ANY speed!

Lines to a Fountain Pen

All hail to thee, thou king of love and power!
Beneath thy touch the wheels of life go 'round.
Thou art the force which dries my lady's teardrops
And bids her smile where lately she had frowned.

Without thy magic spell love wilts—as yesterday's roses,
And soaring dreams fall hard to earth on broken wings.
My lady's cash-drawer heart resumes its futile beating
Do thou but conjure up fur coats and diamond rings.

Love's old sweet story's penned on leaves of check-books.
He loveth best who writeth best; his are life's joys.
And love will come unsought, unbidden—as springs first blossoms
When Follies girls elope with office boys!

Kidding a Kidder

It was on the pavement between acts the other opening night, and Percy Hammond was the only critic to come outside without his hat or coat.

"Now looka here!" scolded one of his fellows, "you'll get sick doing that, you chump!"

"Feel this," said the very sad Hammond, as he pointed to a steel undershirt he was wearing, "that's heavier than any coat."

"Gwan!" taunted George Jean Nathan, who never sympathizes with the sick, "that's your money belt!"

Thank Ray Meyer for what certainly should prove to be a breezy diversion and another space-filler for this dep't. The big idea is to change people's names to make sense. If your subject, frinstance, is the depression, you might do it this way: George (Half) Price . . . The (Slim) Pickens Sisters . . . Roger Wolfe (at the door) Kahn . . . Don (in the) Redman.

Then there could be gagging in this manner: Jack (Mother of) Pear . . . Rudy (How it) Vallee'd (and thundered). And so on.

Get clever.

Concrete Example

A one-time New Yorker, who writes that he is depressioning in Burkeville, Va., says:

"The most wonderful life any man lives is the life spent in imagination—that quality which takes him from his daily trend into a seeming, far unreal fairyland, where all is ecstasy—where he is the Hero, and all others are merely followers who bend at his will. That to him is the zenith of all ambition and aspiration. The universe is conquered—that is, everything but the hangover—when he snaps out of his day-dreaming."

'Cohen-Kelly' To Do New Roles

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25.

For the first time in eight years, George Sidney and Charles Murray are going to step out of their "Cohens and Kellys" series to portray a different set of characters on the screen.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., made this decision after reading "Salt Air," an original story by Homer Croy and Vernon Smith. He made it plain, however, that he doesn't intend to permanently abandon the Cohens and Kellys, among the best money-makers in Universal's program.

Sidney and Murray are just completing a profitable revival here of Anne Nichols' perennial Jewish-Irish comedy, "Abie's Irish Rose."

COMPLICATIONS HERE

The Paramount-Marlene Dietrich-Josef von Sternberg situation—and everyone now admits there is a situation—takes on complications. As near as I can make it out, Von Sternberg's contract is up the first week in December, while Miss Dietrich will not be through until some time in February. If he leaves and she stays rumor declares that Paramount will ask her to make "The Song of Songs" with Reuben Hammoulian as director.

If you happened to listen in on the national broadcast of the Domino Club, you heard the voice of an old screen favorite for the first time. I mean Anna Q. Nilsson. Dozens of messages already have come in praising Anna for her portrayal of Jenny Lind, and many Hollywood friends plan to listen in for her second broadcast next Sunday.

SHAW ALL FOR MONEY

The proposed visit of Bernard Shaw to California has set bees buzzing in a dozen studio bonnets. Even if the Shavian dramas are not particularly suitable to film use, movie magnates figure that his name on a screen original would be worth thousands of dollars in the box-office.

The cable report also revives Shaw's famous reply to Samuel Goldwyn when the producer visited him in England and tried to make a deal for a story. Shaw said:

"I'm afraid we can't do business, Mr. Goldwyn. You seem to think only of art while I am concerned only with money."

Brown Movie In Stanley Is Howl

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Class in nonsensology, attention! When an irresistible force meets an immovable object what is the result? Cataclysm is correct. When a man afraid of water as a cat, and who can't swim a stroke, wins a 21-mile swim marathon, what's the answer? Did you say there must be something funny about it? "You Said a Mouthful," in the language of Joe E. Brown, star of the comedy of that title that opened yesterday in the Stanley.

Joe made the statement when somebody casually remarked that he would either have to win or drown when he found himself an entrant in the Catalina Channel swimming race.

IS JOKE AT HOME

"You Said a Mouthful" is a farce in which Brown, in accordance with rigid formula of the movies, is the butt of jokesters in his home town in Iowa, where he has invented a non-sinkable bathing suit. Death of an aunt takes him to Los Angeles to inherit her estate, which turns out to be $5.80, when all expenses are paid, and the care of a Negro boy, son of the housekeeper of the deceased lady.

Through a mistake in identity he is welcomed to a rich home where a swimming champion is expected. Through the attraction of the alluring Ginger Rogers, daughter of the household, he doesn't rectify the mistake.

OUR HERO BOASTFUL

The situation, of course, develops plenty of comedy angles, with Brown boasting of his prowess in the surf and at the same time resorting to various expedients to keep from entering the turbulent waves. The race, itself, is the big howl, but you'll just have to see it to learn how a man who shudders at the sight of water becomes a master of it. It is something in the nature of a cataclysm—of laughter.

Besides Brown and the charming Miss Rogers the cast includes Farina, of the Our Gang kids, as the colored boy, Sam, who keeps the phoney swim champ on the job, Preston S. Foster, Guinn William and others.

S. S. Van Dine's "Transatlantic Mystery," and a news reel are among other interesting films on the Thanksgiving week program.

Coming Bills Announced

"Strange Interlude," photoplay version of the Eugene O'Neill play, showing on the Aldine screen twice daily, with Norma Shearer, Clark Gable and Ralph Morgan in the featured roles, will remain in that theater a second week that will begin Monday.

Richard Arlen is starred in "All-American," which will be the screen feature in the Enright for three days beginning tomorrow.

In "Mr. Robinson Crusoe" Douglas Fairbanks does all the original chap of the same name did on a desert island—and more. It will be pictured on the Sheridan Square screen Saturday, Monday and Tuesday.

Beginning next Monday, the Avenue Cinema will have a double-feature screen bill. One will be "The Devil's Rope," English film with Luis Trenker. "Rasputin," European picture recently shown in this house, will be an added attraction.

"Spick and Span," burlesque with Alice Duval and Billie Diamond featured, will begin an engagement in the Academy with a Sunday midnight show.

LeRoy Telling Joke That Ends Wrong

Mervyn LeRoy tells a new joke about acrobats. The movie colony is snickering and laughing—not at the joke, but at Mervyn. He has the ending twisted. But how appropriate for a joke about acrobats!

Warner Film Thriller

By MICHAEL SHAW

"Air Mail," in the Warner, unfolds itself as an exciting drama full of tragic crashes and daredevil stunt flying, reaching its climax in an air rescue that quite takes your breath away.

Revealing as it does the private lives of a group of hard-boiled and soft-hearted mail pilots, the film is somewhat reminiscent of "The Crowd Roars," and anyone who liked that auto racing thriller will get an immense kick out of "Air Mail."

The story—an original for the screen—concerns itself principally with a veteran flier in charge of Desert Field, a small airport this side of the Rockies.

In his life, the mail comes first; it must be brought safely through storm and fog at any cost. Flying the Rockies in a blizzard, he crashes on a mountain side and there, helpless from injuries, awaits death by cold.

He is brought to safety by a ne'er-do-well aerial soldier of fortune. This gentleman had previously deserted the service to walk off with the widow of a fellow-pilot—on the very night of the fellow-pilot's fatal crash. In the pinch, he makes good his boast that he can land on a dime and take off on a nickel; dumps his injured superior in a parachute from his damaged plane as it begins to fold up in the air, plunges to earth—and lives

Ralph Bellamy is the hero, and Gloria Stuart the love interest. Pat O'Brien turns in a splendid job as the swaggering villain who in the end saves the day; he really shades Bellamy for the honors.

Lillian Bond is the girl who welcomes her husband's death, goes away with Pat and tries vainly to keep him from his rescue exploit. Leslie Fenton is interesting in a small part—that of a pilot who leaped to safety and let his passengers crash to death.

All in all, "Air Mail" is a most entertaining picture.

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Ribbon counter gals can perk up if they have stage leanings—Helen Morgan was one of them. Manicures can do likewise, for Helen once was a queen of the nail file and buffer. Beauty contest winners, too, have a prototype in her, and so do night club hostesses, say nothing of pianositters It was after Miss Morgan was crowned "Miss Mount Royal" at Montreal that her home town, Chicago, began to hear her voice in cabarets. Amy Leslie, noted Chicago dramatic editor, brought Helen to the attention of the late Florenz Ziegfeld, who put her in "Sally" with Marilyn Miller. Followed the night club hostess experience, after which that long original engagement in "Show Boat," in which she will return next week to the Nixon.

Hugh Banks, former juvenile of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, will have the leading role in the same theater next week, when Mr. Sharp will present "Whistling in the Dark," under the direction of Edwin Vail. One of the best roles Hughie had in his affiliation with the company then resident in the Penn avenue theater was in "Death Takes a Holiday." Later he played the same role for an extended run in Chicago.

Grid Hero Film At Davis

By MARGARET RUSSELL

A goodly Thanksgiving crowd watched Mae Marsh in another touching mother role at the Davis yesterday, in a football picture that was just a little bit different. Right or wrong, "That's My Boy" was the theme.

Richard Cromwell, as Thomas Jefferson Scott, an average small-town boy, won a national name for himself as "Snake-hips," a twisty open-field runner for dear old Thorpe. In love with Dorothy Rodgers, the wealthiest, prettiest girl in town, played by Dorothy Jordan, the youthful hero finds himself on top of the world, at 20.

He's a nice boy, but where will he be five years from now, Papa Rodgers asks his daughter. You'll be limping around on 40 a week like I am, Curley Decker, a former star, tells "Snake-hips." Worth a million a year to pack the stadium he built for dear old Thorpe? Well, he wants some of it, Scott decides, or he won't play ball.

A great financial investment structure is built around his famous name. Almost on the eve of the great game with Harvard, the structure crumbles. His partner a suicide, our hero is faced with a $100,000 shortage. That is the price he extracts from Papa Rodgers for relinquishing the affections of the beloved Dorothy. The newspapers get the story, and "Snake-hips," boohed by his classmates, is lower than his reptile namesake.

But the district attorney comes to the rescue at the zero hour and saves the day. Our hero is vindicated. The razberry changes into wedding bells. Nine famous football stars from University of California's 1931 championship team, are in the cast of "That's My Boy."

The program at the Davis includes Paramount News, a Terry Toon, "The Forty Thieves," and a Monty Collins comedy, "His Vacation."

Wynn Scream In Fulton

By MARY SHINE

The Fulton opened its week yesterday with Ed Wynn in "Follow the Leader," film made from "Manhattan Mary." What a laugh parade it turned out to be, what with Ed Wynn springing his goofy inventions every three minutes and fluttering those expressive hands all over the place and gurgling that Wynn giggle until there's nothing left for the audience to do but double up with glee.

The plot is flimsy, as is to be expected because "the perfect fool" is everything and the rest of the cast pales before his antics. Nevertheless Lou Holtz creditably does his funny bit and Ginger Rogers and the boy friend have their love troubles.

We see Ed Wynn as the stage-struck "Crickets," who is waiter, inventor, leader of the "Hudson Dusters," as villainous a crew as ever was, and kidnaper of a chorus queen. His life is threatened, and he decides to commit suicide to save himself! And you mustn't miss his argument with a Frenchman whom he can't convince he will not sing the Marseilles, but "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground."

When Lou Holtz discovers him creeping into a night club to do the kidnaping, armed with a hatchet, a rifle, a burglar alarm and a coil of rope, and "Crickets" says he doesn't know whether he just found the rope or lost a horse—well, you will just have to stay and see all the newsreels until you recover strength enough to wend your way home.

BITS OF LIFE

All in a Day

By MARK HELLINGER

ABOARD THE S. S. REX, GENOA-BOUND.—I'm feeling better today, I'm happy to be able to write that, because the way I felt yesterday I thought I'd never be able to begin another column. What made my recovery so rapid, I think, was the fact that—some 20 minutes ago—I ran into one of the funniest experiences of my entire career. Please have a laugh on me.

My steward's name is Pietro. He has a last name because he told it to me. But while it rolls from his lips like so much honey, I can't get to first base with it. So I'll just refer to him as Pietro from now on and let it go at that.

Early this morning — about noon, I think it was—I summoned Pietro to my cabin. He is the perfect servant and he is more than anxious to please. But about him there is an inexplicable air of sadness. His eyes resembled those of a Great Dane doggie that has been smacked without cause. He seems always on the verge of tears. It has already cost me $15 in an attempt to get a smile out of him.

"Pietro," I said, "here is a letter that is addressed to a gentleman named Raimonde. It comes from Jack, who is one of the proprietors of the Jack and Charlie Rest Room, on West 52nd street. Jack recommends me very highly to this unknown Raimonde and asks that I be given the best of service.

"Raimonde must be somebody of authority on this boatt. I want you to give him this letter when you learn who he is. Then come back here. Do you understand me?"

Tears appeared in Pietro's eyes.

"Not a word," he replied.

I gulped. That was permissible, I guess, because we were just crossing the Gulp Stream.

"All right," I asserted carefully. "I try again—and I speak very slow. This letter here. You take him. It is to a man named Raimonde. You find Raimonde on ship. You give him letter. You come back. See?"

Pietro nodded. I read the letter over before I handed it to him. There was very little to it. Jack had merely said that I was America's greatest columnist; that Shakespeare, Kipling and Jack London were novices compared to me; and that I should be given the best on the boat for the smallest cost. Outside of those things, it said nothing.

I gave Pietro the letter.

"Go ahead, my boy," I told him. "I'll be here when you get back. Goodbye, and God bless you." . . .

Some 20 minutes later, Pietro returned to my cabin. His entire demeanor had changed. His eyes were, if anything, more tearful than ever. But his speeches were short and abrupt.

"I no could find this Raimonde," he stated. "Sorry. Excuse me, please."

He turned to leave.

"Wait a minute, buddy," I said. "Don't be in such a hurry. Did you look all over the boat? And are you sure there is no Raimonde among the ship's officers?"

Pietro was most certain.

"No," he assured me definitely. "No Raimonde. Sorry."

And with that he left, slamming the cabin door behind him . . .

I had just about determined to start a column when Pietro walked in again. His arrogance was gone. A look of absolute disaster was in his mournful eyes. He looked at me without speaking.

"Well, Pietro," I chirped, "what's on your mind now?"

He began to mutter something in Italian. He stopped abruptly. He shook his head. He walked toward the door again. He sighed.

Meanwhile, I was watching the performance in amazement. I began to have visions of the headlines: "Mad Steward Kills Unknown Writer." Or "Hellinger's Round-th-World Trip Ends in Three Days." This was all most unusual.

"Pietro," I muttered, "what is the matter with you?"

His eyes were lowered. He pawed the floor uneasily with his left foot.

"I no like to talk," he replied. "I no say nothing. I go now. I—"

This thing was beginning to be too much for me.

"Listen, Pietro," I interrupted, "I don't know if you know what goofy is, but that's where you're driving me right now. What's this all about? You're acting like Greta Garbo with the hives."

He looked up suddenly.

"You are good man," he cried. "You are very good to Pietro. Pietro like you all the time. You must not do these things."

I began to believe that Billy Moore had planted this bird on the boat just to annoy me. He was slowly but surely driving me crazy.

"Pietro," I almost screamed, "if you don't tell me what's happened, I swear I'll throw you through that window. Come on, now."

He stepped toward the door and bolted it. Then he stepped closer to me.

"Sometimes," he whispered, "we read things we are not suppose' to read. I am not—how you say—curious. But I could not help myself. I read that note—and now you understan'."

"But I don't understand," I replied weakly. "What note did you read—what was so terrible about it?"

His voice grew lower.

"That note you give me," he murmured faintly. "That note of Raimonde. I am not—how you say—curious, but I could not help to read the first part. I have already tear him up."

My eyes must have popped like Harry Thaw's.

"That note to Raimonde?" I repeatedly incredulously. "Why, there was nothing wrong with that. It was simply a note of introduction from a friend of mine. What did you find that was wrong?"

He waved a hand.

"Never mind," he said. "The secret, he is safe with me. I promise I say nothing to somebody. We forget all about him."

This was just a little too much for me. I took a flying leap and grabbed my steward by the arm.

"Look here, Pietro," I almost shouted, "I've been kidded by the finest experts on Broadway. I took this trip to get away from those mugs—and I'm not going to have you start with me. You're going to tell me what you're talking about or you'll never leave this cabin alive.

"What was wrong with that message to the unknown Raimonde? So far as I can remember, it was a kidding note to the effect that I was America's great columnist and that——"

He placed a finger to his lips in an excited gesture.

"That's it," he whispered nervously, "that's it. They no like your people in my country. If they find out they put you in jail. You mus' say nothing to nobody."

The truth suddenly dawned—and I'm still laughing. Pietro was merely trying to protect me. He thought a columnist was a Communist!

WCAE Paramount Trio For Hippodrome

The Paramount Trio, with Sallie Hughes, a daily radio feature over WCAE, will make a personal appearance at the Hippodrome Theater, Beaver avenue, North Side, tomorrow afternoon and evening. They will offer a program of songs, dances and musical features.

Visiting

Constance Bennett is absent from Hollywood to see New York sights.

Varied Way To Begin

Joan Crawford was so ambitious to go on the stage as a child that she built a complete theater in a barn for amateur theatricals with the aid of neighborhood children.

Clark Gable earned his first paycheck working in a rubber factory in Akron, O.

Robert Montgomery once played seven parts in a William Faversham play, getting $5 a week for each role.

Ruth Selwyn, M-G-M player, began in the theater as a result of her ability in designing costumes.

Ben Blue, the Hal Roach comedian, was given his first opportunity to appear on the stage by George M. Cohan in a musical show.

Arthur Byron Signs For Movie Role

Arthur Byron, for years an eminent character star on the New York stage, has been signed by Paramount for a principal role in the forthcoming picturization of Noel Coward's play "The Queen Was in the Parlor." Fredric March and Claudette Colbert will play the romantic leads. Byron, who created on the stage the main characters of "Five Star Final," and "The Criminal Code," was brought to Hollywood recently for the role of Warden Lawes in "Twenty Thousand Years in Sing Sing." The Coward play is now being adapted for the screen by Edwin Justus Mayer. It will be directed by Stuart Walker, with production to begin in about two weeks.

Nydia Westman Added To Jungle Cast

Nydia Westman, young character actress, has been added to the cast of Paramount's "King of the Jungle." One more feminine role remains to be filled in this animal thriller, production on which is well under way with H. Bruce Humberstone and Max Marcin co-directing. Buster Crabbe, world champion swimmer, as the Lion Man, and Frances Dee as the feminine lead, head the cast.

"Cast Iron Stomach?"

NO—It's two Diapepsin tablets!

Many men can eat anything and everything without any distress because they have learned how to regulate digestion. Each tablet of diapepsin saves half an hour's labor in the stomach. So you can actually correct slow stomach.

If you have gas, any sourness, or feel a "lump" an hour after eating, take two tablets of Pape's Diapepsin. Do this until the stomach empties as it should without aid. When it slows down, use this same harmless stimulant again. You can really control digestion this way.

A lot of men and women who once had the "soda" habit have found lasting relief through Pape's Diapepsin. Some need only one tablet; others as many as five. Just experiment until you can eat and drink anything and everything without any sign of distress. Get some diapepsin today! Remember, a "cast-iron stomach" just means one that empties in six hours.

ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH

The tremendous popularity of ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH has just one explanation: VALUE.

Pennsylvania motorists are impartial judges of the dozens of motor fuels sold in this state. They have tried them all . . . under all kinds of driving conditions.

And they show decisive preference for ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH by buying more than twice as much of it as any other gasoline. They have found VALUE in this great super-fuel which they have not found anywhere else.

Why not enjoy this value, yourself? Use ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH for at least two weeks, and watch your car perform! Pick-up? You'll think you've put some liquid lightning into the gas-tank. Hills? They just seem to lie down, like a whipped dog. Mileage? You'll find it hard to believe so many miles can be packed in every gallon.

Don't be satisfied with ordinary performance. Remember that ATLANTIC WHITE FLASH is a super-fuel . . . made to give you super-performance.

HOME MADE COTTAGE CHEESE

ALL INGREDIENTS SHOWN

Real home made cottage cheese is very delicious and especially when served with warm gingerbread.

Set aside the desired amount of milk in warm place .98 or 100 degrees F. is warm enough. When milk has clabbered (curdled) stand it in a pan of water warm enough so that your hand may be placed in it until you can count 10. From time to time keep moving the milk around so all of it may feel the gentle heat. In 10 or 15 minutes time the curd will separate from the whey and then all of the mixture may be turned into a course woven muslin bag and hung over night in a cool place. By this time all the whey will have drained off. Season with one teaspoon of salt to every cup and a tablespoon of cream. Mixture may be worked with a spoon and shaped into small balls or shaped into a mould. Sprinkle with dried sage or paprika.

TURNING MIXTURE

SHAPING MIXTURE

NOTE—You will be able to get about one-half or three-quarters of a cup of cheese from one quart of clabbered milk. If a sweet cheese is desired the milk should not be left long enough to sour. If the clabber is overheated it will result in tough cheese and if it is allowed to drain too long in warm place you will have a sour tasting cheese. When measuring the salt use level teaspoon.

READY TO SERVE

A GAY AFTERNOON party, with plenty of games and refreshments that are different, is the kind that children under eight like best. Such a party interferes less with their daily regimen if it starts at 4 and ends after supper at about 6:30.

Pinning the tail on the donkey is one of those things you do not plan to have the modern child guests do. Instead, they pin the tail on Micky Mouse, or—if the party is exclusively masculine—the stags pin a paper dirigible to that portion of the map which feels most like their home town.

Potato races are also passe. Now a dog biscuit in the shape of a bone is balanced on a spoon and carried across the room to be laid before a calico mongrel named Wags. Wags is later presented as a prize to the most successful contestant in the bone-carrying race, or in any of the other events on the party program.

* * *

PEANUTS ARE PASSE—A cherry hunt is a lot of fun at a children's party to replace the peanut hunt which is outmoded. Quick-frozen sweet, eating cherries are wrapped, before they are entirely defrosted, in pieces of strong wax paper. Three or four cherries are wrapped together and their stems tied with a piece of bright ribbon. They are then kept in the ice-box until the hunt starts. When the children find them, they are delightfully refreshing and are much more easily digested than peanuts.

And when the guests begin to ask, "When is the party?" it's time to invite them into the dining room, where party food gives several finishing touches to the afternoon. Don't forget that the refreshments are much the most important things on the program, and that they taste ever so much better when the table is gaily decorated.

And here are a few hints for making food attractive as well as good for children.

Serve peeled orange sections rolled in shredded cocoanut for a simple dessert. Spinach will be eaten more rapidly if a section of canned grapefruit reposes on top, or a section of hard-cooked egg appears on the bottom. Breakfast cereal goes down without tears if a few pasteurized dates are dropped into the oatmeal or other cereal just before serving. A glass of milk, too, will be more popular if a few of the dates are found in the bottom of the glass as "reward." Sprinkle a little malted milk powder, chocolate or plain, on top the cornstarch pudding. Custard is more inviting if a spoonful of jelly is tucked into the middle and the top sprinkled with cocoanut. Melted peppermint patties make a delicious dessert sauce. Youngsters will eat cottage cheese if it is used to stuff dates, for luncheon. Lettuce eating may be encouraged by lightly sprinkling the leaves with sugar and rolling them up.

* * *

An innovation for the afternoon tea is to serve fancy coffee cake slices with the tea. Almond filled coffee cake and snickerdoodle are fast gaining favor.

SNICKERDOODLE—1½ tablespoons butter, ⅔ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 1½ cups self-rising flour, 1½ tablespoons cinnamon mixed with 1½ tablespoons granulated sugar.

Cream butter, add sugar, then egg, which should be well beaten but not separated. Add milk, then the flour and stir until flour is dampened. Add three or four extra stirs to smooth the dough. Turn into a greased pan and sprinkle dough with the cinnamon sugar mixture. Bake at 400 degrees until golden brown.

* * *

To serve snickerdoodle hot when entertaining, have all the ingredients and utensils ready beforehand, so that you have only to do the final combining and pop the batter in the oven. The butter and sugar may be creamed in advance, the milk measured, the flour sifted and measured and the top mixture combined ready to spread. The pan should be greased. No baking powder or salt are added to the self-rising flour, and it need be sifted but once, before measuring. The even distribution of the leavening when the flour is milled gives the products made from self-rising flour an unusually even texture.

The egg, milk and flour may later be combined with the butter and sugar and the cake made ready for the oven in a jiffy. Serve hot with hot beverage.

CRANBERRY ICEBOX CAKE—3 cups cranberries, 1 cup granulated sugar, 10 dates (stoned and cut), ½ cup chopped walnuts, ½ cup seedless raisins, 3 figs (cut in small pieces), rind of one orange, 10½ ounces baker's or home-made sponge cake, size 8x8x2½, ½ pint cream.

Cook cranberries in water, strain through a fine sieve, add raisins, dates, nuts, figs and orange rind. Cook mixture slowly for five minutes; remove from fire and add sugar. Line a buttered mold with slices of sponge cake, spread a layer of cranberry mixture and then a layer of sponge cake, and repeat, finishing with a layer of cake. Place in icebox six to eight hours; unmold; serve with whipped cream.

* * *

FROZEN TOMATO JUICE COCKTAIL—Add to 1 pint of tomato juice 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon grated onion and 4 stalks of celery, well bruised or grated. Let stand for 15 minutes, then strain through a coarse wire strainer. Pour into the freezing-tray of the electric refrigerator. Stir thoroughly several times during the freezing process. Serve in cocktail glasses.

* * *

MINCEMEAT TARTS A LA MODE—Prepare pie crust and roll it ⅛-inch thick. Line shallow tart pans with the crust and fill with mincemeat. Roll more of the crust and then cut into ½-inch strips; lay these strips over the tarts, press firmly at the edges and bake in a moderately hot oven. Serve warm, sprinkled with powdered sugar and topped with a spoonful of ice cream.

* * *

APPLE MOUSSE FRAPPE—Use as many apples as guests at the table. Core apples and bake very tender with cinnamon, sugar, lemon peel and a little water. When cool, mash them through a colander. Add enough grated fresh horseradish to give a piquant taste, also a tablespoon full of whipped cream to each apple and flavor with a little vanilla. Mix well and fill in cocktail glasses, top all with a red cherry and chill in icebox.

Value of Turnips as Food Too Little Recognized

Vitamins and Minerals They Contain Make Them Useful as a Separate Dish or in Soups And Stews, While Their Leaves are Excellent Cooked as Greens.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

As a child I was always thrilled when told I could go to the cellar and bring up some turnips to be cooked for supper. We stored our turnips with great care and every precaution was taken to see that they were properly packed in the cellar. They were carefully covered to protect them from cold and moisture.

The turnip is a valuable vegetable. Its real worth is not generally known, and, as I see it, it is not used as frequently as it should be. There are many varieties of this vegetable. Every type is useful.

Turnips are commonly cooked by themselves, but they are also combined with other vegetables in preparing soups or stews.

Some prefer the yellow type of turnip. This is more strongly flavored than the medium size white turnip. The thin, white turnip is tender and sweet. When well grown it is solid and brittle, with a thin skin.

Soil conditions influence the quality and flavor of turnips. The soil and weather conditions of Alaska are particularly suitable to the growth of this vegetable, and in consequence the Alaskan turnip is exceedingly popular.

SCURVY PREVENTIVE

The turnip is known as an "anti-scorbutic food." It is called this because it contains an abundant supply of vitamin C. When the diet is deficient in this vitamin, a disease known as "scurvy" occurs. The eating of the turnip will prevent this.

The turnip contains also many essential mineral substances. Of these the most important are lime, magnesium, potash, soda, iron and sulphur. In addition the vegetable has a high cellulose content, and for this reason it is often recommended for those who suffer from digestive disturbances and constipation.

The tops or "greens" of the turnip are used in preparing salads, soups and stews. They add to the nutritive value of the diet, for the greens contain important and valuable vitamins. Lime, potash and iron salts are found in the leaves. The leaf should always be used. It is a mistake to discard them. When properly prepared they have a fine and unusual flavor.

CLEAN WELL

Small and tender turnips should be peeled and cooked with the green tops. Add a small amount of water and cook for 15 minutes only.

Turnips and all other vegetables should be thoroughly washed and cleansed before cooking. Never eat vegetables raw unless they have been cleansed under hot water.

For most of us raw vegetable are more difficult to digest than cooked vegetables. The heat breaks up the fibre and cell, making it possible for the digestive juices to function more readily.

Don't forget or neglect our old friend, the turnip. Its cheapness and valuable qualities should commend it to the housewife.

Skeptical Girls Can Find Many Fine Young Men

Are modern men all bad actors? Just a bunch of no good hellers, and not one-two-three beside grandpa?

That's what Belle thinks. According to her, you can't trust one of 'em.

"All they think about is booze and chasing, and getting all they can for nothing," she snorts, "and any girl is a fool to take one of them seriously!"

So Belle's out to do 'em—and how!

Think she's right?

And what'll she pick for herself, if she keeps on traveling the road she's on?

"Dear Sally:

"I'm on the warpath, and I want to blow off some steam. And what's my big peeve?

"Modern men! They're no good! There isn't one of them I'd trust. I think any girl's a fool to take one of them seriously!

"And why do I think that? I have plenty of reason!

"I am a girl 23 years old. I started out four years ago to work in an office, and when I started, I had ideals. I thought there were lots of good fellows in the world. I had dreams of some day falling in love and marrying. But I've got over that. Why? I'll tell you why!

"Not one of the fellows I've met had anything in his head, except booze, a 'good time,' and trying to get some girl to 'fall for him' without his giving a thing in return, or getting himself 'entangled.'

"I've had five or six different ones trying to 'make me,' and then drop me when they found they couldn't. They have asked me 'on parties'—not 'to parties.' They have made love to me, and got mad when I didn't fall for their 'line.'

CLAIMS DIFFERENCE

"But not one of them pretended that their 'love' was serious, or more than temporary. Not one of them ever mentioned marriage. Most of them certainly were 'fast workers' and tried to put on the 'heavy loving' about the first time I met them.

"What is wrong with men nowadays, anyway? Why can't they be decent, responsible, honorable, like our fathers and grandfathers were? Back in those days they respected a girl who didn't fritter her time and her emotions away on trivial messing around, petting and such.

"Now they seem to think that a girl who would like to have something real in her life, who hasn't time for that stuff they peddle, is just a back number.

"Well, I, for one, won't be taken in by them. I started out with the idea of playing fair—but I've got all over that. If modern men want to be like that, I'll show them! From now on I'm out for all I can get. They think they're so smart, I'll go them one better! I can be just as hard-boiled as they are. I wonder how they'll like it!

"BELLE."

IMPOSSIBLE PICTURES

Oh, yeah!

And when all is said and done, I wonder how you'll like it, Sissy! Yes, I mean that, seriously. For if you go on in your present state of mind you won't pick much for yourself—and what you do pick won't be worth having. Suppose you do outsmart a few Bad Hombres? What'll you be, after you've done it? Nothing but a cheap little moocher!

And as for your ideals, they couldn't have been much, or they wouldn't have deserted you because you got a few bumps. As a matter of fact, they weren't "ideals" at all. They were just impossible pictures of things as you'd like 'em to be, and when things didn't shape up the way you wanted them—blooey! You threw everything overboard.

Cut it out! There are plenty of tramps in this world, to be sure; but there are plenty of decent chaps, too.

Look for them, if you'll stay regular yourself!

Mothers, If Selfish, Could Be Fashionable, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

If a wife and mother would spend upon herself the money she so willingly and unselfishly spends upon her family and home she, too, could be very fashionable.

Too often men make thoughtless and unfair comparisons between such women and the childless, self-centered women who have no one to think of before themselves.

He might be amazed to discover how much money and time a fashionable woman spends to attain the pleasing appearance which impresses him so much.

Some of the most discontented husbands you will meet are those married to women who are just fashionable and nothing more. They want to be on the go always to be seen in their smart togs. Raising families and running homes does not interest them.

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Brixton Agrees to Dicky's Proposition

"What did you tell Ronald?" Helen Brixton caught herself up to ask of Mary.

"That the two girls had disappeared from Whitney Hall, that we were going down immediately, and that he could reach us here," Mary answered.

"Then we ought to have had a wire from him, too," Helena said anxiously, but Dr. Barnes shook his head.

"There has been no message," he said.

"Do you think Ronald will wait for a wire?" Mary asked scornfully. "He left New Haven as soon after he got that message as he could commandeer a car. You may be sure of that."

"Poor boy! He'll be crazy!" Helena's voice broke again, and Dr. Barnes said quickly but quietly:

"Let us tell you just what has happened and what we have done."

"Oh, yes," she gasped, and with Lillian's arm around her—Lillian, who so sorely needed support herself—she listened to his succinct recital of the night's stirring events. When he had finished she turned a pitiful, working face to her husband.

"Do you suppose we can believe what they said in that note—that the girls are all right?" she quavered.

SUGGESTS RETICENCE

"There's no question in my mind," he said a bit pompously, "that this is one of those organized gang kidnaping plots that we've read so much about. They'll keep the girls safe as long as there's a chance of getting their money, but—look out, if you press 'em too close with pursuit! You can't let the newspapers in on this."

"Then we can't notify the police," Dicky warned. "The minute this case goes on a police blotter publicity starts, and you might better try to put out a forest fire with a toy sprinkler, or to sweep back the waves from the seashore with a broom, than try to silence the newspapers."

"Who's thought of notifying the police?" Sam Brixton demanded, and I noticed that little beads of moisture had sprung to his forehead. He nervously wiped them away before he continued. "In my opinion, it would be the worst thing we could do just now. Why, we haven't a clue to go on! If we wait till we hear from these fellows, we may get a line on them."

I think we were all surprised, for our conception of Sam Brixton had been of a man who would truculently demand action in every direction at once.

"We were afraid you might think it our duty to get police aid at once," Dicky returned. "We are much relieved to find that you agree with us that our best policy now is to play a waiting game. And what about trying to get—not sleep; nobody is going to do any sleeping—but a bit of rest for the remainder of the night?"

"Suits me," Sam Brixton said, "that is, as soon as I hear from my brother-in-law—and Ronald."

He had brought the boy in as an afterthought. I was as sure of that as I was that for some reason he was on fire with suspense over the expected wire from Charles Owen.

"Oh, yes; we mustn't go till we hear from them!" Helena said. "But where shall we go then?"

"You could all stay here—" Mrs. Barnes began, but I interposed quickly.

MESSAGE ARRIVES

"We already have discussed that," I said, "and agreed that it would be the worst thing possible for us all to stay here, especially the parents of the missing girls. The pupils of the school know nothing as yet. The presence of the parents at the school would set them to conjecturing all sorts of things."

"That's right," Sam Brixton said explosively. "Yet somebody representing us ought to be here when those fellows send another demand."

"Will you trust the Grahams?" Dicky said with a slight smile. "I think Mrs. Barnes can give us house and room and we'll promise not to be seen by any pupils. Then the rest of you can go over to the hotel."

His eye caught Lillian's, and I was sure no one save myself noticed the significant glance that passed between them.

"That is a splendid plan," she began, and then the telephone on Dr. Barnes' table brought us to startled attention. After he had listened to a few words he said: "Yes, repeat it."

Hints for the Household

The next time you boil a ham, pour a quart of ginger ale over it and simmer slowly. Add water if more liquid is needed. The flavor will be fine.

When making steamed puddings, if an egg is not available a good substitute is a tablespoonful of treacle mixed with milk.

Pencil marks on paint or woodwork can be removed by rubbing them with a freshly-cut lemon and afterwards with whiting and a soft cloth.

Contract Bridge -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Giving Up a Trick

Many hands are made at the Bridge table because one or the other of the defending players insists upon winning a trick. This paradoxical statement is well illustrated on the hand below, in which South, through failure to appreciate the fact that the apparent sacrifice of a trick in his own hand might have the rich reward of defeating the contract, brought about the defeat of the partnership. The hand was played in a Rubber game.

East—Dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ J 9 8 2 ♡ 10 9 5 ◇ 7 5 3 ♣ 9 8 3
♠ 10 5 4 ♡ K J 3 2 ◇ 9 8 ♣ 7 5 4 2	North West East South	♠ A K 3 ♡ A Q 6 4 ◇ K Q 6 ♣ A Q 10
	♠ Q 7 6 ♡ 8 7 ◇ A J 10 4 2 ♣ K J 6

East was a direct actionist, and opened the bidding with a courageous three notrump bid. All passed, and it was apparent that North must play a minor role in the defense of the hand, as the honor strength given to the defending side was massed in the South hand.

South opened the diamond Knave, and when the hand went down, East could count as winners two spades, four hearts, one diamond and one club—a total of 8 tricks. If either of the two finesses in clubs won, or if South could be forced to lead diamonds, then East could make three-odd.

East won the Opening lead and entered the Dummy with a heart, and at once finessed the club 10, which South won with the Knave. South returned his last heart, which was won in the Dummy, and the club Queen finessed. South winning with the King and returning a club. East then played two rounds of hearts and two rounds of spades, and South failed to realize that winning a trick with the spade Queen would be fatal, so he retained that card. The Declarer then continued with the third round of spades, forcing him into the lead and compelling South to concede to him the game-going trick in diamonds.

Had South played the spade Queen on the second lead of the suit, there is no way that East could have made the hand, as the Declarer could then have made a second trick in diamonds.

Today's Question

The Declarer, taking a card from his hand, exposed it to the other three players. Is that card exposed?

Answer: There is no penalty for a card exposed by Declarer, nor is the Declarer required to play the card.

Get GOOD WEAR out of your clothes

Let Chipso soak out dirt—safely

It's foolish to pay good money for clothes and then rub them thin on the washboard! Rubbing causes bald spots on towels, frayed edges on shirts—shortens the life of your clothes. Not to speak of what it does to your hands!

Use Chipso and spare your hands and your clothes. Deep rich Chipso suds roll out imbedded dirt—safely. You'll get a spic-span wash without hard rubbing. No more backaches, no more red rough hands when you change to Chipso. And your clothes will actually last longer!

You can tell Chipso is safe even for delicate silks and brushed wool sweaters by the gentle way it treats your hands in the dishpan (and how it does speed up dishwashing!). Chipso keeps dainty colors like new. Those velvety-soft suds make your stockings wear weeks longer!

Get that huge box of Chipso from your grocer today. It's so low-priced you can use it for everything!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Adult Ills Traced to Childhood

When you visit the doctor he will ask you questions about your health. He will wish to know what diseases you had in childhood. The doctor is always interested in knowing whether you had mumps, measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever or chicken pox.

Dr. Copeland

Many parents seem to think it necessary for their offspring to have all the diseases of childhood. In fact, some mothers deliberately expose their children to these infectious diseases. They believe it is best for the child to have the diseases early and get over with them as soon as possible.

This is all wrong. Having these diseases by no means encourages or improves the health of the child. Medical science has proved that the opposite is true. Indeed, many of the chronic deformities and disabilities of adult life can be traced to the acute infectious diseases of childhood.

For example, the kidneys may be involved as a result of scarlet fever. A child may suffer a very mild type of scarlet fever and seem to require little attention. But the germs of the disease become localized in one kidney or both kidneys. If neglected, this complication may produce a form of Bright's disease.

The dangers of diphtheria should not be overlooked. Even with modern methods of treatment, there is always the danger of complications. In this disease, even more than any other, prevention is better than cure. Fortunately, we have such a method of prevention, of which everyone should take advantage.

When a child is known to have scarlet fever, diphtheria, measles, chicken pox, or whooping cough he should be isolated from other children. The ideal method of taking care of these children is to put them in a hospital. When this is not possible, they should be kept in a room away from other children.

Often a child suffering from a mild form of one of these infections, may transmit it to another child who will have it in a more severe and serious form. Unfortunately, not every child can hope to escape each and every one of the diseases of early life, but there should be made real efforts to guard against them.

Eventually these diseases will be eradicated and the number of "necessary" ailments decreased. This desirable state of affairs can only be brought about by the careful isolation of all known cases of contagious disease. Remember that disease, no matter what its name or nature, is not good for a child.

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

Made to dazzle is a lovely wrap made of white broadcloth and lined with black velvet. It closes at the throat with a scarf and has bands of silver fox at the hem and wide sleeves.

Just to look at beautiful clothes is as interesting as looking at an art collection. A real work of art is a glamorous coat of golden lame with huge shirred pinwheels at each shoulder. The sleeves are big and full and there is a deep sable collar.

Studied simplicity is at its best in a very new dinner frock. It is of that dull velvet, Bagheera, and the shoulders are covered. There is a perfect molded waistline, tied in back with tiny streamers of narrow cire satin. White flowers accent the V of the neckline.

Perforations show a marked increase in new glove and shoe designs. A new six-button afternoon glove has a design of diagonal stripes worked out in tiny perforations. The glove is of white glace kid and has a flared wrist that may be pulled down over a dress sleeve to show the color of the fabric through the perforated design of the glove.

Dog Routs Burglars, Holds Off Policemen

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Rin, a great Dane, plays no favorites.

After routing three burglars, who broke into his mistress' home, the big dog refused to allow blue-coated policemen in to investigate the attempted burglary.

Bars Fail to Keep Girl, 18, From Dance Grind

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Iron bars can't keep Martha Steele, 18, from competing in that Buffalo (N. Y.) marathon.

Her parents tried committing her to jail to prevent her from leaving the city. She was released when she promised she would abandon the idea.

That was several days ago. Latest word from Martha today is that she is hitch-hiking to the marathon.

CHURCH GETS LOAN AID

Sufficient loans to tide St. Rosalia's Church over the period in which its reserve funds are tied up in a bank's reorganization have been made, and more than $4,000 has been returned to those who offered to loan money, the Rev. James Lavelle announced today.

In explaining that more than required loans, for which he will pay 4 per cent, had been received and banked, Father Lavelle thanked the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for announcing the plan. He said:

"We thank the Sun-Telegraph for letting the people know that we needed the money due to the suspension of a financial institution. The Sun-Telegraph was the only paper which announced our offer to pay 4 per cent. We were flooded with offers of loans and had to send back $4,000 in subscriptions."

Boy Chess Experts Agree to Contest

Phonograph Records Song of Lyre Bird

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 25.—The lyre bird at last has made his phonographic debut. After years of trying, two naturalists have caught the song of Australia's inimitable mocking bird on a phonograph record. The record also has registered the songster's mimicry of other birds as well as the sounds of barking dogs and cackling hens.

If you think yellow, stained, unsightly-looking teeth are natural, start using Kolynos—a half-inch on a dry brush twice daily. In 3 days you'll see your mistake. Your teeth will look 3 shades whiter!

Kolynos—unlike any preparation you've ever used—contains two important ingredients that clean and whiten teeth remarkably. One—the finest cleansing agent known—erases stain and tartar, foams into every tiny fissure and washes away decay-causing debris. While the other ingredient kills the millions of germs that cause most tooth and gum troubles and helps to make teeth absolutely clean.

Thus Kolynos gently cleans teeth right down to the natural white enamel and soon makes them more attractive than ever. It refreshes the mouth and stimulates the gums. Buy a tube of Kolynos today.

KOLYNOS DENTAL CREAM

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Tipping

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The question of tipping has always been one of great mystery . . . always wondering if one has been too generous or not generous enough, and I would greatly appreciate your opinion on the following questions.

The hotels about which I am asking my questions would be among the middle class ones, and the persons in question holding fair positions with home responsibilities.

1—Is it a breach of etiquette not to wear one's hat to breakfast and luncheon at a hotel, or is it optional? I noticed that some wore their hats while others did not.

2—Is it a breach of etiquette for a young lady to shake hands with gloved hands? With an older person, with a younger person?

3—Is it necessary to tip the head waitress who draws your chair for you and fills your water glass each day? If so, how much?

4—What is the usual tip left for one's waitress after one week?

5—If a child of 10 is in the party, does one tip the waitress for the child? How much for the child?

6—What is the usual tip left the room maid for one week?

7—Do you tip the elevator man and, if so, how much after one week?

8—What is the usual tip given to the porter for one or more bags carried from one's car to their room? C.

1—If a woman wishes to be considered "well bred," an "accustomed traveler" and all of those things that indicate that she knows what's what, she will wear her hat when she goes into the breakfast room or luncheon room at a hotel. Just as she will wear her hat when she goes into the dining-car of a train. There's something distinctly "hick" about a woman who does not wear her hat when she comes into a hotel room, to have breakfast or luncheon (or dinner, too, if she is alone and is informally dressed, as she probably will be if she is alone).

2—A woman is not required by etiquette to remove her glove when she shakes hands, either with an older person or with a younger person.

3—Headwaiters and headwaitresses aren't tipped as often as regular waiters or waitresses, but if we want or have had special attention from them, or if we stop at this hotel or eat in this restaurant often, it is well to tip them. Also (as indicated in your fifth question), if there is a child in the party, it will probably need some special attention, and the headwaitress might make this easier. A dollar a week would be a fairly generous fee, or 50 cents if you think this dollar will add too much to your tip sum.

4—This, as I have said, depends on all of the things we have mentioned. If all of one's meals are taken in the dining room, and if one has the same waitress for all of them, $1 a week would, I should think, be a distinct minimum, with $2 nearer a "norm."

5—Yes, the waitress should be tipped for the child . . . usually, as a matter of fact, the child needs as much attention, sometimes more, than an adult. So the tip would be about as much, perhaps a little less, depending on the extra service needed.

6—The tip for the chambermaid would be from $1 to $1.50.

7—The elevator man might be given a half dollar at the end of the week. Their wages aren't regulated so much in proportion to "expected fees" as are waitresses and chambermaids and porters.

8—Ten cents, 15 cents or a quarter, if there is only one bag. A quarter or 50 cents if there are several and he has to make more than one trip.

What to Say

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What should one say when a person says, "I am very glad I met you?" E.

"Thank you. I am very glad to have met you too." Or, "Thank you. I am very happy to have met you too," or "Thank you. It has been such a pleasure to have met you too," or "Thank you. I am very glad to have met you too. I hope that I am to see you again soon."

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Fall colors for coats and frocks call for light shades of powder and rouge that carries a blue or purple cast. That's what "they" say.

Soap suds roll from the surface of hair that has been overbleached, can't get a toehold. The egg shampoo performs in a more friendly manner. For the ordinary head of bobbed hair use seven or eight eggs. Fluff slightly with a fork, add a tablespoonful of cold water. Rinse the hair, use half the egg mixture, friction to a foam, apply the rest of the eggs and rinse again. Finish with a bowlful of tepid water to which the juice of three lemons has been added.

Hard water is death on a delicate complexion. Starts up a state of desquamation that no make-up will conceal. Combat its evil effects by using oatmeal with soap suds when washing the face. Make a lather in the palms of the hands, pour a tablespoonful of oatmeal, scour the face gently. The starchy element in the meal acts as a soothing agent when the epidermis is sensitive. Follow along with a gentle patting of cold cream, remove cream with a bit of soft linen, fluff on the powder

Faces are changing all the time; they're pretty much what people make them. The woman who flies a fit when things go wrong is contributing to beauty wreckage. Unpleasant emotions rake their toll, mark lines on the human portrait. They do worse than that, they retard circulation, chill the skin, increase heart beats, play havoc with the digestive organs. Emotional control is the greatest of all cosmetics. It creates a feeling of self-respect, keeps spring in the step, youthfulness in the lines of the figure.

WILD CARGO

By FRANK BUCK

With EDWARD ANTHONY

I assigned this boy, who knew every inch of the district, to the task of locating a pair for me. It would have been foolish to undertake the job myself for I had only a day at Ambonia.

My boat was scheduled to leave the following afternoon and if I missed it I would be stranded until the next boat came in 15 days later.

The half-caste eagerly accepted the assignment. The prospect of picking up a little money appealed to him. Within a few hours I had purchased a double-wattled female which he had located for me, and, accompanied by him, was on the way to call on a native on the outskirts of the village, who had a big male. This was a splendid bird, the half-caste assured me, but the native wanted too much money for it, and perhaps I had better do the negotiating myself.

A HARD TASK

We soon reached the native's house and I started dickering with him for his cassowary, which was loose in a stockade in back of the house. It was a fine bird, weighing about 200 pounds and plainly in excellent condition. The deal closed, we hastily threw together a bamboo crate suitable for shipping my purchase.

The next move was to drive the cassowary into the crate. The owner, unwilling to undertake this alone, asked us to help him. Soon the three of us were inside the stockade trying to drive the big ungainly creature toward the open door of the crate which we had placed in one corner of the stockade.

Anyone that has ever tried to shoo a turkey in any given direction knows what a job we had. For the cassowary, combining orneriness and stupidity in a remarkable degree, possesses the same kind of unresponsiveness — only you must multiply it by 20 or 30.

We went round and round the stockade (a square enclosure measuring about 40 feet on each side), the cassowary showing no intention of entering the crate. Every once in a while he would suddenly stop in his tracks and face us, ruffling up his plumes and bristling all over by way of announcing that he didn't like this game we were playing.

BIRD ATTACKS

At such moments I would wave at him the heavy bamboo pole (a leftover from the crate) which I had taken with me when I entered the stockade. This would have the effect of making the silly-looking bird swing around and start off again.

After about 20 minutes of jockeying we got the cassowary directly in front of the open crate. The boy, eager to get the job over with and collect his fee, foolishly tried to shove the bird through the opening. The big ostrich-like creature whirled around and struck straight out with one foot in the peculiar attacking style of his species, digging his murderous middle claw into the half-caste's side below the ribs and ripping downward, laying the poor boy's intestines wide open.

Then, his feathers fairly quivering, the crazy creature prepared to rush at me. Yelling to the native to look after the moaning half-caste, who lay stretched out on the ground, I backed away, tightening my grip on the stout bamboo pole. My problem was to smach that bird in the right place.

If I hit him on the head or the neck (that stick of bamboo was about 2½ inches in diameter and capable of dealing a terrible blow) I'd have a dead specimen on my hands. There is only one place to hit a cassowary if you want to stun him without ruining him—and that is on the side under the wing. If my aim wasn't good I had a fairly good chance of having one of those villainous claws dug into me.

WOUND IS FATAL

These things flashed through my mind as I poised myself to meet the bird's rush. As he sailed in I dealt him a healthy wallop—in the right place. He went over in a heap, scrambling to his feet, a much chastened bird, a few seconds later.

A creature of this kind never fights back as an animal does in a similar situation. Once smacked hard enough, he is willing to call it a day.

It was now an easy matter to work the bird toward the crate and drive him in. I couldn't do this fast enough, for I was sick over what had happened to that boy and I wanted to reach him with as little loss of time as possible.

I regret to report that there was little I could do for the poor lad except pay for his funeral. He died before medical aid could reach him. The native of whom I had bought the cassowary agreed, after much urging, to look after the body. This was my saddest experience in bird collecting.

HIGHER LIVING STANDARD FOR NEGRO URGED

The next big movement for the Negro will be the formation of an economic policy designed to solidify and raise the living standard of the 12,000,000 in this country, Dr. R. R. Wright, Jr., president of Wilberforce University, Xenia, O., said yesterday.

Explaining the purpose of a university for Negroes of the North, Dr. Wright, former clergyman, banker, newspaper editor and teacher, declared it gave the youth something not available in other universities or in books.

OWN EXPERIENCE

He said:

"I recall when I was taking graduate work at the University of Chicago, my professor told me I was the brightest in the class—the brightest Negro he had met. I wasn't fooled, because I knew when I went to a school for Negroes I generally kept toward the middle of my class, and that there were always many smarter than I.

"But therein lies the secret—if a youth at another university is told the same thing, he might believe it, and either when he is graduated becomes of no use to the members of his race because he feels above them, or is forced by conditions to take an elevator job, and becomes easily crushed.

"The object of a school for Negroes is to teach them what is not in the books as much as what is. The student must know that he has to have confidence, that he has a field of 12,000,000 waiting for him—that 12,000,000 must have banks, schools, stores, churches. They must have political, economic, social leadership."

NEED SELF-RESPECT

"Negro students must learn individually, among their own. Negro teachers and fellow pupils aid in preparing them for a fuller service.

"There is a mass education necessary by which is taught self-respect for themselves and theirs; they must be taught to make use of their solidarity. They'll need to know of the people who were theirs, such as Sylvia Wheatley, who as a young girl was sold as a slave in a Boston block—before the Revolutionary War. Living with a family named Wheatley, she learned English, Latin, Greek. She wrote beautifully, her many fine poems exciting the admiration of George Washington and many others. A young student won't find mention of her in any book in the general run of universities.

"The youth who does not learn to honor the worthwhile people of his race when he gets out in life will not follow the political, religious, social and industrial leadership nor be able to furnish it."

Dr. Wright spoke of the educational plans to develop a social and economic structure among the Negroes of the nation through their 20,000 churches.

He was the guest here of Robert L. Vann, Pittsburgh editor, and attended the football game in Greenlee Field between Wilberforce and West Virginia State.

TWO MEN FREED IN METZ CASE

Former Constables Jacob Esau, of Neville Township, and William Berg, of Avalon, were free today of conspiracy and extortion charges on suspended sentences granted by Judge James H. Gray.

They pleaded no defense in connection with charges on which Justice of the Peace William G. Metz, of Kennedy Township, was sentenced to serve two years in the workhouse earlier in the week. Metz was convicted by a jury before Visiting Judge R. R. Lewis, of Potter County, after Berg and Esau had entered pleas and assisted in the state's case.

Judge Gray said the evidence did not show Berg and Esau had knowledge of the manner in which Metz was alleged to levy liquor case fines which exceeded the sums turned over to the county.

CITY AIDS FREE COAL SERVICE

Members of the Thirty-first Ward Non-Political Welfare Association today were assured City Council would aid them financially in distribution of free coal to the needy in the district. Lee Kuenzig, representing the association, informed Council there are 21 practical miners engaged in mining coal from a private mine in the Thirty-first Ward.

The coal, Kuenzig said, has been delivered to 104 families and two churches. Three hundred tons have been mined in the last few weeks. Council ordered a resolution drawn providing for $500 to buy gasoline and oil for the trucks donated for the work and to pay other incidental expenses. The men digging the coal are working gratis.

Barn Fire Causes $10,000 Damage

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 25.—Nineteen head of cattle, one horse, 10 hogs and a large quantity of hay and grain were burned when fire destroyed the barn of Homer Chamberlin last night. Damage of $10,000 resulted.

Claim May Swell Screen Star's Estate

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—There was a possibility today the estate of Lya de Putti, Hungarian screen star, would be swelled by $15,000 through an amicable settlement with H. Walter Blumenthal, banker.

Although no claim against him was made by the public administrator when he filed his accounting in Surrogate's Court, Nicholas Phillips, special guardian for Miss de Putti's two small children, said Blumenthal owed the money under a contract entered into with the actress.

Young Wife Slain, Husband Hunted

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Orville Jennings, 21-year-old packing plant employe, was sought by police today in connection with the slaying of his 18-year-old estranged wife, Ethel, shot to death in a parked motor car in front of a home where she attended a Thanksgiving party.

The body, with two revolver wounds in the head, was found early today. Mrs. Jennings was the mother of a 11-months-old boy. She left her husband two months ago.

'Political Bishops' Critic Reinstated

ATLANTA, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The North Georgia conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today reinstated the Rev. Rembert G. Smith, who was suspended a year ago on charges of "gross imprudence and high unministerial conduct." The pastor had frequently criticized bishops and other dignitaries for what he called their "political activities" in the presidential campaign of 1928.

100 Jobless, Police Clash at Eviction

TORONTO, Nov. 25.—(INS.)—A hundred unemployed neighbors of Joseph Bennett rallied to his support and repulsed police, sheriffs and special constables who had attempted to dispossess him today.

A broken glass stormdoor and a police cordon to maintain order among the unemployed gathered to assist him, were evidence of the clash which left Bennett still in possession of his property, for which he owes a year's interest and taxes.

Pennsy Asks Ban On Crossing Use

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 25.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, through Yardmaster J. B. Maley, of East Liverpool, today asked the Columbiana County Court here to grant an injunction, restraining J. E. White and others representing the Montour Railroad Company from using three grade crossings of public highways. The Clay Products Railway Company and the Pittsburgh Coal Company also are named in the suit.

Hofstadter Hearings Resume Next Week

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter announced today that public hearings of the joint legislative committee appointed to investigate the city administration would be resumed next Tuesday.

Only evidence having to do with constructive suggestions regarding the city government will be presented at the hearings. It is expected that there will be about 10 hearings in all, three to be held each week.

BRIDE MOURNS SLAIN HUSBAND

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 25.—A bride of a month today mourned beside the casket of her 21-year-old husband, Charles Cinelli, in the four-room home at Atlasburg in which they started their matrimonial venture. The husband, a machinist at the Atlasburg mine of the Carnegie Coal Company, was beaten to death yesterday during a wedding celebration, state police say.

While Mrs. Mary Cinelli was at the home of her mother, Mrs. Peter Pettroti, in Slovan, the husband, with Pete Prosso, a friend, took their guitars and went to a nearby home, where a wedding celebration was in its fourth day.

According to state police, there was a quarrel and Cinelli was struck over the head with an iron bar. Cinelli, found in the street, was carried to his home. State police arrested Prosso, who is reported to have said Cinelli had trouble with Steve Bonderis at the wedding. Bonderis was arrested after Cinelli died in Washington Hospital early today.

Helper on Truck Run Over, Dies

William Flynn, 25, of 37 Hazelwood avenue, a delivery truck helper, died Wednesday in the Montefiore Hospital from injuries received Monday when he jumped off the truck and was run over, according to a report to the Coroner today.

Flynn, assistant to William Persley, leaped when the truck was in motion and suffered internal injuries.

J. D. Hitchman Dead; Mt. Pleasant Banker

MT. PLEASANT, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—John D. Hitchman, 62, president of the Citizens Savings and Trust Company, of Mt. Pleasant, and for two terms Controller of Westmoreland County, died suddenly today in Frick Memorial Hospital.

Hitchman was a former captain of Company E and Headquarters Company of the 110th Infantry.

50-Lb. Fish Landed By Hyde in Battle

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde landed a 50-pound, 7 feet 2-inch sail fish in the Gulf Stream off Fort Lauderdale yesterday after a 50-minute fight.

NEW LIGHT ON SORE THROAT

That Brings Relief In Minutes In Place Of Days

Eases All Pain, Soreness, Rawness In 2 Or 3 Minutes

Proves Only Medicine Helps A Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes.

Results are among the most extraordinary in medical science. On doctors' advice, millions are following this way . . . discarding old-time "washes" and "antiseptics." For it has been found that only medicine can help a sore throat.

Simple To Do. All you do is crush and dissolve three BAYER Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water. Gargle with it twice—as pictured above. If you have any indication of a cold—before gargling take 2 Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a full glass of water. This is to combat any signs of cold that have gone into your system. Keep on taking if cold has a "hold." For Genuine Bayer Aspirin will not harm you. Your doctor will tell you, it does not depress the heart. Get a box of 12 or a bottle of 100 at any drug store.

Reduces Infection, Eases Pain Instantly. Gargling with Bayer Aspirin will do three things: Relieve soreness at once. Allay inflammation. AND—reduce infection; which is the important thing in fighting a sore throat.

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways. Results are quick and amazing.

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin Tablets for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles. Watch this when you buy.

PITT SET FOR STANFORD

SPORT COMMENT

By James J. Long

East Lifts Coast Spell. | Irish Will Need Spark.
Colgate's Strong Finish. | Ruth Draws Criticism.
Good Season for Dukes. | Jeby's Title Not Clear.

TRADITION NO LONGER AGAINST PITT

A BREAK IN tradition offers hope for the success of the Panthers against Pop Warner and his Stanford gridders at the Stadium tomorrow. For the tide has shifted in favor of the East this year after a long series of failures in attempts to turn back invaders from the Pacific coast. Seven straight times after the visits of the Far Westerners to the East became a regular thing in 1927, the Atlantic division took it on the chin. In 1927 Stanford trounced Army, 26 to 0. In 1928 Oregon State defeated New York U., 25 to 13. In 1930 California beat Penn, 12 to 7; Washington State toppled Villanova, 13 to 0, and St. Mary's downed Fordham, 20 to 12. Last year Stanford walloped Dartmouth, 32 to 6, and Oregon tripped New York U., 14 to 6.

Pop Warner

But the tune changed this season, when Fordham turned back St. Mary's 14 to 0 and then nosed out Oregon State, 8 to 6, so at least tradition will not be against Pitt tomorrow. Besides, the Panthers are due to click for a full game. They haven't been keyed up to the right pitch since the Notre Dame battle. Nothing less than that will win.

IT WAS AN impressive final performance that Colgate turned in, by routing the Brown Bears 21 to 0, to round out its perfect record and become the first major team since the Pitt Panthers of 1910 to go through a season without being scored on.

At the same time, when schedules are considered, there's a lot of credit coming to Brown and Tuss McLaughry. Meeting Yale, [illegible], Harvard, Holy Cross and Columbia on successive Saturdays, the Bears, like Pitt, never had a chance for a let-down.

WHILE CARNEGIE TECH was losing a creditable struggle to N. Y. U., 13 to 6, Pittsburgh had two of the hardest fought games on the Thanksgiving Day card, with Duquesne nosing out Geneva through Silvio Zaninelli's field goal, and Wilberforce and West Virginia State playing a scoreless tie.

Another excellent season goes to the credit of the Dukes and Elmer Layden in a finish that shows seven wins and a tie against two defeats. Geneva and Howard Harpster also may feel proud of their record. In the three games they lost, their opponents scored only 16 points.

THEIR ANNUAL MEETING long ranked as one of the high spots of the football season, Notre Dame and Army give promise of an even harder fight than usual in their New York clash tomorrow. Each beaten only by Pitt this season, the rival teams have since been pointing for this particular engagement, the Irish to get revenge for the unexpected defeat they suffered in the 1931 renewal, and the Cadets to achieve a feat they have never been able to accomplish, that of downing the South Benders two years in succession. So far this season, Notre Dame has lacked the spark needed to turn on its unquestioned power. The Irish may find the missing spark tomorrow. If they do, they can win. If they don't, their Pittsburgh experience may be repeated, for no ordinary game will beat the West Point fighters.

Maj. Ralph Sasse.

THE ARMY-NOTRE DAME rivalry started in 1913, when the famous Dorais-Rockne forward-passing combination surprised the East with a 35-to-13 Irish victory. The only break in the meantime occurred in 1918, due to the war. Of the 18 games played, Notre Dame won 12 and the Army five, while the meeting of 1922 resulted in a scoreless tie.

Despite Notre Dame's wide margin of victories, the scoring difference has not been great, the Irish having an advantage of only 25 points, with a total of 192 to 167 for the Cadets. Maj. Ralph Sasse, nearing the end of his coaching term, has broken even in two games.

YOU MAY TAKE Cleveland's word for it that the football fans of the Pittsburgh district are in for a new treat next fall when Navy appears here for the first time on October 14 for a battle with Pitt.

The Middies sold themselves to Cleveland for all time, critics there declare, by the way they fought against Notre Dame last Saturday, with two remarkable goal line stands featuring their efforts. The game went over so big with 70,000 spectators that the city is already making overtures to have the meeting staged there again in 1933.

BABE RUTH made himself the target of considerable criticism by major league men when he devoted the greater part of a recent talk in Connecticut to telling his listeners that baseball was slipping sadly and no longer was developing stars. It is being pointed out to Ruth that a game able to pay him $75,000 a year can hardly be in its dotage, and as far as the development of new stars is concerned, a few exhibits of 1932 offered in contradiction of Babe's remarks are Jimmy Foxx, Lon Warneke, Lefty Gomez, Johnny Allen, Monte Weaver, Dizzy Dean, Harry Davis, George Davis, Floyd Vaughan, Art Scharein, Ed Coleman, Ducky Medwick, Joe Moore, Bill Urbanski and Jim Collins.

AND THOSE ARE only part of the crop that sparkled last season, some of them only first-year men and others up longer but just finding their strides. Baseball, it is held, demands more and more of a player, and the standard keeps rising.

As one veteran observes, it is no longer possible for a defensively strong infielder to get by with a batting average of .250. And the .350 hitter who used to hold on through power, though unable to catch a fly, now must be able to field as well as hit.

THOUGH REFUSING TO part with Outfielder Gerald Walker, reported as due to figure in a trade, the Detroit management admits a willingness to swap Pitcher Earl Whitehill, the other Tiger mentioned repeatedly in deal rumors, provided the material desired can be obtained in exchange for him.

Ben Jeby

Whitehill, a left-hander, was on the Pirate roster back in 1920, but was shipped back to the minors. He has been with Detroit steadily since 1924, and last season won 12 games in a row despite a total of 36 errors behind him during the dozen contests. He is reported to be in bad with Tiger fans because of displays of temper during losing games.

REALIZING THAT RECOGNITION of Ben Jeby by the New York commission as middleweight champion on the strength of his victory over Chick Devlin will not carry much weight with the boxing public until Jeby has defeated Marcel Thil, Jimmy Johnston is trying to induce the Frenchman to come over and meet Jeby in a match to clear up the title. So far, Thil has not given a definite answer. There is no doubt that Marcel has a stronger claim to the 160-pound crown than Jeby or anybody else, as he defeated Vince Dundee when the latter was the foremost American candidate and also whipped Gorilla Jones, N. B. A. champion, and Len Harvey.

JONES STOPS PURVIS

AKRON, O., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Gorilla Jones, of Akron, former middleweight champion, last night knocked out Joe Purvis, of Indianapolis, in the third round of a scheduled 10-round boxing match. Purvis went down for the count of nine in the second but Jones seemed to be taking his time about putting the Hoosier fighter away.

KILBOURNE WINS

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Jack Kilbourne, Australian middleweight, won a decision over Abie Bain, of Newark, N. J., in the eight-round feature bout of a boxing show last night. Kilbourne scaled 161, Bain 169½. Bain took heavy punishment, but was not in danger of a knockout at any time.

By JULIUS LEVIN

A bombshell will be thrown into the annual fall meeting of the W. P. I. A. L. football committee when that body gathers in the Fort Pitt Hotel tomorrow to grant hearings to all teams having championship claims.

The football committee, headed by John G. Hulton, superintendent of Latrobe schools, had anticipated a quiet session inasmuch as the list of contenders for the various championships had been reduced to a point where there would have been no difficulty in selecting worthy champions in all of the three classes sponsored by the league.

GAME THROWN OUT

The decisions' committee of the league, however, today announced that Raymond Korowicki, a substitute tackle on the New Kensington High School squad, was ineligible to play against McKeesport and as a result the 6-6 tie between these two schools has been thrown out and McKeesport awarded a victory by forfeit.

The ruling of the decisions' board, which is composed of B. B. Smith, Connellsville; F. C. Gillespie, Duquesne; D. H. Stewart, Beaver; H. W. Crane, Monongahela, and Meyers B. Horner, Washington, gives McKeesport the right to join New Castle and Jeannette in the scramble for the class AA Conference championship. Mr. Crane, president of the league and a member of the decisions' committee, said in a telephone conversation last night:

"It was brought to the attention of the decisions' committee that Raymond Korowicki, an ineligible tackle on the New Kensington squad, was used against McKeesport in their Conference game, which ended in a 6-6 tie. The decisions' committee, after reviewing the facts in the case, decided to throw out the tie game and award McKeesport a victory by forfeit. It is now up to McKeesport authorities to present their claim for championship recognition to the football committee at its meeting in the Fort Pitt Hotel."

AMBRIDGE WINS TITLE

While the situation in the class AA Conference has developed into a three-cornered fight for the title as a result of the ruling, the chase for the class A crown is over, with Ambridge assured of the laurels. This became a reality yesterday when New Brighton High handed Beaver Falls its first setback of the season in the annual Turkey Day contest between the two schools at Beaver Falls, 7-0. Eddie Mujwit, New Brighton back, caught the opening kickoff on his own 20-yard line and ran 80 yards for the only touchdown. A crowd of 10,000 saw the struggle.

Ambridge, the new champion, scored nine straight victories, the Associated Press.

By winning the Pacific Coast Conference championship yesterday, the University of Southern California virtually is assured of defending the honors of the Far West in the annual Rose Tournament game at Pasadena January 2.

It has been the policy of Rose Tournament officials to pick the Conference champions for the game provided they are willing to accept. There is no reason to believe the Trojans will not snap up the chance.

Southern California has appeared in three Rose Tourament games, winning all of them. Syracuse, Pittsburgh and Tulane were the victims. The Trojans beat Tulane this year.

While no official statement has been made, it is understood the Trojan authorities favor Michigan, Colgate, Auburn or Pittsburgh of the potential Eastern candidates, although another team might move into the picture after tomorrow's games.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF WEDNESDAY (NO ISSUE YESTERDAY, THANKSGIVING DAY): THE AMERICAN BIRD—The turkey has been misnamed. It has nothing to do with the country of Turkey, but originated in the New World. The turks refer to it correctly as the "American Bird." THE MOTHER OF THANKSGIVING—The first President to have issued a Thanksgiving Day Proclamation was George Washington, who, on October 3, 1789, set aside the last Thursday in November of the year as a day of Thanksgiving. The next President to do so was President Lincoln, in 1863. This act was brought about by the intensive campaign of Sara Josepha Hale, the editor of Godey's Ladies' Book. Mrs. Hale devoted 17 years to a most intensive activity for making Thanksgiving Day a permanent institution. All during that time she indefatigably solicited the aid of Presidents, Governors, Senators, Congressmen, and others in public life, until Lincoln, yielding to her entreaties, issued the proclamation of 1863. The year after, Congress, yielding to Mrs. Hale's agitation, declared the last Thursday in November the Thanksgiving Day and it has been proclaimed ever since with only one exception, in 1865.

CANUCK WINS BERWICK RACE

BERWICK, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Speeding up after having run more than eight miles and apparently out of the picture as winner, Will McCluskey, sturdy Canadian, representing the Monarch A. C., of Toronto, yesterday burned across the finish line to win the twenty-third running of the Berwick modified marathon.

Forty yards behind Enio Pentti, New York plugger, as the pack came into the last half-mile of the 9¼-mile grind, it seemed McCluskey must be content with second position.

The Canadian however suddenly released a driving sprint, passed the New Yorker, and flashed across the finish line 40 yards in the van. His time of 49 minutes 9 seconds was more than a minute slower than the 47:56 3-5 record set up by Willie Ritola 10 years ago.

Another New Yorker, Bill Steiner, unattached, was third, and Frank Nordell, New York University, was fourth.

The 1931 winner, Louis Gregory, of Rochester, N. Y., was one of a dozen who failed to finish. Frank Cerney, Pittsburgh, was eighth; Paul Kanaly, Boston, son of the Yale University track coach, ninth, and tenth place went to Paul DeBruyn, New York, German Olympic team member and 1932 Boston marathon winner.

VOIGT MARRIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—George Voigt, the amateur golfer, and Miss Ruth Flaton, of New York, were married yesterday. The Rev. Howard Yergin performed the ceremony in the presence of a few relatives.

FIVE W. AND J. STARS HURT

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 25.—Expectations that full strength would be available for the final clash of the year have gone haywire in the W. & J. grid camp and the Presidents will oppose West Virginia University at Wheeling tomorrow with at least five regulars slated for little action.

John Fife, guard, and Armstrong, tackle, are nursing injuries that will likely keep them on the bench throughout and Bert Gray, center, Bob Fife and Carl Johnson, ends, are expected to see little action.

Coach Hank Day faces the imposing task of perking up his varsity, untangling the offensive and bracing the defense. Both have bogged down in recent games and unless there is a complete reversal of form in both departments, the Presidents are likely to find themselves in trouble the greater part of the battle.

Nebraska Wins; Keep Slate Clean

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The Cornhuskers repulsed a valiant Missouri drive and, with the aid of sparkling offensive work by diminutive Chris Mathis, defeated the Tigers, 21 to 6, yesterday to keep the Nebraska Big Six Conference football slate clean.

The Tuskers won the championship for the second consecutive year by downing Oklahoma, 5 to 0 last Saturday. The victory yesterday gave Nebraska a record of no Conference defeats. The 17,000 spectators saw six Huskers in their last home battle.

RIVALS PRIMED FOR BATTLE TOMORROW

By JESS CARVER

Hidden away from prying eyes in a country retreat, Pitt's Golden Panthers await the intersectional test with Stanford's Indians tomorrow, in the best condition, both mentally and physically, they've been in since before the Notre Dame game. The Panthers look ready to go.

Even if they were running around on crutches, you'd have to concede this Pitt eleven a great chance against the Indians tomorrow because of the boys' mental attitude. They've got the old fire and dash back, or seem to have, and they are as grimly determined to take Stanford tomorrow as they were to beat Notre Dame, and those of you who sat in on their splendid triumph over the Ramblers know that they were primed that day.

SEBASTIAN IN HOSPITAL

The one worry in the Pitt camp concerns the condition of the two right halfbacks, Capt. Bulldog Reider and Mike Sebastian. If it were left to him, the Bulldog would be in there all afternoon, but his injury has failed to respond to treatment and the peppery little fellow is a very, very doubtful factor. Sebastian, suffering, along with Heller and two or three other members of the varsity, with a severe cold, is hidden away in a hospital, more to make sure that he'll get the proper care than anything else. They expect to have him ready by tomorrow afternoon and he figures to start the game.

Out at Shady Side Academy with the "No Visitors Sign" up, the Stanford eleven is resting up after its long trip across the continent, just as determined to win tomorrow's clash and maintain its high rating in intersectional competition.

The Indians have been punched about in their own territory this year three times, which is three times too many to suit the players and Coach Pop Warner. Besides, they were held to a tie by California last week. They figure they can retrieve gobs of lost prestige by knocking off the Panthers, leaders in the East, and they'll leave no stone unturned in seeking to carry out their plans for twisting the Panther's tail.

PITT HOLDS DRILL

Yesterday, the Pitts made a surprise return to the city for a morning workout in the Stadium. Then they attended the Duquesne-Geneva game and, after supper, went back to the country. They'll remain in hiding until time to come to the Stadium tomorrow.

Stanford also drilled yesterday morning, took in the battle at Forbes Field and will hold another workout this morning, possibly coming into the Stadium for a light session this afternoon.

In the event Sebastian is unable to carry on tomorrow, Dick Matesic, southpaw halfback, will take his place. They are not counting much on Reider.

In yesterday's drill, Coach Sutherland alternated Ted Dailey and Harvey Rooker at left end, and replaced Miller Mungas at quarterback with Bob Hogan. Hogan's size and weight and his superior booting ability are figured to be a big asset to Pitt against the heavy Stanford team. Rooker played such fine ball against Tech last week that he may win the starting assignment. He's big and tall, something very, very necessary against the Indians.

The Indians are hoping for a dry field, so that their intricate and tricky offense can click. If it's wet tomorrow, the Indians are going to be greatly handicapped, for they have not seen a soggy gridiron this fall and admit they can't do much on treacherous footing.

The Old Fox has a few worries himself concerning his backfield, so Jock hasn't a thing on him in that respect. Where Pitt is shaky at right halfback, Pop has both his first and second string fullbacks, Hillman and Baker, on the hospital list.

REFEREE DIES ON FIELD

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—John J. (Jack) Greer, former all-round athlete at Georgetown and Catholic Universities, fell dead yesterday while refereeing a football game between Upper Darby and Haverford High Schools.

Several thousand spectators, among them his wife and 18-year-old son, Jack, Jr., saw him fall soon after carrying the ball from one end of the Upper Darby High School Athletic Field to the other for the start of the second quarter.

Doctors said death was due to a heart attack.

Greer, who was 43, was district manager for a school book company. In recent years he had turned out winning schoolboy football teams—first at Catholic High School in Philadelphia and later at Salesianum in Wilmington, Del.

COACH TO GIVE ANSWERS ON AIR TONIGHT

Here's the good news for the lucky contestants in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's big Pop Warner Radio Question contest, conducted in conjunction with the Stanford mentor's All-America Board of Football-Postum Show over a nationwide hookup from WJAS tonight.

From approximately 15,000 letters, telegrams and other messages submitted, Warner yesterday selected the questions which appealed to him most, and designated the winners of the 10 sets of two football tickets each for the Pitt-Stanford game at the Stadium tomorrow and six beautiful All-America Board football blankets.

COMMITTEE AIDS POP

The selections were made at Shady Side Academy, with Stanford players and an informal committee consisting of Dr. W. D. McClelland, Dr. Edward (Jake) Stahl and Dr. George McLaren, all former Pitt stars, and Harry Keck, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, assisting.

The questions selected will be answered for fans throughout the land when Warner goes on the air at 9 o'clock tonight, following the testimonial banquet in honor of himself and Dr. Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach, at the Schenley Hotel. The broadcast will be from the studio of WJAS, with Christy Walsh, originator of the All-America Board, putting the questions to Pop. Tickets for the winners are in the mail, special delivery and registered. The blankets may be obtained by calling at the sports department of the Sun-Telegraph or will be shipped if requested.

WINNERS SCATTERED

The winners are widely spread throughout the Western Pennsylvania area. Four of the ticket winners reside in Pittsburgh, and one each in Charleroi, Coraopolis, New Castle, Carnegie, Apollo and Rochester.

Pittsburgh had only one of the blanket winners. The others were won by contestants in Rochester, Verona, Mt. Lebanon, Derry and Sewickley.

Two of the prize winners were women. Each receives a blanket award.

Following are the winners (listen in for their prize-winning questions on tonight's broadcast):

W. Va. Wesleyan Loses to Marshall

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Playing masterful football before a homecoming day crowd, the Thundering Herd of Marshall College stampeded over the West Virginia Wesleyan Bobcats, 22 to 0, yesterday.

The Bobcats started off strong, keeping the game in Marshall territory for most of the first quarter, but in the second period Marshall speeded up its offense, scoring the first of three touchdowns.

Zontini, speedy little halfback for the Herd, accounted for all of the touchdowns, two of them by spectacular runs of nearly half the length of the field.

Warner Selects Winners in Contest

DR. EDWARD (JAKE) STAHL HARRY KECK

DR. W. D. M'CLELLAND DR. GEORGE M'LAREN GLENN (POP) WARNER

Coach Warner, of Stanford, and an informal committee of former Pitt stars and the sports editor of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph selecting the winners in the Sun-Telegraph's All-America Board of Football-Postum radio question contest at Shady Side Academy. The questions will be answered by Warner on his nation-wide hookup from WJAS tonight.

BANQUET POP, JOCK TONIGHT

They'll gather around again tonight, will those Pitt men, gather around to toast the Old Fox, Coach Glenn Scobey (Pop) Warner, of Stanford, the man who made football history here at Pitt before he went to the Coast, and who has been an outstanding figure in the game of football for well-nigh half a century.

The gathering, sponsored by the Varsity Letter Club of Pitt, will take place at the Schenley Hotel, the first course being scheduled to appear on the table at 6 o'clock. Pop and his former pupil and successor, Coach Jock Sutherland, of Pitt, will be the honor guests.

What a dazzling collection of former Pitt greats will be on hand. Harvey Harman and Alex Fox, now at Penn, will be there, along with Tommy Davies, of Rochester U.; Mike Getto, of Kansas; Luby DiMeolo, of New York University; Jack Harding and Eddie Hirshberg, of St. Thomas; Lloyd Jordan, of Amherst; Andy Kerr, of Colgate; Charley Bowser, of Bowdoin; Herb McCracken, of Lafayette; Jimmy DeHart, of Wash-Lee, and Ralph Chase, at Ursinus, as well as other famous Panthers of years gone by not engaged in the coaching business, luminaries such as Dr. Hube Wagner, Homer Roe, Floyd Rose, Andy Hastings, George McLaren, Tommy Holleran, Andy Cutler, Jack Sack, Dr. Jake Stahl, Dr. Bill McClelland and a host of others, as well as the present members of the Pitt coaching staff.

Warner is to be presented a suitable gift. The presentation will be made by Coach Sutherland.

CHRISTY WALSH . . . ALL-AMERICA BOARD ORIGINATOR

When Pop Warner, Stanford coach, answers questions asked him by readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph during the All-America Board of Football-Postum nationwide broadcast from WJAS tonight, Christy Walsh will be at the microphone with him, plying him with the queries. Walsh is the sponsor of the All-America Board, which annually selects the most authoritative all-America football teams for exclusive publication in the Sun-Telegraph.

SPORT VIGNETTES

One of the most interested listeners to the radio report of the Colgate-Brown game yesterday was Pop Warner, the Stanford coach, as he sat with a group of his players gathered about him at Shady Side Academy . . . Although he didn't say so, he was quietly rooting for Colgate, which is coached by Andy Kerr, former Pitt freshman coach, whom Pop sent to Stanford to prepare the foundation of the Warner system when he accepted the coaching job there two years before his contract with Pitt expired, just 10 years ago . . . Kerr is here for the Pitt-Stanford game tomorrow . . . The 21-0 victory over the hitherto unbeaten Bruins raised the Colgate stock sky-high for the invitation to represent the East in the Tournament of Roses game . . . Pitt will have to be equally as sensational tomorrow to beat out the Hamilton (N. Y.) eleven for the bid . . . Which sets up quite a problem for Kerr, who annually selects and coaches the All-East team for its game with the All-West team in San Francisco . . . Andy can't very well divide his attention between this game and a Rose Bowl game.

From Los Angeles comes a long letter written by Jack Perry, former local welterweight boxer, who reports that Guy Salerno, the middleweight he brought to Pittsburgh last winter, has been going great guns recently and can't get any of the Coast top-notchers to meet him . . . Perry believes the experience Guy picked up here has done him a lot of good . . . In his most recent start, Salerno won handily over Jack Charvez, who has boxed Sammy Slaughter, Ray Tramblie, Haakon Hansen and George Courtney . . . Jack plans to return here with Salerno within a few months and promises to show the fans a greatly improved performer.

Emmett Rocco, former Ellwood City heavyweight, is living on the Coast and training for a new campaign, according to Perry, who adds that the Wesley Ketchel-Ace Hudkins bout at Los Angeles next Tuesday night is a hot number and ought to gross $10,000, which is a big gate anywhere these days. —HARRY KECK.

FAST GRIDIRON STANFORD HOPE TOMORROW

By GLENN WARNER
Stanford Coach; Member All-America Board of Football.

California had two teams to throw against Stanford when we played last Saturday at Berkeley, and the greater reserve strength of Coach Bill Ingram's men was what kept us from winning.

The day was hot for November, the floor of the stadium holding the heat enough to leave many Stanford players limp as rags when the game was over.

Stanford had the best of the going in the first half and also in the second half until the last six minutes, when it was evident that California's superior reserve strength was telling.

PLAYED PERFECT GAME

In some respects the game was as perfect an exhibition as any I have ever seen. There were no blocked punts out of the 35 attempted, there were no mistakes in handling punts and neither side lost the ball on fumbles.

Regarding our game tomorrow with Pitt, there is no way to compare the two teams, except by their physical conditions. Stanford was weakened somewhat last week by influenza and the boys put forth such a supreme effort tieing California that it appears doubtful that they will be at their best against the Panthers.

Coach Jock Sutherland's team defeated Carnegie Tech in the rain and mud last Saturday in a contest which was really a breather for Pittsburgh despite the closeness of the score, 6 to 0. It is likely that the Panthers did not have to spend as much energy as did Stanford against California and will therefore be in better shape.

NEEDS DRY FIELD

Weather condtions may work a hardship on the Stanford offense, since it calls for a fast field for the successful execution of reverses. Stanford hasn't played on a muddy field this year, and if rain makes sure footing impossible tomorrow our boys will probably be up against it.

Our two previous Eastern invasions were made on corresponding Saturdays to tomorrow, the week-end following the game with California. We were fortunate enough against the Army and Dartmouth to produce our best football of the respective seasons, because of the psychology which was the aftermath of Stanford playing below expectations in the big games of those years.

The boys were out to redeem themselves. That is a notable fact. In tomorrow's game the psychology will have a different angle in that Stanford's players had to forsake so much physically against California and were rewarded with a tie.

When Pittsburgh came out to meet Stanford at Pasadena in 1927, the teams played one of the hardest games I have ever seen. Both were completely exhausted at the end.

JOCK WANTS GAME

Coach Sutherland, who succeeded me at Pitt, probably would rather beat me than any other coach in the business, and he will have his men well keyed up again tomorrow.

While Colgate may have a better record than Pittsburgh, it has not encountered such tough opposition. It is well understood throughout the country that the Panthers are the strongest team in the East. They are unbeaten, but have been tied.

I will be much surprised if Stanford wins tomorrow.

Fordham's showing against Oregon State last week gives us an example of the East's retaliation against recent Western domination. The Rams made it two in a row, having beaten St. Mary's the week before. It may be that the East's margin this year will be increased tomorrow.

TROJANS WIN COAST TITLE

SEATTLE, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Squeezing out a slim but sparkling 9-to-6 victory over a stubborn band of Washington Huskies on a mud-covered gridiron yesterday, Southern California Trojans finished their 1932 Pacific Coast Conference season undefeated.

The margin of victory came when Cal Clemens, a substitute halfback, dropped back in the second period to Washington's 19-yard line and sent a spectacular place-kick from a sharp angle between the uprights of the Husky goal posts.

A touchdown early in the fourth quarter gave the Southerners their seventeenth successive victory since their defeat at the hands of St. Mary's in their first contest last year. The lineup:

D.-E. DEFEATS BEARCATS, 14-6

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 25.—The game battle waged by the St. Vincent Bearcats against Davis-Elkins here yesterday, during which the Cats outplayed their West Virginia opponents for the greater part of the game, went for naught as the Hurricane took to the air to win, 14 to 6.

Davis-Elkins scored in the first period, a pass, Shelton to Tinney, putting the ball on the 10-yard line, Corzine, husky Hurricane fullback, plunged across for a touchdown.

The West Virginians tallied again in the third stanza when Vest passed to Fluharty for a score.

The Bearcats crossed the Hurricane goal in the second quarter, Flauto hurling a 54-yard pass to Johnson for the touchdown. Tinney booted two placement goals for extra points for Davis-Elkins. The lineup:

DAVIS-ELKINS—14.		ST. VINC.—6.

Dukes May Battle Jackets in '33

According to word yesterday from an authorative source, the Dukes will open their 1933 season with the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets, champions of the Tri-State Conference.

Present plans call for the game to be played under the lights at Forbes Field the evening of September 15.

ARMY FAVORED TO WIN OVER NOTRE DAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Untouched by the economic situation which has left bare huge sections of many of the country's big stadiums this season, Army and Notre Dame will renew their spectacular football rivalry before a capacity crowd in the Yankee Stadium tomorrow.

Not alone upon tradition does this annual classic base its tremendous public appeal, but also upon the high quality of football these two old rivals always display against one another. Poorly-played Army-Notre Dame games are a rarity.

Army, beaten only by the Pitt Panthers this season, rules a slight favorite over the Ramblers. Prevailing odds were 6 to 5, with prospects they would narrow to even money by game time.

Notre Dame's single reverse this season also was credited to the mighty Panthers, who held the Ramblers to a scoreless draw for three periods and then pushed over two touchdowns in rapid succession in the fourth quarter to win, 12-0.

Time of quarters—15 minutes.

The Dukes won a "pitchers'" battle from Geneva at Forbes Field yesterday afternoon as the rivals completed their 1932 campaigns, the local Irish downing a stubbornly fighting Covenanter eleven, 3 to 0. Silvio Zaninelli, Duquesne fullback, booted a placement goal with the ball on the Geneva seven-yard stripe with two minutes left to play in the final quarter. A holiday crowd of 15,000 witnessed the battle.

It was the second 3-to-0 triumph to be scored by the Red and Blue forces this season, West Virginia having been downed by an identical count while the season was yet a pup. The triumph enabled the locals to wind up a rigorous campaign in a blaze of glory and hang up a record of seven victories, two defeats and one tie. It also marked only the fourth time Duquesne has beaten Geneva in an even dozen games.

GAME AERIAL DUEL

The battle was a bruising one. Both elevens were primed for both needed and wanted a victory. Finding their running attacks more or less effectively checked by the sterling defensive play of the lines, the teams took to the air, with the Dukes establishing an edge over the Genevans in the heaving department of the contest. Harpster's men kept very much in hot water during the second half, when it appeared as though the Bluffites were going to ring the touchodwn bell any minute, saved themselves with some goal-line grabbing of Duquesne passes. In all, the Covenanters intercepted no fewer than seven of the 18 tosses made by Al DeLuca, who was heaving for the Dukes. Eight others were completed.

Geneva, touted as a fine forward passing team, tried 13 and completed seven, but were unable to penetrate very far into Red and Blue territory.

GENEVA WASTES CHANCE

Geneva secured and wasted the big scoring opportunity of the first half. Gramley intercepted a pass on the Dukes' 33-yard stripe. Shorty Trioana skirted left end for 10 yards, lost three on the next attempt and then Fullback Johnston regained it with a smash at tackle. Art Grahame, clever southpaw quarterback star, flipped a pass to Cliff Aultman for a first down on the Duquesne nine-yard mark. Johnston banged into the line for three, but Shorty Trioana lost the same number and Grahame fumbled a low pass from center, Steve Sinko recovering on his own 11-yard mark.

In the third period, Duquesne pushed the ball to Geneva's eight-yard mark, first down, only to lose it when Jones intercepted De Luca's pass intended for Krankota on the two.

Another bit of timely interception, again on the two-mark line, this time by Heffley, ruined another Duquesne threat as the final period opened.

DUKES STOPPED AGAIN

Grahame was the Johnny-on-the-spot the next time, pulling in a heave on the six-yard stripe. Again the Dukes took Grahame's punt, which was a fine 50-yard affair, and with DeLuca passing to Krankota for a 19-yard gain and Nussbaum and Strutt lugging the ball off the tackles, pushed to the Geneva seven, first down, only to lose the ball on downs when a forward pass was incomplete in fourth down.

The fourth Duquesne drive brought victory. Taking the ball on their own 45, De Luca hurled a long pass to Krankota that moved the pigskin 35 yards. He passed to DeCoster for 13 more, and Nussbaum, in two tries, carried it to the Geneva seven, from which point, on fourth down, Zaninelli booted his field goal.

The Dukes missed the presence in the lineup of Larry Sullivan, veteran quarterback, who was injured in the Catholic University game and is confined to the hospital. McDonald, hard-running Red and Blue halfback, turned in some fine runs in the first half, but was unable to get past the Geneva secondary. On the line, Capt. Abele, Krankota, Ciccone and Sinko stood out.

COOPER PLAYS WELL

Grahame passed and punted well, but was handicapped by poor passing of the ball by the Geneva centers. Capt. Sam Cooper, at right tackle, played a whale of a ball game on the defense. Cliff Aultman and Johnny Ifft, the Geneva wings, were brilliant on the defense.

Trioana, Geneva's speedy little halfback, threatened once or twice, but was pretty well bottled up by the Red and Blue defense. —JESS CARVER.

PENN VICTOR OVER CORNELL

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—One sudden burst of power late in a bitter battle blasted a faltering Cornell eleven yesterday and crowned Pennsylvania's erratic season with a 13-to-7 victory in the annual Thanksgiving Day tussle of two of the East's oldest rivals.

Out of a fire burning dangerously high as the minutes ticked away, the Quaker quarterback, Don Kellett pulled the brand with three short passes that demoralized the Big Red defense and left them standing in a group, waiting for another, as he raced alone the last four yards around an end for the deciding touchdown, and the first Pennsylvania victory in three years.

For a few brief minutes in the first quarter Viviano, Cornell's dynamic plunger and defensive back, ripped through the Penn forwards in the only sustained drive the Big Red could muster all day. The lineup:

CORNELL—7.	Pos.	PENN A.—13.
Wallace	L.E.	Hemeon
George	L.T.	Sokolis
Shaub	L.G.	Wilson
Brock	C.	Engle

NEGRO ELEVENS PLAY TIE

Before a turnout of more than 8,000 enthusiastic fans, the Wilberforce and West Virginia State football teams battled to a scoreless tie at Greenlee Field yesterday afternoon. Both elevens missed opportunities to score with the ball inside the three-yard line.

The two crack Negro elevens, renewing a rivalry which had its inception back in 1917, fought from start to finish. Wilberforce held an edge in the ground gaining and rolled up 11 first downs to eight for their opponents.

In the third period, West Virginia opened a drive that carried the ball to the Wilberforce six-inch line, only to lose it on downs. In the final period, Wilberforce engineered a 30-yard march that carried to the three-yard line, but lacked the drive to blast through the goal line.

Moore, at halfback for West Virginia, played a fine game, his fast-stepping making him a constant threat to the Wilberforce defense. Hary and Scurry starred for Wilberforce. The lineup:

Lucas	L.E.	Gilmore
Howard	L.T.	Sparkman
Kyle	L.G.	Wares
McPherson	C.	Thompson
Blake	R.G.	S. Ross
Fowler	R.T.	Stewart

School Gridder Dies After Injury

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Walter Cremen, 19, right halfback of the Newark East Side High School football team, died yesterday at the Medical Center of a fractured skull suffered in Wednesday's game with Lincoln High School, of Jersey City.

An operation on Cremen's brain was performed in a vain effort to save his life.

The accident occurred in the first half when Cremen had succeeded in making a first down for his team. He collapsed after trying to regain his feet. Spectators said his head struck the knee of Fred Aughenbach, Lincoln quarterback.

Artillery Poloists Beat South Park

With a totally inadequate defense for the sharpshooting Artillery mallets, South Park yesterday afternoon bowed to the 107th Field Artillery polo team, 12 to 6½. Lieutenants Watson and Kiser featured with some excellent passing to Lieut. Collins, who bagged six markers.

Geneva's Game Battle Lauded by Harpster

By Howard Harpster

Geneva College Coach; All-America Quarterback at Carnegie Tech, 1928.

A great bunch of boys, the Geneva football team, fighting with all their hearts, held off a fine Duquesne eleven yesterday at Forbes Field for 59 minutes and 33 seconds, and then, after making a wonderful goal line stand in which they held their opponents for three downs inside the eight-yard line, succumbed by a 3-to-0 score when the Dukes executed a perfect field goal from the four-yard line on fourth down. There were just 27 seconds remaining to be played when the ball soared over the cross-bar for the winning points, and the ending was a bitter blow to the Geneva crew, which had stayed in the entire game and had fought so well.

H. Harpster

With little Shorty Troiano running well and Grahame clicking on his passes, the first half saw the Geneva team take the play away from the Dukes and have the ball into scoring position on several occasions. The necessary punch was lacking, and the Dukes regained the ball, once on a fumble and a second time when a forward pass on fourth down failed to make the required yardage. Troiano, who was severely hurt on the opening kickoff, gamely played throughout the first half, but was in such bad shape between halves that we ordered him to remain in the dressing room during the play of the last two quarters. Without Shorty, our running attack failed to function, with the result that during the last half we were forced to play strictly a defensive game. I think the only time Geneva had the ball in the last two quarters was to kick it out of danger.

DUKES MISS SULLIVAN

Duquesne, too, was not without her troubles, for Layden's team's offense was noticeably weakened without the services of its red-headed quarterback, Sullivan, who was injured last week. Sullivan, who is a great little player, was confined in a hospital during his team's final game and what would have been his last game.

With barely two minutes of the final period remaining, Geneva took the ball on downs on its own four-yard line. Grahame stepped seven yards behind his goal line and put his left foot behind a kick which traveled 65 yards in the air. The Duquesne safety man was downed in his tracks on his 45-yard line. On the next play, a long pass to the left end, who made a beautiful catch of the ball as he juggled it and fell, placed the ball on the 20-yard stripe, paving the way for the field goal.

Geneva used only 13 players until the final seconds of the game, and I cannot praise too highly the magnificent fight and the many courageous goal line stands these boys made. During the past three years, Gevena has won quite a few football games, but among those games there hasn't been a single victory that has given the Covenanter coaches a greater thrill than that which we experienced yesterday at the inspired fight which the team made.

HIS BEST TEAM

To Coach Elmer Layden and his Duquesne football team we offer congratulations, and say that the better team won, but to Capt. Sam Cooper and our Geneva boys we say that yesterday's game was the greatest fighting battle they have played in the past three years, and we are proud of every one of them. I believe the 1932 team is the best of the three Geneva teams it has been my pleasure to coach.

Fight Results

At Philadelphia—Cowboy George Courtney and Vince Forgione drew, 8 rounds; Johnny Peppe defeated Jimmy Rhodes, 8 rounds; Jack Rovello defeated Allentown Joe Gans, 6 rounds; Bucky Jones won by a technical knockout over Speedy Dural, 3 rounds; Bobby Dechier defeated Louis Sayat, 6 rounds; Billy Ketchel defeated Tommy Rios, 10 rounds.

At Wilmington, Del.—Jack Kilbourne defeated Abie Bain, 8 rounds; Charley Rios knocked out Bill Carter, 2 rounds; Johnny Roach defeated Ted Berman, 6 rounds; Harry (Kid) Guthrie defeated Frankie Custer, 6 rounds.

At Akron—Gorilla Jones knocked out Joe Purvis, 3 rounds.

PANTHER B TEAM LOSES

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Two dropkicks by Shellabarger, Middie fullback, gave the United States Naval Academy B football team a 14-to-13 victory over the University of Pittsburgh B eleven here yesterday.

Ruff, Panther halfback, scored in the second period and then passed to Brown early in the third quarter for the second. Wilcox made both touchdowns for Navy in the second half. The lineup:

TUBERS RATE TITLE CLAIM

last eight being class A triumphs. The team, coached by Moe Rubenstein, compiled a point total of 135.

Springdale, coached by Herb Ripper, will lay claim to the class B title under the point system, with a total of 122 6-7 to Glassport's 120. Springdale shows seven class B triumphs, while Glassport has a string of six.

Herb Ripper, coach at Springdale, is firm in his contention that his team should be awarded the laurels under the point system. Last season Springdale and Hurst, the latter now a class A team, were the only undefeated elevens in the class B race, and Hurst was declared the winner because of a higher point total. The football committee announced at its meeting last winter that the point system would govern the races in class A and class B, and the Springdale authorities believe the league officials should stand by their decision. The committee, while it is known to frown on post-season games, nevertheless has the power to order such contests should they appear advisable.

Jeannette and New Castle concluded their class AA races with victories yesterday. Jeannette scored its fifth league triumph by defeating Greensburg, 13-6, while New Castle made it four straight in league competition by defeating Turtle Creek Union, 18-0. In other Conference duels, McKeesport defeated Clairton, 6-0, and Charleroi vanquished Monessen, 16-0.

Donora scored a 13-2 victory over Monongahela, Rochester downed Beaver, 18-6; California defeated East Pike Run, 13-0; Swissvale swamped Edgewood, 33-0; St. Veronica's defeated the Duke Preps, 13-0; Tarentum and Har-Brack battled to a 6-6 draw, Uniontown nosed out South Union, 6-0; Hurst beat Derry Township, 19-0; Connellsville upset Dunbar Township, 12-6, and Zelienople defeated Mars, 7-6 in other scholastic games.

BROWN BOWS TO COLGATE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Riding furiously over the last big barrier of their unbeaten march, Colgate's Red Raiders brought their all-conquering campaign to a spectacular climax yesterday by trouncing Brown's gallant eleven, 21 to 0, in a battle of contenders for Eastern championship honors.

Before a Thanksgiving Day crowd of 26,000, filling the stands to capacity, Brown's hitherto undefeated outfit yielded stubbornly, then finally crumpled before the superior drive and deceptive Colgate.

Colgate, with its finest all-around performance, not only wound up a nine-game season unbeaten and untied but, by the slim margin of six inches, maintained its remarkable record of not being scored on by any of its foes.

Although Colgate's fleet array of backfield stars, featuring Ask, Rowe and Samuel, were running wild at the finish, the Maroon was hard-pressed to keep its goal line from being crossed by the Bear's sensational rally closing the first half. The lineup:

COLGATE—21.	Pos.	BROWN—0.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—A New York University football team which had failed to live up to its early season promise came to life against Carnegie Tech in the final quarter of their seventh annual game yesterday, scored two touchdowns and closed out its season in a blaze of glory and a 13-to-6 victory.

The red-clad warriors from Pittsburgh had pushed the New York University huskies all over the turf of Yankee Stadium for three quarters and appeared to have the game safely in hand as the final quarter began. But the Violets, many of whom were playing their final game, attacked with a force that was not to be denied and marched 80 and 55 yards for touchdowns.

PASSES BRING SCORES

Both scoring marches ended in a successful aerial barrage, Jim Tanguay tossing to M. White for the first score and flipping the ball to Bob McNamara for the second. White took the ball over the goal line while McNamara butted his way through the last Tech defender from the five-yard line to clinch the victory.

Tech's score came early in the third period with Coulter, Skibo halfback, carrying the ball around end from the one-yard line after a 40-yard advance following a weak punt by McNamara. Colin Stewart missed the try for point but at that period it did not appear vitally important as Tech had held the upper hand throughout the first half and appeared definitely the stronger team. Once the Violet attack was under way, however, the visitors seemed unable to stop it and a stream of substitutes, sent in during the progress of both scoring marches, appeared only to further disorganize the Tartan defense.

TECH RALLY FAILS

After the second N. Y. U. touchdown, and with only a minute left to play, Tech came fighting back to carry the ball for three straight first downs to the Violets' 32-yard line, but the final gun ended their gallant gesture.

Tech outrushed New York, 256 yards to 161, made 14 first downs to 13 for the Violets, and 58 yards by passes to 55 for N. Y. U. Four of their 15 passes attempted were intercepted, however, two of them when Tech seemed well on the way to a touchdown, and fumbles and poor protection for the passer several times cost valuable ground in Violet territory. They were within the N. Y. U. 30-yard line three times, once being held for downs on the Violet 10.

A crowd of 30,000 watched the game under almost perfect conditions of wind and weather, a warm sun having dispelled early morning clouds and dried a rain-soaked field.

Yarosz Asks Battle With Jackie Fields

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Jack King, of Little Rock, Ark., who recently lost a split decision to Ted Yarosz at the Arena here, can have a return bout with Ted any time he wants it, according to Yarosz's manager, provided—

Ted Yarosz

Ray Alvis, manager of King, and also of Jackie Fields, world welterweight champion, agrees to sign two contracts, one for the King match and another stipulating that Yarosz is to get a crack at Fields in the event he wins again.

Yarosz was matched with Fields at the Meyers Bowl last summer, but the bout was called off when Fields suffered a detached retina. Jackie is training again to fight and plans to defend his title in the Chicago Coliseum early next month and, if sucessful, against Young Corbett in California in February.

ISSUES CHALLENGE

Foutts has wired the Illinois Boxing Commission and the National Boxing Association that he will allow Yarosz to serve as Fields' opponent in the Chicago bout for bare expenses. He also is willing to permit the match to be staged in Pittsburgh.

Alvis' reply to this challenge will be interesting.

Foutts denies Yarosz is suffering from a bruised right hand. He says his only ailment is a cut lip, suffered in the first round of his bout with King. Right now he is waiting for Motor Square Garden to line up a worthy opponent for Ted for one week from next Monday.

GROVE IN RUNNING

Speaking of weiterweights, Davy Grove is back in the limelight. The North Sider wants a return bout with Pee Wee Jarrell, whom he had on the floor at the Garden. He also would like to box Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, who stopped Jarrell at the Garden last Monday, and a meeting with Yarosz, according to his manager, Gus Camp.

Duquesne Frosh Lose to West Va.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.,—West Virginia University's freshmen football team staged a scoring splurge in the first half here yesterday to defeat the Duquesne University freshmen, 20 to 7.

The Little Mountaineers scored twice in the first period and once in the second. Terry, Mountaineer halfback, went over the line twice and Hester once. The first two scores came on passes, with Terry chasing 49 yards for the third.

The Dukes scored after Filingham brought back a kickoff in the second period 66 yards to the West Virginia 27. A fumble gave West Virginia the ball, but the Dukes blocked a punt, recovered the ball on the one-yard mark and Shafer went over for the score.

DUAL WINDUP TONIGHT IN ARENA RING

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Tony Herrera vs. Johnny Hayes and Joe Marcus vs. Jackie Willis 10 rounds each, and Eddie Zivic vs. Steve Senich and Jerry Clements vs. Johnny Durso, 6 rounds each, Arena, North Side.

Dick Daniels vs. Larry Odell and Frankie Knauer vs. Dick Demaray, 4 rounds each, St. Paul.

Barney Ross vs. Johnny Farr and Ossie Till vs. Sammy Slaughter, 10 rounds each, Milwaukee.

Charley Retzlaff vs. Frankie Wine and Billy Jones vs. Charley Belanger, 10 rounds each, Detroit.

Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight, from Chicago, returns to box in his favorite spot, Pittsburgh, tonight. He is in against Johnny Hayes, a rugged veteran from Philadelphia, in the main bout of the weekly show in the Arena, on the North Side.

Jackie Willis

As an added feature attraction, Joe Marcus, of Braddock, who has beaten Patsy Hennigan and Johnny Datto, and fought a close battle with Battling Gizzy here, meets Jackie Willis, classy Philadelphia stablemate of Hayes, in another 10-round bout.

Hayes has boxed Ted Yarosz and Marty Gornick here, stopping the latter and having the former on the floor, although he lost on a technical knockout to Ted. He also has boxed Billy Petrolle, King Tut, Eddie Ran, Vince Dundee, Johnny Ketchel, Jimmy Smith, Billy Wallace and Jackie Brady among others. Willis defeated Charley Baxter in a bout at Greenlee Field last summer and has boxed some of the best lightweights in the East.

In the two six-round preliminaries, Steve Senich, of Homestead, boxes Eddie Zivic, of Lawrenceville, and Jerry Clements, of Jeannette, meets Johnny Durso, of Oakland. The show gets under way at 8:30.

BOXERS SUSPENDED

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The State Athletic Commission today announced the suspension of Jimmy Lodge, of McKeesport, Pa., and Johnny Hazel, of Pittsburgh, both boxers, for failing to honor contracts with the Arena A. C., Pittsburgh.

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENT IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—The stock market slid off to the lowest levels in three weeks today, with heaviness of sterling exchange and the wheat market evidently contributing to the decline.

Selling abated some what after midday, however, and a number of issues that had lost 1 to 3 points recovered fractionally. Brokers said the most encouraging aspect of the market was still the moderate amount of selling.

Wall street was still uneasily discussing the foreign debt situation, but leading bankers studiously withheld comment. In some quarters it was pointed out that the debt situation is but one factor in the current state of uncertainty in Wall street. Political factors, however, are being widely stressed. Moody's said in its monthly business survey, "Prospects for business depend to an unusual extent upon political decisions which will come up for consideration in coming months. About all, they depend on Congress taking the right attitude toward the budget, on the one hand, and toward intricate international problems on the other."

In the wheat market, the December delivery touched a new low before support appeared. Copper was again inclined to sag in the foreign markets. The possible effects of lower levels for Sterling exchange and the currencies which move with it, on world commodity price levels, was a subject of much conjecture. Standard Statistics Company in a special commodity survey, mentioned the weakness of sterling as unsettling, but said "the action of general prices in the past five months suggests that the commodity markets generally are almost immune from further shocks of a depressing nature, barring, of course, a world catastrophe."

Some selling or switching was reported in the share market for income tax purposes. There was said to be little selling from abroad, and some international banking quarters expressed the view that pending, at least, partial clarification of political uncertainties, particularly regarding our federal budget, a large amount of foreign capital would again flow into this market.

WHEAT BREAKS TO NEW LOW

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Drastic breaks in British exchange rates swept wheat prices down today to a new low level.

December delivery of wheat fell to 41½ cents a bushel here as soon as trading began, a drop of 1⅜ cents since Wednesday. The former bottom price record was 41⅞.

When the initial heavy accumulation of selling orders had been executed, the wheat pit became almost inert at times. At today's extreme low prices for wheat the market was under any quotations since Chicago future delivery trading has existed.

In addition to the all time low price record, established today by December wheat contracts, May and July deliveries outdid the present season's bottom figures. Corn, rye and oats dropped with wheat, corn to within ¼ cent of the season's bottom record, and rye to a new minimum.

Provisions declined with cereals.

TRADE FACES HUMANIZING PROCESS

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—It is a mistake for women in business to try to act like men.

It seems to me that business needs to be enriched and humanized by the feminine viewpoint.

The hard-boiled, masculine approach, carried to extremes, has all but wrought ruin throughout the economic world. Business managers were so eager not to appear soft or sentimental that they tended to botch the economic situation. Business drifted into becoming "all means and no end." We concentrated on production, without stopping to think for whom. The "bigger and better" complex took hold of us, and we failed to interpret it sufficiently in terms of the consumer. Executives sought perpetually to make new high marks in earnings in order to keep apace with the violent advance prior to October, 1929, in stock prices. Accordingly, there was a grasping for profits and for cheap production, when the major thought should have been concentrated on giving a progressively larger ratio of business income to workers in order to assure a market for the products of industry.

Mr. Rukeyser

The failure to make this provision has been aptly described by Arthur Slater, the economist, who pointed out:

"The most general description of the character of this depression is that somehow or other the ability to produce, which the world has in abundance, has been unable to translate itself (as normally it should, and in happier times it did), into an ability to purchase to an equal extent somehow or other, in that long intricate chain which connects together all the processes of production—making, selling, consuming—something has been broken or become blocked or deffective."

Business needs to be humanized, sentimentalized, Kiplingized. It is crying out for more of the spirit of romance and spirituality. It needs to think more of human beings and less of dynamos. It has been destructive of profits to be too immediately practical and hard-boiled. All too many business folk forget that business exists for man, not man for business. As a result of this astigmatism, executives unsystematically replaced human beings, who lead a double life, with one track automatic labor saving machines. The machines are solely producers. They make, but they do not buy the products of others. On the other hand, human labor fulfills the dual role of producer and consumer. Through mismanagement and drifting, the potential blessings of technological advance were stupidly converted into a gradual impoverishment of the consumer market.

Accordingly, one may well ask what was the use of all the labor saving through mechanical advances unless the progress was to be translated into terms of greater leisure and opportunity for culture and civilized living for increasing numbers of persons? Failure to face this question frankly led to what Frank A. Vanderlip has terms this stupid depression, consisting of privation amidst surpluses.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Raw sugar was quiet early today. Futures opened unchanged to 2 points lower and showed further losses later under increased liquidation and selling by houses with no productive connections promoted by the inactivity in the spot market. December contracts after selling at 89c eased to 87c, while September which opened at $1.04 sold at $1.02. The general market at mid-day was 2 to 4 points net lower.

Refined was quiet with only a moderate withdrawal demand, while new business was also small and supplied through second hands.

SHOT BY WIFE, HIDES WOUND

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP.)—Somewhere in Chicago Charles Black, 30, was limping about today with a bullet in his left ankle because, police say, he knows about chivalry as well as cussedness.

The police said it must have been cussedness that made Black batter his way through a door of his home and slap his wife, Flossie, who seized a pistol and fired.

And it must have been chivalry that prompted him to refuse to go to a hospital because he felt that if he did the police would find out about the affair and arrest his wife.

So he hobbled away, but it was useless. The police learned of the shooting from another source and arrested Mrs. Black.

DENY JOHN D.'S HEALTH FAILS

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Nov. 25.—(Universal.)—Reports that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., will abandon golf this winter because of failing health, today had been branded as "ridiculous" by members of his household.

"Mr. Rockefeller's health is better this year than last. The fact that he has not taken up golf does not mean he will not play this winter. The golf course is not in readiness and he also is awaiting friends from the north. He will be on the course in due time."

He leisurely walks around his simple but expensive estate in the morning, with an hour's motor outing in the afternoon. This has been the 93-year-old magnate's chief means of diversion since his arrival here two weeks ago. He said at this time his health was good, "considering the depression."

THREE WOMEN

A Story of the Conflicting Natures Of Different Generations

By FAITH BALDWIN

Joyce Meets Van Alstyne, Learns About Mother's Short Romance

CHAPTER XXXI.

Mrs. Sheldon saw Miss Leigh. Miss Leigh was a woman of whom Mrs. Sheldon approved. Miss Leigh was restrainedly enthusiastic over Joyce's ambitions. "Nice," said Miss Leigh, "gratifying, to find a serious-minded girl these days. Most of them think of little beyond dancing slippers or the newest shade in lipsticks."

Louisa agreed. A whim, of course, on the part of the child, but a harmless whim. She was willing, she would not stand in Joyce's way. Naturally she would not have agreed to anything which would have removed Joyce from the protection of her home. But this was different, it was practical, convenient all around.

She added that Joyce had never shown any interest in domestic science. This was a grief to Mrs. Sheldon, she would have found it more womanly.

Miss Leigh remarked that the worship of Lares and Penates seemed to have vanished. Probably hotel and apartment house life and the general upside-downness of things had contributed to this loss? Did not Mrs. Sheldon agree with her?

Mrs. Sheldon did. They parted with polite expressions of mutual esteem.

When Joyce came to her with her news and her questions Miss Cora nodded.

"Yes. Quite all right. I think your grandmother is perfectly satisfied to have you undertake the work."

CAREERS DISAPPROVED

Joyce hesitated.

"I think she feels it a little like specializing in English literature. I—haven't told her I wanted to make use of it, ever—" Her blue eyes added the anxious question—have you?

Miss Cora smiled.

"No, of course you haven't. It takes time," she said gently, "to alter certain fixed conceptions. I don't suppose it would ever occur to Mrs. Sheldon that you would ever wish to make a profession of the studies you have chosen, to benefit materially as well as mentally by them."

"I don't want to hurt her—ever," Joyce replied, "and it seems so strange that she could honestly think I would go through years, perhaps, of hard work and just stop there. There will be positions open to me, I suppose, if I learn enough, work enough. I hope I shall be able to get one some day. But—don't think me deceitful, Miss Cora. I can't tell her yet. She wouldn't understand, neither would Mother. They think 'careers' for women just short of insanity—unless, of course, a girl has to earn her living, in which case neither of them see further than the school teacher or librarian solutions. So I've not said anything. Perhaps I can get them around to my point of view by degrees."

"I'd like to meet your mother," Miss Cora remarked, thoughtfully. "I never have, you know."

ENTERS HIGHER SCHOOL

For a brief moment the strangeness of that impressed Joyce. Then the moment departed. Joyce was so accustomed to seeing her grandmother make all arrangements—whether for dinner, railway tickets or a choice of schools for Elizabeth's daughter—that she had ceased to reckon her mother as a person capable of decision or execution. She answered lightly, "Mother will be at graduation."

She was. Sitting beside Louisa, her hands tight, one within the other, her eyes on the girl who showed so eager and receptive a face to the audience. The youngest in the class. This stranger — the child who had never belonged to her save for, perhaps, the dark, bewildered months long ago when she had carried her.

Entered at Barnard, the preliminaries safely passed, Joyce resigned herself to another summer. She did not make use of the latticework. She'd had enough and to spare of escapade. She learned of Hugh Masterson's engagement with supreme indifference. She acquired several new young men with an indifference as vast and as unfeigned. The only person within a hundred miles who aroused any interest in her was a professor of biology who was summering near her with his family. She met him and turned his head rather completely, to her own indignation. Prof. Anderson was only 43. Years in the classroom and the laboratory had not yet taught him that pretty young women are capable of interest in what a man knows and not what he is, away from the platform and the test tubes.

REPORTED TO LOUISA

The professor had a jealous wife and there was a very minor tempest in his matutinal teapot.

Something of this reached Louisa Sheldon. Joyce was called into the counsel chamber and asked for an explanation. Louisa's withering mouth was tight and bitter with disgust.

"I am exceedingly humiliated for you."

"But I haven't done anything! I liked to hear him talk—he loaned me some books." .....

"Mrs. Anderson—"

"She's an evil-minded woman!"

"Quite. Please do not interrupt me. Can you honestly assure me that you had no warning—no inkling of this—unfortunate situation?"

"Honestly, I—oh, he's an old fool," said Joyce, with rancor. "Why does a man think—just because a girl wants to talk to him—?"

"Never mind why. Just remember he does. They all do. I—this has been very distasteful to me—the whole affair."

"I didn't flirt with him, Granny, truly, I didn't."

Mrs. Sheldon, remembering the man, nodded. It really was not at all likely. Yet—if she had?

"I accuse you of nothing save indiscretion."

"I'm sorry. I didn't think."

"You never do."

That ended it. Louisa was a power in her small community. The Andersons were conquered.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

Aside from this the summer was uneventful. Then one day shortly before her return to town Joyce took out the little roadster that had been Louisa's graduation gift—for country use—"I'll not have you driving in city traffic, my dear"—and went for a long drive along roads that wound lazily in and out of the sweet, low hills. The trees had not yet turned but there was a blue autumnal haze, and a clean, virile smell of burning brush. On the way home she stopped on a high, windy place, drew her car to the side of the road and sat there, her hands in her lap, dreaming a little, looking at the horizon. There, bright as a drawn sword, was a flash of silver water, far away, lovely.

A middle-aged man, walking briskly along, knickerbockered, an Airedale at his heels, climbed the hill and stopped to take breath and to look at her. Such a pretty girl, a hatless girl in a crimson sweater, a girl with a cropped, dark head, sitting alone in a little car, looking at the view. She felt eyes upon her, and turned. He was near enough, he knew the mouth and the blue eyes and the crest of rebel curls.

Fred Van Alstyne, his breath a little hurried, came to the side of the car.

"It is? Oh, I do beg your pardon if I'm wrong, but are you not Joyce Sheldon?"

"Of course. Why, Uncle Fred!"

MEMORIES AWAKENED

He had changed very little.

She waved a hand, demanded, "Get in. Get right in. Come home with me. Why, it's been years—six, eight—we never see you any more—we just read about you in the papers. Please get in."

He opened the door and presently sat beside her, the dog safely bestowed in the back. She leaned toward her gears.

"No. Wait. Talk a little. I'm not going home with you. You can drop me at Four Corners, if you'll be so good. Tell me all about yourself."

"There isn't much—"

Still, she talked for 10 minutes. He commented, smiling, "You're an ambitious baby."

"But you—you! Where have you been all these years?"

"Everywhere. There was a war, you know. Nice, while it lasted. Then, well, I stayed over. Somehow I couldn't come back here and settle down, after that. And there was nothing to hold me, after the death of my mother. The rest, brothers, a sister, they were all married. So—I stayed over."

"And never let us hear a word!"

He ignored that.

"How is your grandmother—and your mother?"

"Well. The same as ever. Grandmother is the Eighth Wonder. She looks about 60."

How like Lennox she was. Thinking of Lennox made remembering Elizabeth clearer, easier. Oh, yes, he'd managed to forget a good deal in eight years. He'd wanted to. There's nothing very sentimentally melancholy in remembering a woman who has said, "I love you" and "I will never see you again," within 12 hours and in just that order. You're hurt, terribly; you're angry, righteously; you wonder, interminably and to madness; then you try to forget. But now he began to remember.

AWKWARD SITUATION

If only he had considered he would have gone on with his solitary walk and not have stopped by the side of the maroon roadster—it was bound to be awkward. What was she saying now?

"When shall I say you'll come over?"

"I'm not coming."

"Uncle Fred!"

What excuse could he make?

"Why, Uncle Fred!" said Joyce.

She wouldn't believe any. She'd speak to Elizabeth, to the old woman. Oh, out with it then and have it over with.

"Does your mother ever talk about me?"

"Why, of course she does!" She stopped, thought, contradicted herself with amazement, "No, she doesn't. I never thought of it before, really."

"I asked her to marry me," Van Alstyne said, abruptly. One summer—before we went into the war. You were a leggy kid—about 10."

Joyce stared at him.

"—the summer she was different—"

Her mind went back—she saw herself standing at a half-open door, watching a strange woman dance about the room to music of her secret hearing.

"Was she?"

They were silent. Joyce was trying to adjust herself. Her mother loved, asked in marriage. She'd wondered now and again why not—had let the thought go.

"She said—no?"

"I had every reason to believe that she said yes. And meant it. The next day I had a note. She would not marry me, she could not. She would never see me again. I came, tried to see her, without success. I wrote, my letters came back unopened. Can you understand it?"

"No—"

Joyce shook her head.

"I'm sorry—"

"That's dear of you," he said. "Well, it was long ago. I thought I had almost forgotten." He laughed a little. "You see I didn't try it again—not twice, thank you."

"You mean with some one else?"

"Exactly."

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Tomorrow it is expected that several thousand more boys and girls who are members of the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club will bring along their Christmas stockings which will be hung in lobbies of the theaters and will be filled with candy, fruit and nuts, together with many toys, all the gift of dear old Santa Claus.

Last week more than half the members brought stockings along and they were hung where everybody entering the theater could see them, and it is hoped that Monday all the managers will be able to report that each member enrolled in the club will be represented.

CROONER NEEDED

Manager Dick Brown, of the Rowland Theater, speaking of his Junior Komic Club Orchestra, said:

"Last week the orchestra entertained the members with several old and new melodies. They played 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart,' and Eddie Cantor's old theme song, 'Now's the Time to Fall in Love.' But the real surprise of the day was when the leader, Jack Gilbert, turned to the audience and told them that last week they received from the publishers a copy of the newest song and that the orchestra would now play it. The title was 'Everyone Says I Love You.' And this bunch of youngsters played it very well. Now all that the orchestra needs is a crooner, and when they find him, Jimmy Joy and his orchestra had better look out.

"So if there is a boy living in Wilkinsburg who has a voice and would like to join our orchestra, have him report to me at the theater Saturday morning about noon."

We can add nothing to Mr. Brown's statement, except that it will be a wonderful opportunity for some youngster to acquire a splendid musical education.

Bugs Baer

The Bug Is Strong For Society

Society in our town is home again from the dog races, but not for long.

They'll stay just long enough to play a little bridge, proving that home is where the hearts are if your dummy has the ace-king.

We are jealous of the way society people travel around. Like fresh office boys, they don't stay long in one place. But they always get their names in the papers. And that's what we all like.

If we ever get money enough we're going to crash the Park avenue gates. Then you'll read of us plenty. They'll be proud that they called us mamma's boy.

The Bug entertained himself in the kitchen last midnight. He snared a pickled onion and a muffn but didn't have nerve enough to open a fresh can of sardines.

The Bug threw a big lawn party in Grand Central Station yesterday. Admission was by ticket only.

The Bug was present at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera last evening. He sat in horseshoe curve between Altoona and Pittsburgh.

The Bug reserved the royal cabin on the Staten Island ferry last week. He came home again yesterday to change his sox. He will winter in Florida if his bicycle doesn't break down. He is related by marriage to his ancestors, we hope.

The Bug is entertaining Prince Skalumpsai at the prince's palatial home on pier sixteen. They are collaborating on the prince's new book entitled, "Always a Bum," the sequel to "Once a Grand Duke."

The Bug is visiting his wife's folks again. They're getting used to it. He expects to leave town shortly. If he doesn't they will.

The Bug is renting a corner on the Lincoln Highway for the thumbing season. He is a popular guest on hay wagons for he is always willing to get weighed with the hay. The farmers can carry him for nothing and still make a profit on him. He is expected to his home town as soon as the boys can spare a cell.

FEARLESS JOURNALISM
(Flemingsburg, Ky., Times-Democrat)

A number of Democrats expect to run for office next year, yet they fail to support the Democratic voice of the country. They take the paper as long as we will send it without pay, and when we can no longer do so they fail to pay for what they have received, and then when the fight comes they expect us to shout for them. Well, all we can say is that they won't get any shouting that can be heard far enough to do them any good! If any of your family expects to make a race next year, you'd better get busy and see how you and your family stand with the Times-Democrat, for we shall not support any man or woman who will not pay his just debts and we shall not make any bones about who they are, either. There is no law against publishing the names of those who are defrauding us.

Protect These Children!

Greater Care Must Be Taken in Providing Homes for the Wards of the Juvenile Court.

The auditors' report on the system under which the juvenile wards of Allegheny County are placed in homes is shocking.

The county pays $5.60 a week for the care of each child thus "farmed out," and many unfit persons are quite willing, apparently, to take care of as many children as they can get, at that price.

The shocking thing is that they have succeeded in getting many.

The social service agencies consider four the maximum number of foster children that it is safe to entrust to one competent family, but the Juvenile Maintenance Department, according to Chief Auditor M. C. Conick, has placed more than four children in 159 homes, more than five in 89 homes, more than six in 27 homes, and more than seven in five homes.

About 14 per cent of the homes in which the children are placed are outside of Allegheny County. The propriety of sending the county's wards outside of the county is, to say the least, questionable.

Conick reports that his investigators were refused admittance to some of the homes in which the children are living, and he offers other evidence that will arouse suspicion that conditions in these homes are not what they should be.

It is disturbing, too, to learn that 29 county employes connected with home-finding work, who were recommended for dismissal or retirement for inefficiency and other reasons, are still on the job.

Under the leadership of Chairman C. C. McGovern the County Commissioners have taken steps to correct the evils complained of. Public opinion will be solidly back of them.

It is better that a child should be raised by a good family than brought up in an institution. But if mercenary motives lead to the entrusting of dependent children to persons unfit to raise them, it would be better to place the children in good institutions.

Extreme watchfulness is necessary to make certain that the county's wards are properly treated. The auditors' report shows that there has not been such watchfulness.

Danger in Repeal

If Teachers' Salaries Are to Be Reduced, the Edmonds Act Should be Amended But Not Annulled.

Dr. James N. Rule, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, sounds a timely word of warning in connection with the movement to reduce the salaries of public school teachers.

If the act should be repealed, he says, the effect would be to place teaching positions on the auction block, to be sold to the lowest bidder. There are school boards which, if freed from statutory restrictions, would give the jobs to those willing to accept the lowest compensation, without regard to their qualifications to teach.

Dr. Rule states that at the time of the passage of the Edmonds act there were 7,000 school teachers in Pennsylvania who had not even completed a high school education. Now 98 per cent of the teachers not only have graduated from high school, but have had two years of teacher training in addition. Even in the rural districts 94 per cent of the teachers are thus qualified.

These gains are too precious to surrender.

It may be desirable to amend the Edmonds act—to reduce salaries, say 10 per cent, for two years, as Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of Pittsburgh's schools suggests—but it should not be repealed.

Jefferson's Hope

It Will Be Realized If the Norris Plan for Presidential Elections Is Adopted.

"The principles of Jefferson are the definitions and axioms of free society."—Abraham Lincoln.

More than a century ago, Thomas Jefferson wrote to a friend that he would "live in more confidence, and die in more hope" if he could see the Federal Constitution amended by "placing the choice of the President effectually in the hands of the people."

Senator Norris, of Nebraska, at the coming session of the Congress, is going to give it an opportunity to submit to the people the amendment proposed by Jefferson.

This amendment will abolish the electoral college with its outworn system of presidential electors and will provide:

First: That the choice of each state for President and Vice President shall be determined at a general election of the qualified electors of such state.

Second: That each state shall be given as many votes for President and Vice President as the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the state may be entitled in Congress.

Third: That each state shall certify and transmit, sealed, to the federal city, directed to the President of the Senate, the result of said election.

When the Norris resolution proposing Jefferson's amendment to the Constitution is introduced at the next session of Congress it ought to be put upon its passage in ample time for the amendment to be ratified by the state Legislatures which meet in 1933.

Forty-three states will hold legislative sessions next year—seven more than the three-fourths whose consent is essential to ratification.

If all Democrats in Congress, who pretend to follow Jefferson, and all Republicans in Congress, who pretend to follow Lincoln, will support the Norris resolution at the coming session, Congress will submit Jefferson's amendment abolishing the electoral college before adjournment.

Surely a nation that claims to be intelligent enough for its people to govern themselves ought to have the opportunity to elect the President and Vice President by direct vote of the people themselves.

Forty-three Legislatures will be in session during the year 1933. Within that period, it is to be hoped, the Uniform State Narcotic Law will be made effective in at least 47 of the 48 States of the Union.

The Uniform State Law has been scientifically devised to close the loopholes of escape existing in the "twilight zone" between State and Federal jurisdiction.

Four States—New York, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and California—have already passed this vital legislation. Its adoption by every other State will be the most effectual measure ever taken against the "dope" evil.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The 'Weaker Sex'

Woman has always been called "the weaker sex," and has enjoyed thinking of herself in that way—as something fine and delicate to be tenderly cherished—just as she enjoys thinking of herself as "cute" or "feminine" or "subtle."

* * *

But it was no great shock to her to learn that, after much research, it has been discovered that she is really "the stronger vassel," and that (according to Dr. S. J. Holmes, of California) the male is "constitutionally inferior." She has long suspected it.

* * *

It explains why hanging a picture, laying a rug, opening a packing case or any irksome domestic task just fags him all out—and why all the annoying petty details around the office must be lifted from his shoulders, by some woman. Why his appointments must be remembered, his files kept, his telephone answered and his alibis put over by some willing member of the "stronger sex."

* * *

Above all it explains his faculty, amounting almost to GENIUS, for dodging all the disagreeable, boring things, and always getting somebody else to "break the bad news" and do the explaining and apologizing for him.

* * *

Every woman knows how it is! Every woman has heard that strange, yet familiar, feminine voice over the telephone dozens of times.

* * *

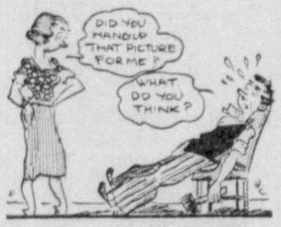
"Mr. Brown has just been called out of town. He regrets that he won't be able to get to your bridge party tomorrow."

* * *

"Mr. Smith is in conference—but he says he is SO sorry he can't get the tickets for Tuesday."

* * *

"Mr. Jones will be detained at the office and won't be home for dinner."



"Mr. Green left word that your order—or your fur coat—or your new apartment—or your wristwatch won't be ready until next week."

* * *

The weaker sex! Just too weak to pick up the telephone receiver and face the music! Or the argument! The sex that "can't TAKE it," when it's going to be annoying or boring or embarrassing!

* * *

A man "just can't STAND" anything that he doesn't want to stand—or that he can get a woman to stand for him! Which is probably why lots of wives and stenographers (those human buffers between man and all the uncomfortable things of life) continue to hold their jobs.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Thoughts while strolling: I wish Irving Berlin would quit looking so forlorn. The world's been rather swell to him. Tony Hughes, one of the stage's "tough mugs." What glorious eyes Lois Long has! Jack Norworth still chews the weed. Whatever became of the saddle mare that racked?

One-word description of Queenie Smith — perky. Who knows, right off, the meaning of mead? Grantland Rice and Thomas Lamont look alike. And Katharine Cornell and Patsy Kelly have same shaped heads. Nothing looks so played out as an old umbrella. Or nobody beats the actor for swelled head with success.

I adore that Variety headline: "Nixing the tosso torsers out of burly-cue finals a K. O." And that joking of Will Pyffe's who's going to beat up the wife if she hasn't soup for dinner. And will not eat it if she has. Fay King, a Denver (Col) girl, who made good in the city.

Rufus Lemaire, all shaved. Few have the crackling dry wit of Jack Benny. Bob Johnson's impish grin. The Algonquin's newest white-haired boy—Howard Dietz. That sudden green meander back of St. Patrick's. And the bare-headed priest, resembling Dudley Field Malone, who strolls there in the dusk.

George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber have done it again! Written the town's merriest play. An unbeatable combination—those two. Some night I'd like to bust out naked in a rainstorm. And I'm going to leap-frog over that broken iron post near the old Union League one day if I unjoint a hip.

* * *

A Broadway comeback, riding top gallant after eclipse, is George Price, who began as most comedians do, with Gus Edward. He was a brash buffoon of wide effects reminiscent of the Winter Garden. He warbled in the Al Jolson manner in several revues and then a quick exit, hurried perhaps by unpleasant headlines following a night out. One saw him in eager anticipation in the background wherever celebrities were introduced—poised, waiting. Also, he was improving himself. The radio really gave him his break—and whether you like it or not—he is definitely in the important money with plenty of offers.

* * *

There is a contrasting story of a sterling but venerable actor who, after three years at liberty, got his chance in a play destined for fair success. At first rehearsal he went up in his lines. Nothing was thought of this, but it happened five days in a row. He had lost the knack of memorizing and had to give up his part.

* * *

The Casino in Central Park, despite vicissitudes, remains one of the swankiest spots in town, especially after theater. It featured a corner table for his ex-Honor, the Jimmy, who usually made it the last turn of a pleasure-bent evening. Yet it ran afoul many snags. Its lessee and dominating spirit is Sidney Solomon, a sleek, bright-eyed worldling, who came out of the ladies' garment trade to cater pure fun to the bloods. One of the Casino's customer appeals is the shy Eddie Duchin, the 24-year-old orchestra leader and amazingly skillful pianist, an idol of the debbies. He is perhaps the only baton wielder left who surges with a delightful red at compliments. After all, such a miracle of innocence these days should fill any cafe. And even Grand Central with overflow.

* * *

Debutante talk has a brittle dither. At an adjoining table at the Casino, a quartet, two youths and two maids, arrived in a chill of propriety. A few tepid swigs from a hip flask all around and the frost melted into lively bubbles. One of the young men, growing slightly amorous, had his advances checked by a blonde in a knitted Schiaparelli who, sweeping him with a slow, drooping look, inquired: "Is it your idea you are moving in?"

* * *

And a white-tied blade, with a New Aw-leens drawl, told a yarn new to me. A pickaninny rushed into the cabin shouting that an alligator had just swallowed his brother. The mother yelled to an old darkey sunning himself under a front-yard tree: "Rastus, I done tol' you-all sumpin' was ketchin' our younguns."

* * *

Telegram: "Would you and your wife care to be our guests at the opening of our T-bone steak lunch wagon on the west of the road near Jamaica? It will be quite a swell affair."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"Why," she says, "don't you write about the cheerful side of life? You continually scold about sad and sordid circumstances. Why not, like Pollyanna, look for the silver lining which may be found in every cloud?"

Why don't I look for silver linings?

Because, lady, I think it's much more important to clean up clouds than it is to simper over silver linings.

Moreover, since you brought the subject up, let me announce that I heartily despise most Pollyannas.

Obviously, we should bear unpleasant situations as gamely as possible; but that doesn't imply that we should forget 'em. Or cease trying to improve them. Or stop being mad about them.

And by being mad, I mean BEING MAD. I don't believe in the "brave, sweet smile" advocated by the Pollyanna tribe. It is my belief that one honest cuss-word, backed by redhot action, is worth a billion brave, sweet smiles.

Moreover, I have yet to meet the brave, sweet smile that seemed to me sincere. Generally speaking, it's simply classy camouflage for cowardice, laziness and complacency.

You can generally bet, when you find people seeking silver linings to dark clouds, that it isn't because they're so stuck on the linings—BUT THEY'RE AFRAID TO TACKLE THE CLOUDS.

Also, they know full well that the lad who tackles clouds is going to have a tough time of it. Maybe the cloud will get the best of him, in which case he's letting himself in for a lot of blame and ridicule. Whereas, the smart chap who squats on the nearest silver lining and proceeds to smile, risks nothing and keeps himself cosily in the clear, and in the end gets credit for having a lot more sense and courage than the guy with the courage to fight.

Which is why resignation is always such a popular and profitable virtue, and highly recommended by all cautious souls. Well let those who like it, be it! But I have always felt that if we used a tenth of the energy in fighting evils which we use in being resigned to them, we'd have mighty few evils to face.

And as for "bowing to the will of God," we certainly have a lot of nerve to call the consequence of our stupidity and cussedness "the will of God."

I cannot believe that God ever willed that men should live in sickness and sadness and sin. I believe that the God who made sunshine and clean water and good earth believed that His children's lives should be free and happy and whole.

As a matter of fact, few of the medals in human history have gone to the Pollyannas. Who have rescued men from slavery, from disease, from the darkness of fear and ignorance and poverty? Who have fought the despots? Cleaned the poisoned swamps? Given men hope and health and happiness?

The Sweet Smilers? The Resigners? Not on your life! They stood around and said how lovely dear Mabel looked in her coffin after she died of typhoid. But the mean, cynical guys, who refused to be cheered by pretty coffins—they got busy and cleaned up the local water supply, and saved the other kids.

And that goes for every inch of our human progress. Never has that progress been effected by the Pollyannas who sat around on scraps of silver linings. No; it has been won by the fury and rebellion, the sweat and blood and fighting anger of MEN WHO REFUSED TO SURRENDER TO CLOUDS, REGARDLESS OF THEIR LININGS.

So you can go on sitting on the silver lining if you want, lady. But as for me, I'll continue to tackle clouds. And as long as I live this shall be my prayer:

"GOD, KEEP ME SEEING STRAIGHT! NEVER LET ME BE SO COMFORTABLE THAT I SHALL FORGET THE MILLIONS WHO SUFFER DISCOMFORT. NEVER LET ME BE SO SAFE THAT I FORGET THOSE IN THE GRIP OF DANGER. NEVER LET ME BE SO HAPPY THAT I SHALL NOT REMEMBER THOSE WHO ARE BROKEN BY PAIN AND GRIEF.

"MAKE THEIR LOT MY LOT, GOD! MAKE THEIR CAUSE MY CAUSE! BROADEN MY VISION! STRENGTHEN MY COURAGE! WHATEVER THE COST, MY FATHER KEEP ME FIGHTING MAD!"

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Late Afternoon

Eastward shades are slanting longer
On the meadows at our feet.
Now the need of rest is stronger
And the thought of rest is sweet
As the day is growing older
Like a rose that slowly fades,
And the creeping shadows, bolder,
Mount above the quiet glades.

Slowly wanes the careless rapture
Of the heart like waning light,
And no longing can re-capture
Life's first ardor, youth's delight;
But the joy of youth still lingers
As remembered roses glow,
After Time has laid chill fingers
On the garden, swathed in snow.

Though the past's triumphant legions
Now in silence must retreat,
Peace has touched these twilight regions
Where the thought of rest is sweet.

A Belated Plan: The Tariff and Debts

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in Amserica," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

President Hoover has worked out a plan, in conjunction with his cabinet, for a saving of $700,000,000 a year in the cost of government, according to the press. This is interesting, and, important if true. It provides, it seems, for the elimination of bureaus and jobs.

Four years ago Mr. Hoover promised something of the sort and for four years nothing was done. It would have required courage during these four years to have eliminated these jobs, for the President's party wanted them for "deserving Republicans." But there has been an election. The men holding these jobs will go out anyway. And the elimination now means that no Democrats shall get them. It requires no courage to eliminate now. Some, with cynical minds, will conclude that since President Hoover has known all the time for four years how to save $700,000,000 he should have acted within a year after his induction into office.

However, the financial condition of the government calls for drastic reductions in the personnel of government wherever possible, and the taxpayer is interested more in saving money than in serving the politicians; and the clever politician will conclude that he will gain more by offending a few office seekers than by offending an entire people. It was because the present administration offended the entire people by its failure to reorganize the government in the interest of economy that so many went against it.

Seeking to Undo Mischief of Speech

Now that the election is over, it becomes more and more apparent that when President Hoover momentarily destroyed confidence in our financial fabric with the statement that we had been within two weeks of being forced off the gold standard, he was mistaken. Thomas W. Lamont has just pointed out the absurdity of that statement. We have just read the masterful pamphlet by Benjamin M. Anderson, economist of the Chase National Bank, showing conclusively that the gold standard here has not been in danger for 36 years. These reassurances have been necessary to undo the damage done by the President's astonishing statement.

The one impossible way to restore prosperity is to destroy confidence in our financial structure. Happily the attempt to destroy confidence was speedily attacked and is now being conclusively shown to have been utterly without justification.

Tariff Walls Wrecked Trade

Senator Cordell Hull, with his usual perspicatity, has analyzed the situation. He puts his conclusion in a nutshell when he says:

"Without the slightest reference to the merits of the foreign debts, however important that may be, they were not a major cause of the panic, nor are they a major remedy. The most important factor toward recovery is the liberalization of exchange and other trade restrictions, including the lowering of excessive tariffs by important countries simultaneously."

This destruction of foreign trade was brought about on the initiative of this country when we built an insurmountable tariff wall. Other nations retaliated. And this trade war has done more to bring about the depressed conditions in all countries than any other one cause.

Among other things, it enormously has increased the difficulty of our debtors in the payment of their debts. But our economists, or some of them, brushing this aside, would concentrate upon the debts. Transfer all the debts to the bowed backs of American taxpayers and continue this stupid tariff war and still there would be, could be no restoration of foreign trade.

"Leaders'" Muddling Brought on Misery.

Some of the by-products of the movement to transfer the debts from the people who borrowed the money to the people who loaned it are even less impressive and pleasing than the plant itself. Thus the hue and cry has been raised against democratic institutions. Solemnly we are told that it is just too bad that two or three men cannot get together, decide upon a plan, and hand it down with the gesture of a Romanoff to the people who must pay the bills. We are invited to sneer and jeer at the idea that the people have any rights in the matter at all. How much better it would be if two or three men could decide and could enforce their decision on the people!

Of course, the burden of the decision would rest upon the people. They would pay the taxes—of which all other nations are to be relieved. But in the good old days before the "vulgarities" of democracy, this sort of thing was done. And how beautiful it all was, too!

But, unfortunately for the reasoning, we do have democratic institutions and the mass of the people have observed in the miserable muddling of the "leaders" the very reason for the misery of the people now. Who are these super-men? Where have they been during the last four years?

"Vulgar Inferiors" Want Query Answered

This "vulgar democracy" of ours, of course, is crude in its reasoning. It finds that their "betters" in the seats of the mighty forced upon the world a war the people, who did the fighting, did not will. It finds that this war all but wrecked our civilization. It knows that the present human misery is the fruit of that insane struggle. It knows it was promised an end to that sort of thing, and the radical reduction of armaments.

It knows that the world is more armed today than it was in the spring of 1914—that it has been betrayed.

It knows that the debtor nations' budgets provide 75 per cent and more for war purposes in these days of peace.

It wants to know why it will wreck civilization for these nations to reduce their appalling war budgets by 1½ to 3 per cent to get the money to pay the debts?

Crude stuff, of course, to be expected from "vulgar democracy"—but the "wise and the good" should humor their inferiors by answering that question.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Very often the city "smart Alec," so-called, is really from a small town.

To appear sophisticated and worldly wise he tries to create the impression that he has been places and seen things of which the yokel is ignorant.

Surprising how wise some fellows can become in a year or two in a large city.

Also surprising that they have such a strong desire to display their worldiness at the expense of the fellow who is a new-comer in the city.

If they can say or do anything that annoys and confuses the recent arrival they appear to get great enjoyment out of that fact.

Instead of realizing the pitfalls and having sympathy from experience, they display a spirit which hurts their victim and seems to afford themselves and others amusement.

The small town person is not ignorant, but he is not familiar with the things which make the city different from a small town.

To be made the butt of ridicule naturally displeases him.

The more angry he becomes the greater the enjoyment of his tormentor.

Those who were born and bred in the city for the most part are interested in something bigger than annoying a country-bred person.

But the one who was the "big noise in the country grocery store tries to be the same sort of fellow when he becomes a city dweller.

Isn't It So?

A forgotten man is one who doesn't owe anybody.

A man never knows how little he can do until he tries.

Many a poor sucker has been caught in Wall street pools.

A man is concerned about his business as a woman is about her looks.

A woman has but few speaking acquaintances for the simple reason that most of them are listening ones.
